GRILL TWO IN STOKES SENSATION

Pair Who Refused to Talk Taken Before Grand Jury at Chicago

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Two witnesses who had refused to tell the State's Attorney's office what they knew concerning charges by Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes that her husband, W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy New York hotel owner, was conspiring to injure her reputation, were taken before the grand jury today and their statements taken under oath.

Charles S. Wharton, assistant State's Attorney, said that the investigation had not been placed formally before the grand jury, explaining that the two witnesses were taken before the jury to force them to talk. The witnesses were Mrs. Tillie Phillips, a negress employed as a hair dresser, and Richard E. Westbrook, an attorney.

Mrs. Phillips was reported to have told the grand jury that she did not know Stokes, but to have told of signing a statement to the effect that she had dressed Mrs. Stokes's hair while the latter was in the New York apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, one of those named in the Stokes divorce case. She is reported to have said she signed the statement on the strength of information given by some one whose name she did not remember, that the woman was "old man Stokes's" wife.

When shown pictures of Mrs. Stokes in the grand jury room, she said she did not know whether they were pictures of the woman she said she had seen in the New York apartment.

BULLDOZED AGENT; GOT RENT FREE

Landlord Comes Back to Find Twenty Tenants Are $20,000 in Arrears

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A rent strike which has been so effective as to enable twenty families to live for more than three years rent free in the apartment house at No. 607 East One Hundred and Fortieth street, while the landlord continued to furnish heat, hot water and make repairs, came to a climax today in Municipal Court, when Justice Fitzgerald gave the nine tenants yet remaining five days to either pay up or get out.

The action was brought by George Hagelweide of Richmond Hill, L. I., who said the tenants owed him altogether $20,000, in sums ranging from $700 to $1000 each. He stated they had taken advantage of his absence in Oklahoma and Colorado looking after oil and gas interests to intimidate his agents. In rendering decision, Judge Fitzgerald left the way open for the landlord to sue the tenants individually for the sums alleged due.

Paul Brunne, formerly agent for the property, testified he had collected no rents since August, 1920. He said the tenants had become so belligerent he was afraid to enter the premises. He declared they hung red flags from windows, threw chairs at him, slammed doors in his face, told him landlords should be hanged from lamp posts, and ripped off wall coverings.

Head of Russo-Karelian Commission is Murdered; Two Others Wounded

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, Sept. 27.—M. Lavroff, chairman of the Russian Karelian Border Commission, has been killed and two others of the commission wounded by assassins at the frontier while returning from Finland, according to a dispatch from Petrozavodsk.

A sharp controversy has been in progress for some time between the Russian soviet government and Finland over the district of Karelia. Finland appealed to the League of Nations, claiming that under the treaty of Dorpat, Russia was bound to grant a certain measure of autonomy to Garelia, but the soviet government rejected any idea of intervention by the League and the Permanent Court of International Justice on July 23 decided that it was incompetent to pronounce an opinion, as requested by the League Council, because Russia was not a member of the League. No reference to the establishment of any Russian Karelia border commission has been made in previous dispatches.

GERMAN CHIEFS ALERT TO THROTTLE REBELLION

Berlin Officials Threatened on Three Fronts; Only Army Can Save Situation

BY GEORGE SELDES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune]

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—War drums figuratively are sounding throughout Germany today while Herculean efforts are being made to prevent civil war. Everything depends upon the loyalty of the army and Gen. Von Seeckt, intrusted by War Minister Cessler to carry out martial law throughout the country, becomes Germany's man of destiny.

Berlin today is watching Saxony and the Rhineland as well as Bavaria. Premier Zeigner, sworn enemy of Herr Gessler, stands between Munich and Berlin, hurling Socialist threats against the Bavarian Monarchists and warning Berlin that Red Saxony will break loose the moment the reichswehr attempts to desert the republican form of government. Sunday a Rhineland republic will be proclaimed at Dusseldorf if the German militia and the nationalists prove powerless against the separatist movement, aided by French approval.

ON THREE FRONTS

Thus, the German government is fighting a battle on three fronts.

In Berlin today all officer-members of secret military organizations answered a call to secret assemblies. In Mecklenberg the notorious Rossbach Volunteer Monarchist corps assembled. In Breslau The Times representative reports demonstrations by remnants of anti-Polish nationalist troops, flying to Monarchist colors. But vastly more important is the Ludendorf-Hittler movement in Bavaria, which Herr von Kahr also is trying to check. When bloodshed begins everyone is agreed that the Pan-German Hittler Fascisti is responsible.

The most important political development is President Ebert's and Chancellor Stresemann's attempt to turn the bloodless Bavarian revolution into a bloodless victory for the national government. In announcing martial law here President Ebert today named Herr Severing as civil commissar, Gen. Hortn as military commissar in Prussia and Herr von Kahr civil commissar, and Gen. Lossow, military commissar in Bavaria.

DIPLOMATIC STROKE

It is a big diplomatic stroke by President Ebert because the martial law provides that the civil commissar or dictator, as he has made himself in Bavaria, must submit to the military commissar. In other words, the national government although outplayed by one move, answers martial law with martial law.

Simultaneously President Ebert tonight sent a request to the Bavarian government to please drop its martial law proclamation as it now is superfluous and running parallel with the national government. Supporters think these measures probably will solve the Bavarian situation diplomatically.

Optimists profess that they see in Herr von Kahr's dictatorship a move against civil war, while pessimists fear the Prussian and other monarchist organizations will follow his example within a few days. Herr von Kahr's first move was against the Ludendorff-Hittler groups, whose meetings are forbidden and who are being watched, but few expect Herr von Kahr to give up his easy victory of yesterday and accept the Reich-

ONE-PIECE SUIT DEFENDED

Modern Women's Dress Habits Show They're Co-ordinating Faculties, Says Eastern Educator

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—One-piece bathing suits, sport clothes an deven the overall fad are indicative that women are graduating from the era of mental sophistication and are co-ordinating their mental faculties with physical effort, according to Prof. Frank Paxson Bye, well-known physiologist and director of Darlington Seminary for Young Women at Westchester.

He interprets these dress habits as encouraging for the future of women because they are learning the lesson that success is a combination of physical energy and mental activity. During an address to the new student body, gathered to open the seventy-second year of the school Dr. Bye flayed the educational habit of laying too much emphasis on mental training.

DEVELOPS LAZINESS

"Mere mental training leads to a state of sophistication. It develops lazy, wise people — cranks, shirkers and egotists," said Prof. Bye. "Their sole objective seems to be that of telling the remainder of the world what it should do.

"Schools have laid too much emphasis on the study idea, the fixed attention on mental training, at the expense of general human co-ordination. There has been too much repetition of the old saying that 'knowledge is power' whereas power is mental and physical effort working co-ordinately. Every successful man is pointed to as successful merely on account of his brain power. Little has been said of the great energy he has given to his work.

HUNDRED REPORTED DEAD AS TRAIN GOES THROUGH BRIDGE

Thirty-seven Bodies Are Removed From Wrecked Coaches and Sleeping Car in Huge Wyoming Railroad Disaster

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CASPER (Wyo.) Sept. 27.—Thirty-seven bodies are said to have been recovered from the day coaches and sleeping car of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train No. 30, that plunged through a bridge into the Big Muddy River near Lockett, at about 10 o'clock tonight, according to Dan McLain of Denver, who says that he is the only person who escaped from the Denver sleeping car.

Mr. McLain declared that in his opinion at least 100 lives were lost.

Four cars were completed submerged and one car was standing on end, McLain asid and he did not believe any of the trapped passengfers escaped from the wreckage.

McLain made his way to the didwest Camp in the Big Muddy oil fields and telephoned news of the accident to Douglas, eight miles away.

Word received at the local telegraph office of the Burlington Railroad from Superintendent Grissenger was to the effect that the Big Muddy was a raging torrent and rescue work was out of the question.

When told that a passenger estimated the loss of life at 100 persons, the dispatcher said: "It could easily be that." He was unable to say how many people there were on the train, however.

CALL FOR HELP

Several men and women managed to crawl from the coaches which were plunged into the river and clinging to the top of the coaches, screamed for help, according to Henry Wyatt of Casper, who was a passenger in the Pullman car, which plunged halfway into the river, but remained upright.

"Nothing could be done to save them," Mr. Wyatt declared, "as the river was a raging torrent."

"I had just started for the smoking compartment in the front end of the car when the wreck occurred."

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 27.—Dan J. McQuaid of Denver related parts of the story of the wreck to his wife here over long-distance telephone late tonight and declared that of the 125 persons known to be on the train, fully 100 of them perished.

McQuaid, who was in the Denver sleeper, stated that the sleeper toppled off the bridge and stood on end on top of the submerged chair car and that five traveling men who were in the smoking compartment at the time of the crash were undoubtedly instantly killed.

McQuaid said he was the only survivor of the Denver sleeping-car passengers.

OKLAHOMA KLAN WAR EXTENDED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27.—Troops of the Oklahoma National Guard were ordered into Murray county tonight by Gov. Walton, in response to an appeal from citizens of Sulphur, who charged local authorities with neglect in apprehending the perpetrators of numerous mob outrages there recently.

"Under the present reign of Ku Klux Klan officers in this county, conditions are deplorable and are becoming worse," the Governor was told by the committee from Sulphur, which include Scott Ferris, nephew of former Congressman Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, and the Mayor of the town.

"Persons who are not members of the Ku Klux Klan," they declared, "are totally unsafe in person and in property and unless relief is accorded us and martial law is established in this county there will be trouble and possibly bloodshed."

The first move to test in the courts the legality of the special session ow the lower house of the Legislature, called by members who hold it is their right to investigate the official acts of Gov. Walton, was taken in State District Court here late today. Sixty-seven house members applied for a temporary injunction restraining Adj.-Gen. B. H. Markham and all members of the Oklahoma National Guard from interfering with meetings of the house.

HEARING ON TUESDAY

No order was issued by the court during the brief proceedings and by agreement of all parties, hearing on the petition was set for next Tuesday before Judge J. I. Phelps.

Meanwhile, the House members who gathered here yesterday and attempted to convene, only to be dispersed by military authorities acting under instructions from the Governor, began to leave for their homes to await the outcome of the court fight.

A pledge was signed by the legislators that should the courts finally decide they have authority to meet as an impeachment body, they will convene at any time upon call of Representative W. D. McBee, one of the leaders, of the "rebel" legislators. No further attempt will be made to convene, it was agreed, until the issue is decided in the State Supreme Court, and then there remains the possibility that the case will go through the United States Supreme Court. A temporary injuction if granted by the District Court, will not be made the basis for another

BAR ASSOCIATION FLAYS RICCARDI MERCILESSLY

Judge Craig's Plea for Reinstatement of Disbarred ex-Convict Stirs Interest in the North

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—A legal battle of exceptional interest, involving the affairs of one of the most remarkable characters ever admitted to practice in the courts of California, will open here shortly, when C. Vincent Riccardi, disbarred attorney and former inmate of San Quentin, submits to the Appellate Court a reply to a formal protest against his reinstatement filed by the San Francisco Bar Association.

Riccardi, who is said to be now residing in Los Angeles and to be engaged in business there, reached the climax of a colorful career in 1920 when, after three sensational trials on a charge of embezzling $1000 from a client, he was sentenced to from one to five years in the penitentiary. He began his sentence in February, 1921. This sentence was commuted by Gov. Stephens in May of the same year and on December 24, 1922, Gov. Stephens accorded him a full pardon. Riccardi was disbarred in March, 1921.

In view of the drastice nature of the protest against his reinstatement by the local Bar Association, which asserts that if his petition should be approved by the court "every self-respecting lawyer would bow his head in shame and the legal profession would receive its death blow," particular significance is attached to a letter signed by Appellate Judge Gavin W. Craig of Los Angeles, in which Riccardi's reinstatement is recommended in unqualified terms.

Prior to his conviction and prison term, Riccardi figured in many episodes, involving not only his conduct as an attorney, but many business transactions, love escapades (for one of which he was divorced) and various other adventures, several of which occurred in other parts of the United States and abroad. Subsequent to the commutation of his sentence for embezzlement Riccardi returned to San Francisco, where his intimate knowledge of corrupt conditions in the local police courts, and his willingness to expose the same resulted in the indictment of one judge and the recall by vote of the people of two others.

His participation in the police court graft cases was given by Gov. Stephens as the principal reason for according him a pardon.

This view of the case is not taken, however, by A. P. Black and F. E. Boland, who compose a special committee appointed by the local Bar Association to oppose his petition for reinstatement.

TERRIFIC INDICTMENT

In a brief covering the Bar Association's objection to Riccardi's reinstatement, Messrs. Black and Boland refer to the disbarred attorney's connection with the police court graft scandal as follows:

"The attention of the court is called to the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State of California, under date of May 5, 1921, in the matter of the accusation of the Bar Association of San Francisco against John J. Sullivan, 185 Cal. 621, in which it is declared that Riccardi testified that he had paid to the said Sullivan various sums of money to the end that his official conduct should be influenced thereby, and either way that case is looked at, it shows that Riccardi is a confessed briber or a perjurer if he was not telling the truth. It is submitted that the record in that case, even if it were a matter of discretion with this court, is a sufficient reason for denying the application of Riccardi for reinstatement as attorney-at-law. Surely one guilty of either one of these offenses should not have the temerity to ask any

RICH WIFE MURDERED?

Physician Refuses to Sign Demise Certificate of New York Belle

Autopsy Performed to Seek Poison Traces; Police Guard Secret

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Charles Webb, daughter of S. Jennings Gorman, wealthy in her own right and member of the New York and Westchester county social sets, died in the fashionable Westchester Biltmore Country Club at Rye, N. Y., on last Tuesday night under circumstances which her physician regarded as so suspicious that he refused to issue a death certificate.

The physician, Dr. William J. Meyer of White Plains, appealed to Coroner Edward F. Fitzgerald of Westchester county. The Coroner, at first inclined to scoff at the physician's doubts, finally decided to communicate with an aunt and uncle who were present when Mrs. Webb died. To his astonishment these relatives supported Dr. Meyer in demanding an investigation.

GUARD SECRET

What further action, if any is taken by the Westchester officials depends upon the nature of Dr Goettler's report. Meantime, they observed reticence as to the precise nature of the suspicions. Efforts to communicate with members of the family, who it was believed shared the secret guarded so carefully in official quarters, were unavailing. Charles Webb, husband of the dead woman had been at the country club with his wife up to the time of her death.

Mr. Webb, who is known to his intimates as "Carl," and has been a broker for twenty years, is about 50 years of age. He has been dividing his time since his wife's death between the Yale Club, where he made his home before his marriage, and the Gorman house at 226 West Madison avenue, where he lived with his wife, who was the fourth generation of the Gorman family to occupy that place.

HUSBAND SURPRISED

Mr. Webb took issue with those who have cast doubt on his wife having died a natural death.

Witness at Wreck Quiz Says "Follow Leader Plan Aided Success of Destroyers in World War

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 27.—More complete exposition of the "destroyer doctrine" in which officers are trained to "follow the leader" wherever he may lead their ships, occupied a large share of today's session of the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster in which six vessels trailed the United States steamship Delphy to destruction on the rocks off Honda Bay on the 8th inst.

A declaration, that this doctrine of "do and dare and follow the leader" was responsible for the success of American destroyer squadrons in the World War, was drawn from one defendant-witness today by Admiral William V. Pratt, presiding member of the court, "in order," the admiral explained, "to forestall any misconception of the spirit which motivates the officers of a destroyer squadron" in racing full tilt behind their flagship wherever it may lead.

court to permit him to practice law."

Continuing, the Bar Association's protest sets forth:

"The Board of Governors of the Bar Association of San Francisco, speaking through this committee, earnestly protest against permitting one who has such an unsavory record ever to practice law, and earnestly claim that if this applicant were permitted to advertise himself as a lawyer of the Bar of the State of California, and such conduct as he has been shown to be guilty of should receive the stamp of approval by this court, every self-respecting lawyer would bow his head in shame and the legal profession would receive its death blow."

JUDGE CRAIG'S LETTER

The letter of Judge Craig, who presides over a department of the Los Angeles division of the Appellate Court, is dated March 21, 1923, and is as follows:

"District Court of Appeal,
"State of California,
"Appellate District No. 1.
"Honorable Justices:

"In the matter of the application of C. V. Riccardi for reinstatement as a member of the Bar of the State of California, I wish to say that I have know Mr. Riccardi for about ten years.

"From my knowledge of Mr. Riccardi while here and also some acquaintance with him since that time and particularly since the date of his pardon by the Governor, I am satisfied that if reinstated he will conduct himself in a wholly ethical manner both in the practice of law, and in his general conduct, as I believe him to be a person of good characted and of honesty and integrity.

"Very truly yours,

[Signed.] "GAVIN W. CRAIG."

UGLY CHARGES

Summarizing the objections of the San Francisco Bar Association to Riccardi's readmission to the ranks of California attorneys, charges are made that he has been found guilty of a felony; that he has a bad reputation in professional circles; that he has faced 100 specific charges of dishonest dealing according to records of the State Commission of Immigration and Housing; that he admitted, during a trial, that he had bribed San Francisco police judges; that he has an undesirable reputation in every city in which he has resided, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Kansas City and St. Louis and that he had been known under ten different aliases.

These aliases, according to the Bar Association brief, were:

Riccardi Vincent, W. B. Richardson, E. L. Rogers, Capt. W. M. Hose, T. J. Rourke, Toledo, O., N. W. Ruffin, T. B. Ruslander, H. L. Ruseid, R. C. Rutan and Allen Rutherford, lieutenant.

The San Francisco Bar Association Committee quotes a communication received from the Bar Association of St. Louis in which the assertion is made that after practicing for a time in the St. Louis courts Riccardi was brought into court for asserted improper activities, but that following the dismissal of one case against him a second was not pressed because "of an understanding sub rosa that Riccardi would leave St. Louis permanently."

Riccardi must make the next move in the attempted reinstatement proceedings here. Both a demurrer and a brief have been filed by the Bar Association in protest against his petition for reinstatement. He is entitled to file a reply to the protest and the Bar Association may then close the records to be presented to the court by commenting on his final statement.

Appellate Judge Craig stated here yesterday that he had written the letter recommending Riccardi's reinstatement, explaining that the letter was written largely upon representations made to him by Atty. Frank C. Drew of San Francisco.

Concerning reports that Riccardi is associated with him in the Music Box Theater Company, of which he is trustee and of which Nat Goldstein is president, Judge Craig said that he was glad of an opportunity to explain that Riccardi is not associated either as an official or otherwise with the theater company.

Mr. Goldstein, confirming this, said that he has a personal understanding with Riccardi concerning the disposition of stock in the concern.

Judge Craig made the following statement relative to his letter indorsing Riccardi's petition:

"I have for years advocated legislation to the effect that disbarred attorneys should not be reinstated at all, but rather that in most cases there should be a suspension and if the offense is severe enough for disbarment that it be final. On the other hand, while the law remains as it is, I feel that young attorneys who have done wrong should ordinarily be given another chance. I have no knowledge and do not pretend to have of the difficulty that caused Riccardi's disbarment. I simply know that he was pardoned and that those who had an opportunity to know assured me he had made good since then."

The official stock permit granted to the Music Box Theater Company by the Corporation Commissioner on June 8, 1923, names "Hon. Garvin W. Craig, Appellate Court Judge" trustee. Under it the first act which the company is permitted to perform is "to issue to C. Vincent Riccardi 200 shares of its common capital stock as part consideration for the transfer an assignment by him to applicant first to be made of the property described in its application, free and clear of all incumbrances." After this is done the company is permitted to sell stock to the public under certain restrictions and conditions customary in such cases.

In a written statement sent to The Times by messenger last night, President Goldstein of the Music Box Theater Company repeated that Mr. Riccardi has no connection with the company and that "any outside interest he might have is in the interest of Frank C. Drew of San Francisco."

swehr general's orders unless he can win over the general to his cause, namely, restoration of Crown Prince Rupprecht to the Bavarian throne.

CIVIL STRIFE FEARED

For the moment more is feared from civil war within Bavaria than with Prussia. Herr Hittler commands 50,000 men, largely former officers, and can raise 50,000 outside of Bavaria. Colonel Kriebel is their military leader, while Henry Ford is their spiritual leader. The organization possesses considerable money, partly from German-Americans who, according to Herr Hittler, are largely monarchistic and anti-Semitic. Herr Hittler's goal is Berlin, but now he finds he must defeat Crown Prince Rupprecht's men before he can strike.

A hundred attempts by Herr Hittler's Fascisti to assemble in the specified fourteen beer halls at Munich today were broken up by the police. An attempt to hold a mass meeting outside of Herr Hittler's newspaper, where thousands of admirers bearing monarchistic and anti-Semitic flags had gathered, was broken up without bloodshed.

Herr Hittler tonight publishes a sharp attack on Herr von Kahr, protesting against the prohibition of the meeting, saying he will guide himself after Herr von Kahr's attitude towards him.

CIVIL WAR AVOIDED

War Minister Gessler and Commander-in-Chief Gen. Von Seeckt have probably saved Germany from immediate civil war through their great coup, secretly engineered three weeks ago. That is why Gen. Von Seeckt virtually is dictator of Germany, although Herr Gessler officially is commissar.

These two men now will be able to establish military dictatorship at a moment's notice, but for the time they will protect the national coalition government. Their coup, according to a member of the military regime, is closely associated with the army head, and consisted of withdrawing the Bavarian troops from Bavaria on the pretext of maneuvers and replacing them with Wurtemburgers, Saxons and Baden divisions.

Three weeks ago Herr Gessler and Gen. Von Seeckt learned that Bavaria would break away at the first opportunity and possibly march on Berlin. Before the Bavarian separatists and nationalists could do so Herr Gessler, himself a Bavarian, the former Burgomaster of Nuremberg, and a son of a sergeant in the former Kaiser's army, and Gen. Von Seeckt, former chief of staff and brains of the Austrian army of Archduke Joseph, and Gen. Von Ludendorff's greatest rival, got together.

Company by company, the Bavarian troops upon whom they could not rely should Bavaria break loose were withdrawn.

One man was killed and twenty-five were injured in fighting on Wednesday night at Annaberg, Saxony, between Nationalists and workmen.

The police were forced to intervene to put down the disorder.

QUIET IN BAVARIA

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MUNICH, Sept. 27. — Although quiet is reported to prevail throughout Bavaria, Dr. Von Kahr, the military dictator, has brought additional troops into Munich so as to be in readiness for any emergency.

The dictator has prohibited absolutely all assemblages of adherents of Adolph Hitler, the National Socialist leader and has declared that he and Gen. Von Lessow purpose to maintain order in Bavaria and carry out to the full the instructions of the Bavarian government.

Premier Von Knilling notified the Berlin government that Dr. Von Kahr had been appointed to his present post owing to his influence with the Nationalist organizations and because the Bavarian government was convinced of his absolute loyalty. The central government thereupon appointed Gen. Von Lossow as military Commander in Bavaria and instructed him to co-operate with Dr. Von Kahr. Von Lossow has been in command of the Bavarian Reichswehr.

RUHR RULE UNCHANGED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 27.—All orders and regulations issued by the Allied authorities in the Ruhr will be maintained, it was said in official circles tonight until the situation in Germany clears and it becomes known to just what extent the passive resistance has ceased in consequence of President Ebert's proclamation. Today's dispatches from Berlin gave no basis for any conclusion as to what turn events may take, and the Allies can only continue to wait and watch.

Former Chancellor Cuno's reparation offers are regarded by the Allies as having been superseded by the later developments, it is learned, and the Germans will be expected to make entirely new proposals. If they decide to do so, then the Allies are ready to turn the reparation clock back to January 11, and consider the whole situation anew, provided they are assured earnest co-operation from the German government.

RUSSIA PREPARES

[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, Sept. 27.—M. Tchitcherin, speaking before an assembly of visitors to the Moscow agricultural exhibition from the provinces, yesterday said Russia must prepare for a new war.

"It is extremely probable that the Monarchist group will conquer Germany and that the wave of Fascism which is sweeping Europe will influence the coming government in Germany. We must prepare to defend ourselves against the reactionary movement which is sweeping the world. This danger is increasing daily and Russia must stand ready to repulse it."

MEXICO'S BANK CIRCLES WARY

Resignation of De la Huerta Discourages Many

Successor Said to Know Little of Financial Duties

Pani Lacks Opportunity to Demonstrate Ability

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—Frank perplexity exists here in banking and financial circles over the prospects of stabilization and re-establishment of Mexican credit in the United States and abroad. Doubt has been intensified by Finance Minister Adolfo de la Huerta's recent resignation, and the assumption of his task by Alberto J. Pani, former Foreign Minister, who has had no previous opportunity to demonstrate financial ability.

Financiers point out that De la Huerta took over the finance portfolio without previous experience in financial matters, but that he rapidly became expert in banking and financial ethics.

However, it is generally admitted that Pani's inexperience and the probability of a complete change of Cabinet when Obregon's successor is chosen, will probably delay financial rehabilitation. De la Huerta's resignation came as a distinct surprise to bankers, and a feeling of depression was at once apparent, as the financiers had great confidence in the Finance Minister's grasp of affairs.

Fears are expressed that negotiations for establishment of a sole bank of issue are now likely to crumble, as Pani's policies are entirely unknown, probably unformed. Should he attempt to place new obstacles in the way of foreign bankers, it is considered certain that the sole bank will collapse completely.

The same feeling also is prevalent in regard to payment of the Mexican foreign debt, as it is believed any unwise move will topple over the structure of the agreement made between De la Huerta and Thomas Lamont, representing American and European creditors of Mexico.

Considerable consternation arose in the government departments at De la Huerta's resignation, for among his achievements was the securing of regular payments of salaries to all government employees, who had previously been compelled to wait for weeks, sometimes for months, for their pay checks. When they arrived, often they were subjected to irregularities and discounts.

Prompt settlement of army payrolls also was a matter De la Huerta arranged. With the exception of the department of commerce, industry and labor, whose minister, Miguel Alesio Robles, recently has pointed out the trade advancement since Obregon became President, there is just a touch of discouragement throughout the business world of Mexico.

Ramon Ross, named as successor to Pani, is viewed with general favor. He is considered an accomplished diplomat, a belief which was accentuated by his success at the recent prerecognition conferences. But to add to the unrest comes a dispatch from Monterey that high army officers there upon the arrival of Calles uttered speeches in emphatic opposition to Obregon's policy. This action is apparent defiance of Obregon's recent plea for army men to refrain from mixing in politics.

USE OF TROOPS AT FIRE SCORED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 27.—The calling out of California National Guard units by Lieut.-Col. A. J. Eddy of the guard during and after the recent destructive fire which visited Berkeley, "was an unwarranted assumption of authority" on Col. Eddy's part and for that reason payment cannot now be made legally for an "unauthorized use of troops," Adjt.-Gen. J. J. Borree announced today.

Gen. Borree made his announcement in the form of a signed statement to the press, which declared that the Governor alone has the authority to order out the National Guard.

The statement follows:

'Calling out the National Guard units of Oakland and Berkeley by Col. A. J. Eddy was an unwarranted assumption of authority on his part. Section 1909 of the Political Code provides that when request is made for troops by civil authority, the Governor may issue a proclamation declaring that an emergency exists and may call the necessary troops IF IN HIS JUDGMENT THE EMERGENCY WARRANTS THE USE OF SUCH TROOPS.

"Lieut.-Col. A. J. Eddy called the troops into service without making request on this office for authority to do so, although there was sufficient time to make such request, as it requires several hours to assemble the various National Guard units. (This office was not advised that the National Guard had been mobilized until the emergency in Berkeley had passed, nor had the Governor's office received any notification or request.

"In view of the fact that the calling out of the National Guard by Lieut.-Col. Eddy was unauthorized, the use of the troops was illegal and proclamation cannot now be issued nor can payment be made legally for unauthorized use of troops."

Ban on Hawaii's Alien Language Schools Upheld

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HONOLULU, Sept. 27.—The constitutionality of the Territorial Legislative Act of 1920 regulating alien-language schools, which has been fought vigorously by the Japanese residents of Hawaii, was upheld today in a decision handed down by Judge Frank Andrade of the Circuit Court.

The act provides that teachers in the language schools must undergo an examination as to their knowledge of American history, ideals and customs.

OBREGON OUSTS RADICAL CHIEFS

ered the most dangerous man in Mexico, politically as well as otherwise. He has made sinister threats against newspaper men who have tried to disclose the red system in the republic. He has risen from poverty to sudden wealth, blazing with diamond adornments, and openly accused in the Chamber of Deputies of being the biggest grafter in the Mexican republic. He has been called "midnight" Marones because he refuses to see salesmen of supplies to the Mexican government until after 11 p.m., alone in his office.

The establishments under Marones direction include the national factory of arms, national cartridge factory, national artillery factory, ammunition factory, national powder factory, national factory of uniforms and general supplies, national artillery foundry, national tanning works, national leather working factory, national factory of military hospital supplies, national laboratories and chemical works and national garage.

The government has spent large sums on these factories. About 90,000 men and women appear on their pay rolls. Senor Marones hired Germans only as his experts and inspectors of materials. He handled all the finances.

Senor Marones is a member of the Chamber of Deputies and was drawing a salary from the legislative branch and a salary from the executive branch of the government, contrary to law. He has been attacked for this in the Chamber of Deputies without avail up to this time. He has been an active politician, taking part in campaigns throughout the republic, organizing precincts, wards and districts and controlling the election machinery.

Senor Marones instructed all his employees in radical Communism. He has said that his chief aim is to give employment to as many workers as possible regardless of the cost of production. An American salesman recently tried to talk economy when making a sale to the national factories.

"I don't care about the cost," Senor Marones is reported to have replied. "All I want is material so that my people can work."

Senor Marones is 30 years of age and single.

GOVERNOR PLEASED

Expressing satisfaction with the situation, Gov. Walton declared today: "The fight is over so far as the House is concerned."

The injunction petition filed by the legislators, declared that the action of Adjt.-Gen. B. H. Markham is dispersing them when they gathered at the Capitol yesterday and in continuing to prevent an assembly, "was and is without authority of law, and was and is an invasion of the constitutional and civil rights of these plaintiffs."

The legislators denied in the petition that they have been guilty of any offense against the laws of the State or the nation and disclaimed intention to commit any breaches of the peace.

LAWMAKERS' PETITION

"Under the Constitution and laws of the State of Oklahoma, the Governor and other elected officers are liable and subject to impeachment, and under the constitution and laws of the State of Oklahoma it is the duty of the House of Representatives to present all impeachments to the Senate sitting as a court of impeachment, and to draw up, approve and present articles of impeachment and to prosecute the same before the Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment through a board of managers appointed by it," the petition continued.

It related that the House members were dispersed when they assembled "in good faith" to determine whether impeachable offenses had been committed by any officers of the State subject to impeachment. The legislators set out that the session was called in the belief that "many of the guarantees of the constitution of the State have been and are being abrogated by executive action, and the liberties of the citizens destroyed, and that numerous acts of the grossest corruption have been and are being committed."

CONVENTION OF BANKERS ENDS

Solicitor-General Talks on Federal Reserve

Many Opinions on Merits and Defects of System

Registration of Aliens in Country is Urged

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 27.—The annual convention of the American Bankers' Association came to a close today after installation of officers, a forum on the Federal Reserve system and discussion by James H. Beck, solicitor-general, of perils which confront America.

Mr. Beck warned of the need for adequate immigration laws to meet, he said, the situation created by the revolutionary and criminal elements in this country.

Two bills will be argued for passage at the next session of Congress, he asserted, one requiring the registration of all aliens in this country and the other making it a crime to conspire to overthrow the national government by force and violence.

The forum on the merits and defects of the Federal Reserve system at the general session of the convention developed a variety of opinions indicating that, while the system is generally commended, it is susceptible of improvement.

The reluctance of State banks to join the system, despite constant importunity amounting almost to coercion, was ascribed by Andrew J. Frame, Waukesha (Wis.) banker, to their unwillingness to consent to "the injustice which robs 12,000 State banks of say $100,000,000 annually for the benefit of the rich in the great centers."

SABBATH TO BRING NEW TAX ON GAS

Auto Owners to Pay Levy to State of Two Cents Per Gallon

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 27.—Beginning Sunday morning, the 30th inst., automobile owners who use the highways of California will pay a tax of 2 cents per gallon on gasoline or other liquid fuel used in their cars, in accordance with the provisions of the recently enacted Breed gasoline tax law.

The tax will apply, with few exceptions, to all automobile drivers, and will be collected by distributors and retailers of gasoline. The tax will be collected by the State from the distributors, who in turn will collect it from the retailers.

Among those who will be entitled to a refund are farmers who use gasoline for other than vehicular purposes, dyers and cleaners who use gasoline in their establishments, boat owners, stationary plants and other purchasers of gasoline which is not used for vehicular purposes.

The tax is expected to raise approximately $9,000,000 yearly and half the net receipts will be paid to the counties in proportion to the number of automobiles registered from each county. The other half will be used by the State. All funds will be used for maintenance and improvement of existing highways.

Refunds on the tax paid will be collected from State Controller Ray L. Riley upon presentation of sworn vouchers, but the refund, it was announced today, will not be available until February of next year, when the State will collect the tax from the distributors.

was wrecked, testified late today that on one point in the voyage down the coast from San Francisco he had noticed that the Delphy was steering a course that would soon lead them into danger, but he had hardly reached the conclusion that the course was dangerous before she signalled a swerve into safer waters.

It was difficult to check the navigation of the leading ship, he said, but he was satisfied from the data available to him that night that her navigators knew where they were going.

Two other defendants who preceded Commander Pye on the stand testified to the same effect and the four who had not yet been sworn when he concluded his story of the wreck were expected to offer further corroboration of facts already brought out by their fellow-officers.

While commanders of the seven wrecked ships were either testifying or listening to testimony on the disaster, their crews were participating in another and quite different type of function at the destroyer repair base several miles away.

WRECKED SHIPS REPLACED

There the men of the Delphy, the Nicholas, the S. P. No opera, perhaps, exceeds "Martha" for simple tunefulness. Here are two of the famous quartets by the greatest artists of their time, the immortal Caruso among them.

Two popular sentimental songs—of the better class—sung with superb expression by an artist who can touch with glory everything he undertakes. Both are songs of love-memory.

These string quartet numbers are in fine contrast and both are played with faultless artistry.

"Henpecked Blues" has clarinet and cornet cackles, and doesn't seem so unhappy. "Louisville" is in very similar style.

"The Gold Digger" is a graceful and sprightly tune, with a bit of vocal refrain. "Chick-A-Dee" has some bird-like warbles.

"Tell Me a Story" is an excellent fox trot. In "Love is Just a Flower," the Bensons have a pretty number.

"Waitin' for the Evenin' Mail" is "blues" incarnate. "Tain't Nobody's Bizness if I Do" is in similar style.

The first of these numbers is almost too nice a dance to have such a name. "My Sweetie Went Away" is a jazz dance.

SPIDER AND CATMAN ARE FOREVER WITHIN LAW

New Specimens of Human Family Definite Enough to be News; Types Have Imitators

BY RAYMOND G. CARROLL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—In the evolution of metropolitan types two new specimens of the human family have attained such definite proportions of mind, habits and general characteristics as to become real news—"The Spider" and "The Catman."

The "spider," as you may have surmised, is a woman. The "catman" is just what that word implies, a soft-treading male with a purr and a glossy coat, who comes up from behind his victim.

Each has emerged from the dark shadows of the white lights cocoon, and embody in their cunning as hunters what might be expected from the sordid environment of that plush-lined, gilded realm of jazz, folly and scandal, quicksands and trapdoors. The police are powerless to cope with them, for in the three words Bayard Veiller made internationally famous, they are always "within the law."

Once the progenitor of a type has obtained a foothold upon the ladder of notice, hundreds, yes, thousands of imitators appear in the perspective. A type is the multiplication table applied to any innovation of an age, or conversely, a group or class considered as a unit. Like a salad or cocktail, a type has to be put together at its inception with ingredients taken from immediate surroundings, and is distinctly local to the place of its making.

A type is made by the books, magazines and newspapers one reads, the fashions in vogue, the plays and motion pictures one sees, and the people one meets sketched upon the canvas of what went into the mind during its formative period, birth to the age of sixteen; a direct reflection of the civilization or cloister in which any of us may form a part.

EXAMPLE OF SPIDER

Herewith an example of the spider fully developed, and the prelude of a recent suicide of a victim:

Cleo's eyes were as soft in their trained expression as the feel of a kitty's ear, with a longitudinal depression between, and jet-black brows arching over each orb, they looked out of greenish depths with a candor almost infantile. A bath in their warmth sent giddiness to the susceptible masculine head and a shivering sense of alarm to heads that held wisdom. In the half-light between the socially arrived and the climbers, Cleo spun, shun and kept spinning.

Her apartment was a magnificent duplex in the east eighties. Its interior had a character of an Adirondack lodge. The high walls were lined solid and sheetings of minerals gathered from the lands that washed their feet in the seven seas, a gift from a copper grand duke.

Every known ore looked down from the four sides of the main living-room, gold and silver, zinc and tin, iron and even anthracite, for coal fresh taken from the mine is a thing of beauty.

It was the nest of a tarantula. The ash gray spires of her gossamery net spread into the concrete forests of Manhattan thick with its flies—bankers and brokers of Wall street, factors in the theatrical world, portly kings of the industrial world, scions of the best families and the petted and pampered favorites of the spoken and unspoken drama.

Always trailing a thread behind, Cleo was never unable to retract her steps with certainty to safety.

Passing through the double doors that separated her boudoir from the main stairway leading down from the balcony that encircled the main living-room, Cleo was an interesting figure. Her sinuous, serpentine form, that crept over the costly rugs of the balcony, was incased in a poiret model of gorgeous green brocade, with tiny mirrors enbroidered in the fabric. The effect was dazzling as she came down the stairs with an undulating swing, the mirrors casting out a thousand beams of light.

"I am fed up on stupid America—we leave in three hours for the pier and Paris," she ordered her olive-skinned maid. "Pack at once. We will take five of the innovation trunks and only my newest gowns."

'But, madam," said the maid, pointing a finger at the hall outside.

"Hurry, now," said the mistress. "I shall go out and see Harry, the poor fool. How I hate a crying man!"

NOTE BRINGS DEATH

Herewith an example of "The Catman," the epilogue of the sudden death of an aged millionaire by fright, following his receipt of a mysterious note, the contents of which are still unknown.

A piercing scream came from a table in the garden restaurant of a smart hotel. The orchestra kept on playing. Three waiter captains left their stations and rushed to the agonized voice, the owner of which was a little blonde. She was gazing with well-simulated horror into a chair across from her which, but a moment before, had held in its golden grasp a man of affairs, gray-haired, urbane and domineering.

All that there remained was a crumpled human form from which life had fled.

A waiter stood near enough to hear this quick exchange between the blonde and a well-tailored man who had glided swiftly to her side:

"You gave it to him?" he hissed.

"Yes."

"Get it back," he ordered.

Whereat, the woman deftly untwisted from the clenched fingers of the dead man a note upon which something was written which the waiter had seen the man read before he fell over in his chair. That waiter now has a restaurant of his own in the "Roaring Forties."

She had been none too soon, for further conversation was interrupted by the arrival of the house detective, the house physician, one of the assistant managers and the hotel publicity representative.

"Apoplexy," announced the physician, taking a sharp look at the dead man. Sudden shock caused either by fear or surprise."

"Did your husband hear bad news?" asked the house detective, with deference.

The blonde, pretty and now composed, replied: "Yes, my husband had just come uptown from his brokers. He was upset."

"I have often wondered what was in that note," the other night said that waiter who had heard the unknown man tell the blonde to get back the note.

Being prosperous, he talks discreetly now and then of the personalities he knew in the days when he was a waiter.

"Funny thing those two never got married; he spent all her money and left her flat broke," he said. "Must have scared the old fellow to death with something the false wife knew he feared. 'The Catman' made a clean-up. He was in Saratoga at the races this year. You always find him playing around some rich woman. Puts ideas in their heads. He is one of the slickest men-about-town in the great city and there are lots like him. They don't need lawyers.

It is what you don't read in the newspapers that is important; that which is kept hidden from view and which, even if found, would not jail anybody—the Spider and the Catman leave no trace behind, for the bite of the former and the scratch of the latter represent skill, very great skill. But they indict our civilization for its—well—you think it out.

HIGHER FARM INCOME ESTIMATED FOR YEAR

VAST INCREASE OVER 1922 FIGURES PREDICTED BY MEREDITH

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 27.—Estimates by the Department of Agriculture "give every reason to believe that the 1923 farm income will exceed that of 1922 by a half billion to a billion dollars, which will mean an increased return of from $1 to $2 an acre," E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, former Secretary of Agriculture, said in an address here today.

Mr. Meredith exhibited a chart which showed the farmers received $14,310,000,000 for the products on the basis of the 1922 valuation. This total, the chart showed, included $8,961,000,000 for crops and $5,349,000,000 for animal products. A subdivision of per centage returns upon crops showed that only 10 per cent of this crop income was from wheat.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO CONSTRUCT SPUR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OXNARD, Sept. 27.—The Southern Pacific Company will build a double spur team switch off the main line in Oxnard. The building of these tracks will be started as soon as material and supplies are shipped to this city. Application was made by the Southern Pacific Company to the Board of Trustees for permission to cross Third street with the spur tracks. The action of the Trustees was favorable. It is understood that between $8000 and $10,000 will be expended.

MURDER INDICTMENT FOLLOWS AUTO CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OXNARD, Sept. 27.—The county grand jury this afternoon returned an indictment against Ted Lynch, well-known young man of Oxnard, charging him with murder. The indictment is the result of an automobile accident which occurred a week ago as a result of which one woman was killed and another critically injured. The machine said to have been driven by Lynch at a fast rate of speed, crashed into the other machine, causing it to overturn.

GLENDALE, Sept. 27.—To chase a deer in the highlands just outside the city limits is profitable, as the second buck before breakfast has been bagged since the opening of the season. Last week J. R. Thorpe shot a three-pointer, and yesterday John and George Meyer brought in a four-point buck weighing more than 100 pounds. Two other deer of larger size were seen by the hunters in the Verdugo Hills.

TWENTY STATES PLAN PRIMARIES

Republicans Not Concerned in Florida and Texas

New Hampshire to Lead Off With Vote March 11

Dakotas Offer First Chance to Win Prestige

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Republican National Committee has compiled a list of the States which will hold Presidential primary elections next year, and the dates, which affords Presidential candidates and their friends some interesting speculative material when taken in consideration with the proposed new apportionment of delegates to the national convention.

In twenty States the voters will have an opportunity to go to the polls and register their choice of the candidates for the Presidential nomination. In two of the States, however, this does not concern Republicans. The Presidential primary laws in Florida and Texas do not apply to any party which polled less than 35 per cent of the total vote cast at the last preceding general election. This eliminates the Republican party from the primaries in those States, leaving the delegates to be chosen under the convention system.

The eighteen States which do concern the Republicans are California, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

REAPPORTIONING PLANNED

Under the proposed new apportionment these States will have 508 out of the 1036 delegates in the next Republican National Convention. This apportionment, which was prepared under the direction of National Chairman John T. Adams, will, it is believed, be approved by the National Committee and specified in the convention call which the committee will issue when it meets in Washington early in December.

It is to be noted that the primary-elected delegates will be within eleven votes of the majority of the convention which is required to nominate a candidate for President under Republican rules and precedents. Should the National Committee reject Chairman Adams's recommendation and fall back upon the old apportionment, which provides for a convention of 984 delegates, the primary States will choose 473, or within twenty votes of a majority.

The new apportionment gives eighty-four additional delegates to Northern and Western States, and takes thirty-two delegates away from five Southern States. Georgie losing eight, Louisiana three Mississippi eight, South Carolina seven and Texas six.

FIGHT OPENS IN MARCH

It has been stated that the opening gun in the primary campaign would be fired in South Dakota on March 25, but the National Committee's list shows two primaries prior to that date— New Hampshire on March 11 and North Dakota on March 18. These three States will have thirty-four delegates in all, ten from New Hampshire and twelve each from the Dakotas. Each of these States gains two delegates under the new allotment.

President Coolidge will doubtless have everything his own way in the first primary. New Hampshire is in his immediate home territory and Senator George H. Moses has declared for him, so it is unlikely that any other candidate will even be entered in the primary there. For this reason no especial significance will attach to the result.

But it will be a different matter in the case of the Dakotas. Those States are open territory for any and all the Republican Presidential aspirants and if a real fight for the nomination should develop the prestige of carrying one or both of those primaries will be something worth going after in deadly earnest. In view of recent political developments and tendencies in the Northwest none of the party leaders is so brash at this time as to attempt to predict what will happen, except that there should be contests in both States of the kind that makes party history.

In April seven States will hold primaries. Wisconsin opening the fray on All Fools' day with twenty-eight delegates to be chosen. Michigan follows on April 7 with thirty-two delegates; Illinois on April 8 with sixty; Nebraska on April 15 with eighteen; New Jersey on April 22 with thirty; and Massachusetts and Ohio on April 29 with thirty-eight and fifty, respectively.

These States have an aggregate of 256 delegates, slightly more than half of all to be chosen in primaries, and the importance of their contests is not to be overemphasized.

Senator La Follette may have a fight on his hands to capture the delegation from his home State. Senator Lenroot, it is said, may make a bid for the delegates himself, or he may lead the fight for a Coolidge slate. However, in view of La Follette's overwhelming victory in Wisconsin at the last election it is a fairly safe prediction that he will not be displaced as a favorite son. Michigan, Nebraska and New Jersey will be open to all comers, but from the way party leaders are lining up an advantage for President Coolidge is indicated in the first two. Massachusetts assuredly will give the President a vigorous primary indorsement.

OHIO DEBATABLE

Ohio is debatable ground, although some of the Republican leaders there have given voice to the idea that if Coolidge carries out the Harding policies, the late President's State should back him up. Illinois' sixty votes will be a nice start for Frank O. Lowden, if the State remains true to its former Governor.

Maryland will open the primaries on May, selecting eighteen delegates, and California and Indiana will follow the next day with twenty-eight and thirty-two, respectively. Then will come Oregon on May 16 with twelve; Pennsylvania on May 20 with seventy-eight, and Montana and West Virginia on May 27 with ten and eighteen respectively. These seven States have a total of 196 delegates.

California has at least one candidate, Senator Johnson, who is sometimes referred to as the "primary Bosco," and it is possible that Secretary of Commerce Hoover will enter the lists.

AS FOR HOOSIERS

Senator Watson is more than willing to be the favorite son of the Hoosier State, but the situation is slightly complicated for him by reason of the fact that Postmaster-General New has gone on record as favoring the nomination of President Coolidge. Also, former Senator Beveridge always looms up in the picture when Indiana Republicans get ready for a battle royal. Pennsylvania, as is well known, has a Governor who is straining his vision in an attempt to see from Harrisburg to Washington, but there is a rumor that Pinchot may get some Pepper in his eyes. Maryland, Oregon, Montana and West Virginia are States where the best vote-getter can win.

The last of the primaries will be held in North Carolina on June 7 to select twenty-two delegates. This will come on the very eve of the National Convention and cannot have any effect on the results in other States. However, the block of delegates is well worth fighting for and might easily prove to be the controlling factor in the convention. Hiram Johnson had the unhappy experience in 1920 of carrying the North Carolina primary and then not receiving the delegation's vote in the convention. Candidates who enter the primary there in 1924 will want some kind of guarantee that a thing of that sort will not happen again.

All the primaries except this last, and possibly that in Maryland, are in States that are normally Republican or in the doubtful column when it comes to the election.

WEALTHY WIFE THOUGHT SLAIN

month ago with a mild case of pneumonia," he said. "I can't describe it better than that because I'm not a professional man. After that I understood her kidneys became affected."

News of the autopsy appeared to come as a surprise to the husband.

"I knew there was something in the wind," he exclaimed.

Asked what be meant by that, he answered:

"Give me time. My head's running around."

He dropped the subject for a moment, but later returned to it, saying:

CONTRADICTS STORY

"The old man (Mrs. Webb's father, S. Jennings Gorman) has been trying all day to get in touch with me to tell me something in a friendly way." His father-in-law, he added, was at the Morehouse Hotel in Bridgeport, Ct. Efforts to communicate with him there, however, brought the response that Mr. Gorman was not expected back at the hotel tonight.

Continuing the interview, Mr. Webb at first contradicted a reporter who told him that the physician attending his wife had refused to issue a death certificate.

"We have the body down here," he said.

"Yes, but the autopsy has been performed," he was told.

"Do they usually issue a death certificate afterward?" he inquired.

"Yes," he was informed, "after the vital organs have been taken out for examination in a case of this kind, there is no further reason to hold a body."

Mr. Webb turned to expressing his own grief at his wife's death.

"We worked together and played together for ten years," he said.

WAITED TWO YEARS

He went on to say that Mrs. Webb had been devoted to her mother, the late Mrs. Gerio A. Gorman and that the two women had been inseparable until the mother died. "My wife didn't want to marry," he exclaimed. "She waited two years before she would consent."

"Oh, my God, I worked life away to save my wife's life. I sat beside her bed for ten days. Why, I'm sick now."

He clutched at his heart as he went on.

"Why, I had to call in one of the very doctors that was with her at the last. He was here last night and again early this morning. I'm all upset. I can't sleep."

TERRIBLE LIFE

When Mr. Webb first was informed of news of the suspicions relative to his wife's death he seemed inclined to discuss the case freely. But before doing so he declared he would have to communicate with his lawyer and cousin, Howard Thayer Kingsbury of Coudert Brothers. He telephoned to Mr. Kingsbury in the reporter's presence, saying:

"Will you talk to a reporter who is here?"

Mr. Kingsbury evidently said he would not talk to the reporter and rang off, for Mr. Webb hung up and, turning to his visitor, said:

"I'd like to tell all I know about my wife's death, but I must abide by my lawyer's instructions. I've had a terrible life."

He seemed inclined to discuss his lawyer, remarking: "He was my wife's lawyer, too. He drew up—" Then he broke off, apparently thinking better of violating Mr. Kingsbury's instructions and once more talked of his grief at Mrs. Webb's death.

WILL HELD CHANGED

It is reported that shortly before her illness Mrs. Webb changed her will in a manner to affect the distribution of the large estate, estimated at between two and three million dollars. Her property consisted largely of high-class apartment buildings in the Grand Central zone, which she had inherited and which she had actively managed up to the time of her last illness.

William T. Hunter, an uncle of Mrs. Webb, and Mrs. Hunter, who were present when she died, returned to their home in Devon, Pa., of which city Mr. Hunter formerly was mayor.

From sources close to the authorities of West Chester but little could be gleaned as to what either the Hunters or Dr. Meyers hald told that led the coroner to assemble an impressive galaxy of pathologists to seek to learn beyond controversy the immediate cause of Mrs. Webb's death.

BODY BRUISED

It was revealed reluctantly by one familiar with the development of the mystery thus far that the experts summoned from New York so far agreed with Dr. Meyer as to remark in advance that there was some suspicions in Mrs. Webb's death. The only scintilla of information was given tonight to explain their willingness to commit themselves even tentatively was that they found bruises on Mrs. Webb's abdomen. Just how their presence bore on the poison theory on which it was obvious the authorities were working, was not revealed.

Why EGGS are Stored

EGGS, like fruit, are seasonable.

EGGS are stored for the same reason fruits are preserved.

In the Winter, modern canning gives you luscious fruits when the trees are bare.

In the Winter, modern refrigeration gives you good wholesome EGGS when the hens are moulting and not laying.

GOOD Storage EGGS look as good, taste as good, and have as much food value as fresh EGGS. The better storage EGGS are called "processed." Their shells are hermetically sealed, keeping all the goodness in and everything else out. Ask your grocer for "processed" EGGS.

Eggs a la Bonne Cuisine

Cut four hard-boiled EGGS in half. Scoop out yolks and rub to paste with a tablespoon butter and teaspoon anchovy paste. Mix in one pinch curry powder and one teaspoon chutney. Fill whites of EGGS with mixture. Fry rounds of bread to golden brown. When cold, spread with remainder of paste. Place half an EGG on each round, and with a pastry tube garnish with a little cooked spinach that has been rubbed through a sieve with butter.

LAWYERS CLASH AT HENEY TRIAL

Evasion of Questions Charge Brings Verbal Tilt

Witness Quizzed Regarding Ricardo Vineyard Option

Cross-Questioning Will be Resumed Monday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 27.—Clashes between counsel conducting the trial in Superior Court here in which Francis J. Heney, Los Angeles attorney is seeking possession of the Chateau Ricardo Vineyard, near Cupertino, from his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary A. Heney, and her son, Edwin A. Heney, prevented progress being made in taking testimony at this morning's session.

E. M. Ray, attorney for the plaintiff, Francis J. Heney, started the verbal battle when he interrupted the cross-examination of the defendant, Edwin A. Heney, by W. F. James, chief of plaintiff's counsel, and accused the witness of evasion in answering questions.

ALL JOIN ARGUMENT

When Maurice E. Harrison, of San Francisco, chief of defendant's attorneys, came to the defense of the witness by complaining that the questions were not clear and explaining that the defendant, who had lived all his life on the farm, probably did not think quite so fast as others in the courtroom, all attorneys in the case and the plaintiff joined in the argument.

When Judge F. B. Brown, who is sitting without a jury, finally heard arguments one at a time, noon recess was about due.

According to testimony today, in 1920, R. M. Wright, then holder of the first trust deed on the vineyard now valued at $200,000, obtained from Francis J. Heney an option to purchase for $18,000 the latter's claim of approximately $70,000 against the property.

It was on a foreclosure sale in August 9, 1922, of the first trust deed that Francis J. Heney, as a relative and attorney of the defendants, is alleged to have taken title in his own name and thereafter claimed it as his own.

The defendant, Edwin A. Heney, testified that Wright told him he was going to try to get the option fro mthe plaintiff and if successful he would charge the defendants $10,000 for doing so.

INDEBTED TO WRIGHT

The witness explained that as he and his mother were then indebted to Wright and did not want him to foreclosure on the home, he did not object to the terms, intending to inform Francis J. Heney of the true situation if anything came of the Wright option.

He denied that he had attempted to raise money with which to take advantage of the option as against his uncle.

Other testimony of the defendant went to the various methods of making wine for which the vineyard was widely known in the days before prohibition and the general manner of operating the vineyard.

The verbal classes between counsel continued throughout the afternoon. However, two witnesses for the plaintiff managed to reach the stand. They were S. P. Dearce, a former wine merchant of San Francisco and Ben Heney, brother of the plaintiff.

TELLS OF DEAL PLANNED

Dearce testified to conversations he had with Francis J. Heney after the purchase of the vineyard on the foreclosure sale, in which the plaintiff wanted him to sell the property and the wine as a whole, at a commission of 2½ per cent. According to the witness, Francis J. Heney said that he owned the vineyard and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Heney, owned the wine. Francis J. Heney told the witness, he testified, that he had become financially involved in the property and to protect his interest had purchased it "wanting to get even." He further testified that Francis J. Heney intimated in the conversation that he was not particularly anxious to have the vineyard and wanted to get rid of it as he had other business. On one occasion, the witness said, Francis J. Heney had stated that all he wanted, was to get his money back, but later he said that the statement was limited by the plaintiff to the wine on the place.

Ben Heney, admitting that he was interested in the outcome of the suit, testified as to what transpired at a meeting between the defendant, Edwin A. Heney, and the plaintiff in San Francisco in 1921 when the giving of a chattel mortgage covering wine on hand to Albert Steinfelt of Tucson, Ariz., was discussed. This mortgage later was given, he said, though it is contended by defendants that the debt was outlawed and suit to foreclose on 20,000 gallons of wine is now pending in Superior Court here.

CROSS-QUIZ RESUMED

Following these witnesses, the cross-examination of Edwin A. Heney, who has been on the stand since the case started last Monday, was resumed. He told of conversations with his uncle in 1921, at which time the Steinfelt and other indebtedness of the vineyard were discussed. The witness denied that Ben Heney was present during the conversation with Francis J. Heney, as testified to by Ben Heney. He also told the court that he believed the Steinfelt claim had been paid in 1913.

At least all of next week will be required to finish the trial, in the opinion of attorneys.

Adjournment was taken today until Monday morning when the cross-examination of Edwin A. Heney will be resumed.

Elephant Seal is Being Taken to Mexico City

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO, Sept. 27.—Prof. Jose M. Gallegos of Mexico City was here today with an elephant seal, one of an almost extinct species, which is being taken to the Federal Biological Gardens in Mexico City. It is a male, only 7 months of age and weighs 600 pounds. The seal eats fifteen pounds of fish a day and at Union Station was given a shower bath of ice water.

It was taken off the coast of Guadalupe Island, Lower California, and transported to San Diego on an eagle boat of the United States Navy. A mate will be transported to Mexico City next year, Prof. Gallegos said.

When full grown the elephant seals are twenty feet in length and twelve feet in circumference.

Jordan went on a fishing trip last week in company with John F. Pullen, newly appointed judge of Sacramento county and a guide. The rain during the week scared out Pullen and he returned home.

But Jordan remained in the canyon and the snow blocked the trial. Word reached the Secretary of State's office in the Capitol today not to expect Jordan for three or four days.

POISON MOONSHINE CAPTURED IN RAID

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Two stills of a total capacity of 400 gallons, and 2800 gallons of moonshine, said by government chemists to be poisonous, were seized in raids by prohibition agents today on an ocean beach house and a downtown store room. Frank Gilmore, who was charged with operating the stills, was arrested. The owner is being sought. The stills, which were equipped with lead coils, are said to have been in operation every day for the past two years.

Re: Your Inheritance Taxes

Dear Sir :-

We recently had the opportunity of discussing the inheritance tax situation with Mr. Bruce H. Grigsby, Vice President of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank. He mentioned that the majority of estates that the trust department is called upon to administer are sadly lacking in cash, and that in order to pay both the Federal Estate and the California Inheritance Taxes, the trust department is occasionally forced to sell some of the most marketable securities that otherwise would be held for distribution to the beneficiaries.

A statement of such nature, emanating from one whose source of information is so accurate, places the stamp of approval upon the use of life insurance in this connection.

We would suggest that you discuss this matter with Mr. Grigsby, not only for the purpose of providing life insurance for use in the settlement of your estate, but also for providing a trust fund, whereby the investments for your family will be as reasonably secured as good judgment can provide.

We would be pleased to call and further explain the value of an inheritance tax contract which was created to provide the protection that this form of taxation necessitates. Our telephone number is Metropolitan 3287.

Very sincerely yours,

Barnes Beaten by Sarazen at Pelham Manor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PELHAM MANOR (N. Y.) Sept. 27.—Gene Sarazen, 1922 open golf champion of this country, eliminated Jim Barnes, Pelham pro, from the play in the Professional Golfers' Association championship here today, and meets Robert Cruikshank in the upper semifinal bracket tomorrow. Barnes, fighting an uphill fight on the last nine holes, lost to Sarazen on the thirty-sixth green. Starting the last nine holes four down, he rallied and won the twelfth, thirteenth, fifteenth, and seventheenth. He evened the match on the difficult seventeenth with an eagle three, only to lose on the final hole, when Sarazen reached the green on his tee shot and holed out in two for a birdie three. Barnes negotiated the hole in par four.

Robert Cruikshank, diminutive Scotch pro, who was runner-up to Bobby Jones in the open tournament this year, defeated William McFarlane on the thirty-ninth green, after a bitterly fought match.

Walter Hagen, former British open champion, won his way to the semifinal round when he defeated Fred McLeod of Washington, 5 and 4, in the fourth round. He meets George McLean in the lower bracket tomorrow. McLean, professional hailing from Bronxville, N. Y., deefated Joe Kirkwood, 5 and 4, in the fourth round today.

SHOCKER IN COURT PETITION

Attorney for Twirler Asks That His Client be Made a Free Agent

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Sept. 27. A petition charging breach of contract and asking that Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Americans, be declared a free agent, was served late today upon Bill Friel, business manager of the Browns, by Jerome F. Duggan, attorney for the pitcher. A copy of the petition, it was announced has been sent to Commissioner Landis.

Duggan declined to say whether the petition had been filed in court. Shocker likewise, refused to comment on the action.

Notice of the action, however, was served on the Browns' management, coincident with the announcement that the recent suspension imposed on Shocker for alleged insubordination, had been lifted and that he would be in uniform tomorrow when the Browns open a series with the Chicago White Sox.

The petition alleges that the action of the club in several material points of the suspension has breached his contract and that the pitcher no longer is bound to them.

Shocker's suspension grew out of his desire to have Mrs. Shocker accompany the Browns' team on the eastward trip. Club officials stated that this was in violation of a club rule which forbids a player's wife from accompanying him on a trip during the season.

Fans Display Keen Interest in Big Series

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Interest in the coming world's series has not slackened because of the prospect that the same teams, the New York Yankees and Giants, will battle for baseball supremacy for the third successive year, if advance ticket applications pouring into the offices of both clubs can be taken as proof. Executives of both organizations said today they were being flooded by requests for seats from all parts of the country.

The Yankee Stadium has a seating capacity of slightly more than 60,000, with sufficient standing room to accommodate from 5000 to 10,000 more. The scale of prices that will prevail at both the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium follows: Box seats, $6.60; reserved seats, $5.50; general admission, unreserved, $3.30; bleachers, $1.10.

RAILSPLITTERS AND OXY FROSH TANGLE

Coach Frank Malette's dashing Railsplitters from Lincoln High will get their first tough workout this afternoon when Tuffy Conn brings over his Occidental freshmen for a workout and scrimmage. In all probability the game will not be in the nature of a regulation affair as coaches will tag after their teams and hurl in substitutes by the handful. The Lincoln squad looks like a pretty tough aggregation and the Tiger Frosh, with five members of last year's championship Franklin eleven and a host of other demons, look extremely strong. The Oxy Frosh are said to be the biggest and fastest freshmen crew the Eagle Rock institution ever boasted.

CHAMPION DEMPSEY BACK

Conqueror of Firpo Greeted at Salt Lake Station by Big Crowd; Here to Take Rest

BY ED O'MALLEY

He leaned far out of his cab and joyously shouted, "I've brought your champion back to you." The enthusiastic mortal was Walter Houston, engineer of the Los Angeles Limitless, which carried Jack Dempsey, the world's greatest fighting anatomy from Salt Lake to sunny Southern California. The sturdy engineer was undoubtedly the happiest wight of all the 500 that greeted Dempsey as he stepped off the front coach at the Salt Lake yards at 3:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

J. Dempsey, World's Champion

A snapshot of the conqueror of Luis Angel Firpo in pugilism's most sensational championship fight, taken as he hopped off the train at the Union Pacific Depot yesterday.

The moment the subduer of South America's tamed bull, Luis Firpo, set foot on his native heath he was welcomed with a hearty three cheers. Jack in his own witty way turned laughingly to a friend and purred, "What has caused all this disturbance?"

SHINER GONE

The first thing that challenged our attention was the famous shiner—but lo and behold, the pesky thing was conspicuous by its absence. The doctor's art had effectually smoothed the optic into normalcy. As Jack reached the station he was lifted on the shoulders of a number of admirers and snap-shotted.

Then he jumped down and raised a big goat far above his head in token that no one from Tommy Gibbons up or down to Firpo had appropriated that useful mind-easer. In answer to a number of questions shot at him haphazard while he was being enthusiastically jostled along to his auto by a frantic crowd he had the following to say:

NO WILLS FIGHT

"I sure am glad to get back to Los Angeles. I am going to take a long rest here after a whirl for a time with the moving pictures. Will do no more fighting until next year. One thing you can say and that is—there will be no Dempsey-Wills bout. As for my preference of taking on Gibbons or Firpo—that's hard to say, but I wish to say again that I am ready at any time to take on any man in the world. Oh, yes, about the blow that put me through the ropes—well, to tell the truth, I don't remember just how it was, but I am sure Firpo hit me hard. He throws his right forward like a man swinging a sledge-hammer, and any time he lands you know you are hit."

Among those that greeted the champion on his arrival here were Teddy Hayes, brother Joe and sister Elsie, Spike Robinson with his friend Larry Wilheim, Dave Landau, Chuck Reisner with his son Dinky Dean, Harry Gellis, Bull Montana, Danny Goodman, Pete Dunn, Jack Washburn, Wad Wadhams and Fane Norton.

HAYES GIVES PROGRAM

A varied program staged by Teddy Hayes will be given tonight at the Plantation Cafe to assist in raising money for the Japanese earthquake fund. Hayes has arranged numerous bouts which are to be held in an improvised ring set up on the dance floor. Many stars of the screen and stage are to help with the program.

MILLER IS HOT AFTER OLD TITLE

Ex-Middleweight Champ Has His Eye on Return Bout to Regain the Crown

Walter Miller, former middleweight wrestling champion of the world and for the past six years an instructor at the Los Angeles Athletic Club, has started a drive to regain his title. Miller's first challenge was flung at Charley Olson, middleweight champion of Canada, and accepted. The two stars will meet in a tussle in the Athletic Club ring Thursday night, October 4.

In case Miller flops Olson, which is by no means a foregone conclusion, he will immediately seek a match with Champion Johnny Myers. Myers won the championship from Miller less than two years ago in a decision bout under Chicago rules, the former taking the only fall of the night. The club boy attributed his defeat to poor condition, due to an injury received a short time before. Myers ignored all offers for a return match at that time. Since then Walter has married, settled down, and claims to be in the finest condition of his career.

The battle with Olson Thursday night will be a strenuous test of Miller's ability to come back. The Canadian is known as one of the hottest little grapplers who ever won prominence in a cold country. He is fast, powerful and game. His record in the Dominion and in the Eastern United States is not surpassed by that of any other middleweight.

Derby Winner Stands Ocean Journey Well

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Papyrus, English Derby winner, which is due to arrive tomorrow night aboard the Aquitania, has stood the ocean journey well, and is in excellent condition, according to latest wireless advices received tonight from Basil Jarvis, the horse's trainer. The wounds in Papyrus's hind legs, suffered in the running of the St. Leger Stakes, shortly before the departure from England, have healed, Jarvis added.

CUBS WILL TACKLE FRESHMEN TOMORROW

The University of California, Southern Branch, will play its first game of this season when the varsity stacks up against the frosh eleven on Moore Field tomorrow afternoon. This first encounter will give all the dopesters a chance to see whether the Cub footballers have anything in the way of competiton to offer the other conference teams. On the present squad of freshmen, which consists of about forty-five men, several promising youngsters appear.

The varsity squad consists of about thirty-eight men, who have had very little experience in the ways of playing real football. However, the varsity has championship material when it comes to spirit and fight. This year Coach Jimmy Cline, with the aid of Coaches Charlie Toney, Berkey and Peterson, should show the other conference teams a lot of trouble when they stack up against the Cubs. While nothing in the way of matured football is expected Saturday, yet a great deal of enthusiasm is being developed because the freshman class is the largest in the history of the Cub institution.

Frank Chance Not to Lead 1924 Red Sox

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—President Robert Quinn of the Boston Red Sox announced tonight that Frank Chance's contract as manager of the Red Sox will not be renewed when it expires at the close of the present season.

"I have a lot of respect and admiration for Chance," the local executive said in announcing his decision, "but feel that I want a manager who knows me and my methods better than the peerless leader does. I am making my decision in order that Chance may have all the time possible to establish a new connection if he wants to remain in the game.

"I am not yet ready to name his successor," he added. "I have two men inmind, either of whom may be chosen. I have not heard from or communicated with Lee Fohl since he was deposed as manager of the St. Louis Browns."

There is said to be a strong possibility that Fohl will lead the local American Leaguers next season.

Major baseball leagues' season will close October 7.

NAVY ELEVEN WILL APPEAR

Coast's Leading Team Will Represent West

Folwell's Men Certain to be a Strong Crew

Improvements to Bowl Roads Now Under Way

Official announcement yesterday that the football eleven of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis would represent the East in the annual Tournament of Roses New Year's Day football game at Rose Bowl, Pasadena, on January 1, 1924, was made by Admiral Wilson of the Naval Academy and Chairman Les Henry of the Tournament football committee.

The opponent of the Navy will be the team which wins the football championship of the Pacific Coast, in all probability U.S.C., California or Stanford. It is understood that all members of the Pacific Coast Conference have tentatively agreed to represent the West should they be victorious during the season.

Last year the Navy team was regarded as one of the greatest in the country, the middies sustaining their only defeat of the season at the hands of Pennsylvania's erratic eleven although they were a vastly superior team. The Middies defeated Penn State by a wider margin than U.S.C. did so that they are certainly one of the toughest aggregations in the East.

An interesting feature of the New Year's Day contest will be found in the fact that Coach Folwell, who guides the destinies of the Middies, was mentor of the Pennsylvania team which came to Pasadena in 1916 and was beaten 14 to 0 by Bezdek's great Oregon eleven. This will be the first reappearance of an eastern coach at the New Year's Day Classic.

The tournament committee has been pushing the improvements in the vicinity of the bowl so that entrance and exit alike will be sim-

Trojans Face First Test in Meeting Caltech Eleven Tomorrow

ENGINEERS IN FOR TROUNCING

Henderson's Eleven Heavy Favorite to Win

Loyola College to Tackle Trojan Freshmen

Bovard Field is Scene of Grid Double-Header

BY ROBERT E. RAY

University of Southern California's Trojans make their bow to the gridiron public tomorrow afternoon when they face "Fox" Stanton's Caltech Engineers in the second game of a football double-header on Bovard Field. This game will open the football season in Los Angeles and a lot of people are expected to be on hand to get their first squint at "Gloomy Gus" Henderson's 1923 tanbark creation, which the gloomy one has admitted that he doesn't think much about.

However, it looks like the Engineers are in for a drubbing, but not such a one as was administered them the last time they faced the Trojans. That was two years ago and the U.S.C. eleven piled up ten touchdowns. Caltech has a pretty formidable aggregation lined up this fall and, while U.S.C. should win, it should give the Trojans a tough afternoon.

TROJANS NOT GOING

To date the Trojans have not got going. In Wednesday's practice the peagreeners rushed over a touchdown on the surprised varsity in about five minutes after the kickoff. Manuel Laraneta did the dirty-work. He ran the kickoff back to the fifty-yard line and then three passes, Heiser to Laraneta, put the ball over the goal line.

Henderson will probably use Phythian and Stark at ends, Cummings and N. Anderson at tackles, Earle and Hawkins at guards, Rice at center, Capt. Dolley at quarter, Campbell at full and Riddle and O. Anderson at halves. Dolley had a boil on his leg lanced yesterday, but it is thought he will be able to start tomorrow.

Advance notices predict that Caltech's eleven will line up with Brunner and Helms, ends; Stein and Capt. Moyse, tackles; Baker and Seymour, guards; Beck, center; Foster, quarter; Alderman, full, and Groat and Goldsmith, halfbacks.

PEAGREENERS CRIPPLED

Leo Calland's U.S.C. peagreeners, which are in a considerably crippled state at present, tackle Bill Hess's Loyola College outfit in the preliminary game. Brice Taylor is out of the frosh line-up with a badly sprained big toe, Bob Lee and Kenny Cox are troubled with bad legs and a number of others are ailing with charley-horses and the like. But Calland has an army of substitutes and should be able to scrape together a strong line-up for tomorrow.

FAVORITES IN VAN AT COLUMBUS

Only Strong First Choice to Lose is Volo Chimes; Horse Unlucky

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 27.—Four class events, mediocre in quality, featured today's Grand Circuit card, in which favorites were generally successful. Paleface, an equal first choice with War Bride, won the first two heats of the 2:17 pace, which had thirteen starters. Ruby Gatewood, an outsider, won the final heat. June Marie was a straight heat winner in the 2:15 trot, while The Sign kept up his string of successes by taking all three heats of the 2:10 pace.

The only strong favorite to lose was Volo Chimes, who was made a first choice in the 2:18 trot. Breaks put him out of the running in each of the first two heats, each of which was won by Mabel Higginson.

It was announced today that five races will be held tomorrow and that there will be no Saturday program. Summaries:

Armstrong Is Chosen Prexy of Golf Club

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 27.—At a meeting of the California Golf Association held today William M. Armstrong of the Los Angeles Country Club was elected president of the organization for the succeeding year. Eddie Tufts was selected as first vice-president, and George Nickel of San Francisco as second vice-president.

Robert Modisette, Annandale Golf Club member, was made secretary-treasurer. Armstrong succeeds J. A. MacKenzie of San Francisco as president of the association.

NEVILLE WINS CRUCIAL MATCH

the second round, however, and eventually won out 4 and 2.

Wilhelm made an unofficial record for the course of 69 in the afternoon, and it's hard to shoot against such golf. Charley Foley, who eliminated Willie Hunter yesterday, continued his sensational golf today, defeating Bill Ryan, 6 and 5. Bud Edwards won from E. M. Eddy, a fellow-citizen from San Francisco, and Johnny McHugh disposed of George Mullin. George Ritchie trimmed Dr. J. H. Steinman 7 and 6.

Two players from Southern California, one from the Pacific Northwest, and five from San Francisco, remain in the field. The round before the semifinals will be played tomorrow. Jack Neville facing Charlie Foley and Bud Edwards meeting Johnny McHugh in the upper half of the draw, while Fred Wright and Rudy Wilhelm in one match and Bill Campbell and George Ritchie in the other make up the program in the lower half.

The Wright-Wilhelm contest is the feature in tomorrow's list, neither being favored by the wise ones. Johnny McHugh should defeat Bud Edwards and Neville is expected to trounce Charley Foley, but from the way the dope is being spilled around in these parts no one would be particularly perturbed if Ed Tufts Caddy walked off with the cup. Other timid prospects favor George Ritchie to eliminate Bill Campbell.

First rounds in the women's Del Monte tourney were played today, with no startling performances. Miss Mary Browne, holder of the title at 60, won her first match easily from Mrs. G. Williams, 5 and 4. Miss Louise Pike of the Los Angeles Country Club quickly drew Mrs. W. C. Van Antwerk of Burlingame in the opening round and succumbed 7 and 6, while Miss Helen Lawson of the Hollywood Country Club won from Mrs. Van-Dyke, 3 and 2. Mrs. F. S. Hardin, Los Angeles Country Club player who won the low net trophy in the qualifying rounds was defeated by Mrs. Joseph Mayo after a tough battle 1 up at the nineteenth hole. Later Mrs. Robertson A. Roos of San Francisco disposed of Mrs. Rex Taylor of the Hollywood Club, 6 and 5.

Play in the defeated eights of all flights began today with a bunch of defaults. Willie Hunter demonstrated his ability to win a match in the title tournament in spite of yesterday's defeat by accepting a default from Sam Conlan. Everett Seaver won from Frank Kales in the consolation round on the twenty-second green and Fred Barber, Los Angeles city champion defeated Johnny Arnett, 5 and 4. Most of the other matches in this flight were defaulted.

The Del Monte flight contained two extra-hole matches, J. H. Moulton, Jr., downing J. A. Peppall, on the twenty-first green, and R. D. Skelly eliminated C. E. Smoot on the nineteenth. Frank Deleat, famed for his long driving, accounted for George Nickel, 2 and 1. W. C. Smith, Southern California representative lost to E. Neitzel of the Western Avenue Club, 4 and 3, while L. M. Thomas trimmed Dr. H. M. Brownell, 3 and 1.

Result of the second round of match play for the State golf championship, Del Monte cup and other flights follow:

SECOND ROUND CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT

C. E. Foley defeated W. C. Ryan, 7 and 6.

GRID TILT NOT TO BE IN WINDY CITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Secretary of War Weeks informed Senator McKinley, Republican, Illinois, today that the administration at the military academy had decided not to accept the invitation of the city of Chicago to play the West Point-Notre Dame football game in that city next month.

The game, Senator McKinley was informed, originally scheduled for the Polo Grounds, New York, would be played at Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn, and the only reason for rejecting the Chicago invitation was the fact that it would take the West Point Cadets away from their studies for at least three days.

Oldest living monarch is his majesty Samdach Preah Bat Kampuchea Sisowath, king of Cambodia, who has had eighty-four birthdays.

GRID PREPPING AT TOP SPEED

Washington and Idaho Lads Buckle on Armor

Both Varsities' Prospects Fine This Year

Each School to Take Fling at the Trojans

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 27.—Football preparations are going ahead at top speed at the University of Washington and the University of Idaho, the two northern schools that will meet the University of Southern California this year. Both of these schools have fine prospects and the Washington Huskies, at this stage of the game, appear to be the class of the northern division of the conference.

There is an entirely different spirit on the Seattle campus than has been displayed for years—the same old confident optimism that prevailed long ago when Dobie's elevens were knocking them all cold. Washington's coaches, players and students are looking forward to a big season. They will be satisfied with nothing less than a Coast championship, although they are slow to predict that they will get it. If they lose more than one game on their schedule it will, indeed, be a sad blow.

MATERIAL GALORE

Bagshaw's squad looks like it will be a real contender, even in a conference that includes such formidable elevens as California, Southern California and Stanford. The showing already made in practice makes it look better than even the rosy forecasts that have been heard. There are only two spots in the team that are giving much concern—center and fullback. For the other berths there is a wealth of material of conference caliber.

Elmer Tesreau, freshmen end last season, will be the regular fullback, it now appears. Tesreau weighs 185, played full for the Chehalis High School, is fast and aggressive and a satisfactory choice for the position. But so far Bagshaw has been unable to turn up another plunging back to alternate with Tesreau, and one first-string fullback is not enough. At center there are several bulky candidates, with none of whom Bagshaw is entirely satisfied. Chalmers Walters, who played the position part of last season, is out of condition, so a new man must be developed.

SITTING PRETTY

If the center and fullback positions are solved Washington will be sitting pretty. The line will be made up of experienced men with quite as much beef as any team in the West. Ed Kuhn, all-Coast guard last year, is back, and Vern Bellman, who made a sensational finish to last season, will be at the other guard position. Kuhn probably will be shifted to tackle and the other guard position filled by Jack Lillis, 200-pound veteran. As candidates for the other tackle there are five men, all with varsity experience.

Last year's ends, Capt. Wayne Hall and Roy Petrie, are both back. Hall is sure of his place, but Petrie has a strong rival in Johnny Cole, who was ineligible last year, and one or two others.

For halves and quarter there is a wealth of material. Les Sherman, who took a turn at full last year, has been transferred to quarter and will alternate with Fred Abel, last year's quarter. Baggy will not have much trouble getting a couple of crack halves out of this bunch: Leonard Ziel, star punter and passer of last year; Ray Hill, speedy runner and letter man; Ham Greene, colored back from the 1921 team; George Wilson of Everett, freshman star last year; Bill Beck, a veteran from Portland, and several other contenders.

All in all, the material is the best Bagshaw has ever had. With the help of Tubby Graves and Wayne Sutton, assistant coaches, he ought to give Washington a team that will make a showing with the best of them.

WILDCATS TO PLAY REDLANDS SQUAD

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, Sept. 27.—Monrovia's Wildcats and Kittens will have a chance to show how wild they are tomorrow afternoon when they meet Redlands on Monrovia field in a practice game. Both the heavies and lightweights will tangle and learn football as it is played. Coach William Feeler of Monrovia is not saying anything this early in the game, but is known to be a little less pessimistic than he was at the opening of the season, when it looked as if all chances of another championship eleven were shot to pieces.

Average mortality from measles is 6 per cent.

LAVIGNE TACKLES ROBERTS

Classy Welters Tangle in Main Event at Hollywood Legion Tonight

George Lavigne, an old-time local favorite, steps into the Hollywood American Legion ring tonight for his first appearance here in several months. He is slated to tackle K. O. Eddie Roberts, another local boy, in the feature go of tonight's show. Lavigne returns to the Coast after an extended campaign in the East, where he met several of the leading New York welters. Charley Cook, who bosses Floyd Johnson, saw him work in several of his eastern battles, and was so impressed with his ability that he has taken the local boy in and is now grooming him for a crack at the world's welterweight title. He is a wonderful boxer and packs a wicked punch, too.

K. O. Roberts in his only recent southern start earned a decision over Terry Adams at Hollywood three weeks ago, and in doing so displayed just about as mean a right hand as they make 'em. He has enjoyed a great summer in the north, stopping practically all of his opponents up around Oakland and San Francisco with knockouts. He is not the boxer that Lavigne is, but will make up for this disadvantage with his increased punching power.

"Wildcat" Willie O'Brien and Joe "King" Leopold will have it out in the semi-wind-up. O'Brien has always been popular with the local fans, and may be depended upon to give a good account of himself in any company. Leopold, not so well known in the south, is a big favorite with the Oakland and San Francisco fans. This battle promises to rival the main event.

Two little fellows stole the show last week and Matchmaker Tom Kennedy has struck a popular note in rematching them. Art Springer and Frankie Novey, who drew last week, will settle the score in tonight's special spot.

Roy Edwards and Sailor Foster, 142-pounders, get together for a return match in the feature preliminary. They fought a great battle in the opener two weeks ago. Johnny Adams tackles tough Sammy Santos at 130 pounds; Eddie Dugan and Young Leddy swap punches at 123, and "Dutch" Campbell boxes the opener with Frankie Flores at 115 pounds.

COMPTON LEGION CONTESTS TONIGHT

The Compton American Legion Post No. 152 will bring off a card of seven good bouts this evening at its arena. The main event promises much action when Phil Moss takes on Jack Sparr. The lads are evenly matched and a cracking good bout is looked forward to. The entertainment starts promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Over 3,500,000 electric fans are being used in American homes.

Stanford Grid Stars May Get Back to School

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Sept. 27.—Students of Stanford University, disqualified for low scholarship, now may petition for readmission after three quarters, instead of waiting a whole calendar year, under a rule passed today by the Stanford scholarship committee, President R. L. Wilbur announced. Football and track stars, disqualified last Christmas, now are eligible to apply for reinstatement, under the ruling.

Experience had indicated that the disqualification for an entire calendar year worked a hardship on the student who is preparing for professional work, causing him to lose two years instead of one in some instances, owing to the alternation of courses, President Wilbur explained.

Under the above ruling, Murray Cuddeback, varsity fullback; Chuck Johnston, varsity tackle, and George Houck, varsity guard, would be available if allowed to re-enter school. Also Bill Cook, star halfback, and Gordon Faust, fullback of last year's freshmen, could be reinstated. Tiny Hartranft, national intercollegiate weight champion in 1922, would likewise be available to Stanford teams.

Mayor Slater of Culver City Turns First Shovelful of Dirt Sunday; Many Notables to be on Hand

The first actual construction work pointed toward making Los Angeles one of the great racing cities of the United States will be done Sunday at Culver City, when in the presence of hundreds of notables of the sport, motion-picture and civic world, Mayor Clyde Slater of Culver City will turn the first shovelful of earth of the new track of the Southern California Jockey Club.

Immediately after the Mayor bends his back to the toil that marks the start of work, personages such as Jack Dempsey, Will Rogers and others will join him with shovels. Movie-picture cameras will click, the band will play and the long-cherished desire of the sportsmen here to have a racetrack of their own will be on the way to fulfillment.

REAL WORK MONDAY

The serious work will start Monday, when mule teams will settle down to the grading of a perfect track on the 140 acres of ground which the Jockey Club has leased. Ever since the first announcement by Dick Ferris that the track would be built, he has been deluged with letters and telegrams from all over the country asking for data on the first meeting.

The tentative schedule calls for the meeting to start December 1 and run for 100 days. No details on the feature race events is available.

MANY NOTABLES ASKED

The notables in addition to Dempsey and Will Rogers who have been asked to participate in the opening ceremonies are Douglas Fairbanks, James Morrison, William V. Mong, Harry Carey, George D. Baker, Richard Stanton, Lewis Stone, Edna Cudahy, James Cruze, Herbert Rawlinson, William Desmond, Lew Cody, Pauline Frederick, Ruth Roland, Helen Holmes, Tony Moreno, Hoot Gibson, Jack Hoxie, Al St. John, King Baggot, William S. Hart, Jack Holt and many others.

The officials of the Roach, Goldwyn and Ince studios, which are close by the track site, are to attend en masse.

ANGELS TRIM PICK'S LADS

Lyons Proves a Thorn in Side of Senators, Downing Them by Score of 5 to 1

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

George Lyons chucked that sort of ball which is expected to him on big time, and Sacramento suffered its first defeat since Solons escaped from the infuriated Seals. Los Angeles took this 1 to 1, Lyons winning the decision over Dick Canfield, the plunging southpaw.

GRIGGS THERE

Griggs then came to the dragging his loose rib. The limp condition of said bone enabled him to swing freely and he socked the second two-bagger of this bargain inning. Smith conserved his heel by tip-toeing from second to the plate. It will be several days yet before he is able to execute the heel-and-toe dance of the able-bodied base runner. When a guy starts to ravel out at the heel he must use discretion. Chief Lindimore then walked and Byler did a dirigible to Cochran. Lyons overlooked the ethics of the pitching profession long enough to paste a single to center. This put Griggs on the safe side of the plate and Lindimore wound up at third, scoring while Hemingway was tossing out McCabe on a slow grounder. Act ended with Hemingway strangling McAuley's foul.

OH, YOU JOHNNY

At start of fifth, just as Johnny Parsons was dictating hair-raising story to the effect that "Lyons seemed to be on the threshhold of realizing the asperslons of a lifetime," Fred Mollwitz up and disrupted this rare literary classic with an uncouth clout to left. It was a perfectly good single and dispelled all allusions of a no-hit caucus. The ball had hardly cooled when McNeely forced Fred, but the latter took third on a double by Siglin, scoring on a grounder to McAuley by McGinnis. Thus was a masterpiece desecrated by selfish batters with an unholy desire to win.

Snappy fielding stopped the Solons when they seemed to tie in seventh. Shea slammed a double, taking third when Mollwitz proved himself a true sportsman by not aiming at Smith's heel. Instead he shot at Red's head and came near tearing it off. Mr. Smith's head is sound, and therefore a legitimate target, albeit a moving one. Red's forehead glided out of the way like a clay pigeon. This single put two on with no one down, the front runner on third, and firmly glued there as was shown. McNeely drove into a double-play, Smith to Lindimore to Griggs, which was executed with such dispatch that Shea got no farther away from third than a postage stamp from a letter. McAuley squeezed a tall fly by Siglin and the crisis had passed. Score:

DUCKS TO TRAIN AT STOCKTON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STOCKTON, Sept. 27.—The Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League today picked Stockton as its spring training camp for 1924, according to a telegram received by the local Chamber of Commerce from Secretary Fred Rivers of the northern team.

The baseball park has been reserved by the Beavers for the entire month of March next year. Last spring the Beavers trained in Hanford and finished their spring season with a ten-day workout on the Stockton grass field.

FRISCH GIVES GIANTS LEAD

Flashy Second Baseman's Record Much Better Than Aaron Ward's so McGrawmen Take "Dope" Lead

BY HUGH FULLERTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, By The Chicago Tribune]

Player	Offensive	Defensive	Total
Ward	855	497	1352
Frisch	917	521	1438

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—New York's Giants jump into a big lead in the study of the second position in the world's series dope. The fact that Frankie Frisch, in spite of his temporary lapse during midseason, has stepped into the front rank of the second basemen of the country and proved, last year, one of the greatest series players of all time, the rival of Johnny Evers and Eddie Collins at their best, gives the Giants the lead.

The fact that Frisch leads in position value over the Yankees by almost one hundred points seems significant until we discover by study of figures that the lead would be immensely greater but for the fact that Aaron Ward has perhaps shown the greatest improvement of any second baseman in the country.

WARD IMPROVED

Last spring Ward ranked sixth or seventh among the second basemen of the American League and so steady has been his improvement that he ranks third now and close up to the leaders. Such an improvement in a playing season is remarkable in baseball, and argues that the Yankee management, after wabbling for years, is one of the wisest in putting players in positions and keeping them there.

Frisch, however, is faster, more brilliant, a much stronger and more resourceful hitter. He is of the superplayer class and seems at his greatest when the stakes are highest. Frisch, of course, will not hit as hard against the select pitchers of the Yankees' great staff as he has against National League pitchers, but he will trouble them.

SHOULD CUT BATTING

The pitching ought to cut his batting below 275 unless he has great luck. On the other hand, Ward should maintain his normal batting gait against the Giant pitchers, excepting Ryan.

Frisch, in addition to outhitting Ward by a large margin, is his superior in long-distance hitting and much better in base running. In studying how Frisch probably will play in this series we must take into consideration the catchers. Ward is only a fair base runner, but he has a faculty in both hitting and base running of making them when they count, which sometimes offsets superior ability of the opponent.

Also we have to consider the different styles of play. The fact that Ward is on a team which is a long-driving one, relying largely upon hitting power to score, while Frisch is on a team which resorts to strategy, uses speed, and is especially strong in hitting behind runners, forces a student of the game to analyze carefully rather than to depend upon the straight figures.

Frisch undoubtedly gives the Giants an edge and gives them the stronger infield on the first base side. Next we must study the third basemen and see how the infields balance.

Joe Beckett Looking for a Wills Fight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Joe Beckett is coming to this country to meet Harry Wills. That is Joseph will make the trip providing he knocks over Georges Carpentier with whom he has an engagement in London next Monday. Simon Flaherty and Lew Raymond have been working on the match for some time and it is proposed to stage the fuss at the old Schnetzen Park in London Island City, on November 1. Beckett has already consented to meet the giant negro and all that remains for Beckett to do is polish off the Frenchman. Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, is glad to get any match that might lead up to a battle between the New Orleans panther and Champion Dempsey.

Wickham went around in a little less than seven hours. He made the seventy holes in 383 strokes.

SLOTTED CLUBS WILL BE BARRED NEXT YEAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The United States Golf Association announced today that after January 1, 1924, all slotted or punched clubs would be barred. Stamped lines may be used if they do not exceed one-sixteenth of an inch in width and are not less than three-thirty-seconds of an inch apart. All rough or raised edges must also be removed.

HOW BALL IS HELD—
THE DROP-KICK

What is the proper way to execute a drop-kick?

Answered by

MAJ. C. D. DALY

Head football coach, Army eight years. Five of his teams during this period unbeaten. Also assistant coach, Harvard, four years. Three times all-American quarterback. Founder American Football Coaches' Association.

It is essential that the drop-kick be made in less than two seconds after the ball is put in play. The kicker ordinarily stands eight to twelve yards behind the center. After receiving the ball he quickly adjusts it in his hands so that the long axis is vertical or tipped slightly to the rear, lacings to the front. He then drops the ball carefully, so that it will reach the ground in this position. As it touches the ground and starts to rebound, his kicking toe drives into the lower quarter of the ball and lifts it up and forward. In order to obtain the necessary power, the kicker ordinarily takes one or two steps forward while adjusting the ball in his hands.

PLAYER INJURED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—New York defeated Boston 8 to 3, today but in the eighth inning Rightfielder Bob Meusel injured his left leg in sliding into the home plate and had to be carried from the field. He succeeded in scoring from first on Schang's single.

When the New York team arrived in Boston this morning, First Baseman Pipp stepped off the car and because there was no porter's step in place, sprained his ankle and could not play today. X-ray photographs of both injuries will be made to determine whether any bones were broken. Pipgrass's pitching today was effective. Boston bunched four hits in the sixth and made three runs. Score:

O'FARRELL DOES IT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Bob O'Farrell's home-run drive into leftfield bleachers with two mates on base gave Vic Keen a winning margin in the first inning and Chicago easily won the first game of the series from Pittsburg here today, 8 to 2. Hack Miller of the Cubs also poled a homerun with the aid of Outfielder Cuyler, who touched a high bounder off Miller's bat and sent the ball into the bleachers. A man was on base at the time. Its Powerful Grip Means Safety

When you press down the brake on a car equipped with Goodyear Tires with the All-Weather Tread, that car comes surely to a stop.

Clutching, clinging, digging, the big thick sharp-edged blocks of this famous tread bite through mud or snow to solid footing beneath.

That powerful grip means safety, and it means economy, too; for it insures against spinning wheels, loss of traction and undue engine strain.

Thicker than other treads, the All-Weather Tread is now beveled and made of an even tougher rubber compound, affording the utmost in long and economical wear.

If you want security under your car, now and in the winter months ahead, get the new Goodyear Cord Tires with the All-Weather Tread.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cords with the beveled All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service

OLD BEES BEAR DOWN ON GEARY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Salt Lake mauled Geary in the second and sixth innings and made it two in a row from the league leaders today, 10 to 4. After San Francisco had gained a two-run advantage in the opening round, Bee batsmen attacked Geary viciously and, with two down, pounded a homer, three doubles and two singles for five tallies. Geary remained but was routed four innings later by another avalanche of swats which Mitchell, his successor, was unable to check. This netted four more runs. Score:

CALABASAS HUNTER SHOOTS BIG BUCK

The heaviest deer record for the season so far, 150 pounds, was beaten yesterday one lone pound by R. Dorff of Calabasas, who came staggering into the B. H. Dyas Company Log Cabin almost bent double under the weight of his mammoth buck.

Dorff shot his deer in the Calabasas region, and he was accompanied by A. Love. They weighed the deer at the Dyas Log Cabin with Pete Peterson and Carl Bergman witnessing, and Dorff is now first in the competition for the two Savage rifles up as prizes for the heaviest and second heaviest deer killed during the season, ending at sundown, October 15.

to attract must Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—and back of beauty—Health—working silently. Red blood tingling through the veins;—the glow of youth in the cheeks;—the spring of eagerness, of vim, of vitality in the walk;—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry.—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved-for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S does both.

S. S. S., since 1826, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—aiding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks, scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

Predicted Crop Will Equal Record 1909 Harvest

Decrease in Imports Means Stride to Prosperity

Lean Revolution Years Hard on Penniless People

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 27. Corn production in Mexico, which for several years has been on the decline, has reacted considerably with a total crop predicted for this year of more than 5,000,000,000 kilos, or equal to the record crop of 1909, according to the City of Mexico newspaper Excelsior, whose statement was based on interview with leading farmers in the corn growing districts of the nation. A kilo is two and one-fifth pounds.

Reviewing the various fortunes which had attended the production of corn, not only in the fat pre-revolutionary days, but through the vicissitudes of internercine warfare when the people, often without money to buy imported grain, died of malnutrition in multitudes, Excelsior says in part:

If these predictions be well founded as the farmers now believe imports of grain will be reduced materially and the amount of money leaving the country consequently much smaller than in most years of the past. Commercial prosperity will be intensified as a result of this situation.

EARLY IMPORTS SMALL

In 1878 when agriculture was at its height and mining trivial, the corn crop amounted to 5,300,000,000 kilos with an estimated value of 122,000,000 pesos. There are no data concerning imports of grain at this period, but they are believed to have been trivial and of slight value. That year stands as the high record. In 1892 2,000,000,000 kilos of corn was produced and imports amounted to 220,000,000 kilos, valued at $5,582,000.

In 1896 the crop amounted only to 2,000,000,000 kilos and Mexico imported 227,000,000 kilos, paying the farmer of the United States $2,600,000, for it.

The harvest in 1897 amounted to 3,221,000,000 kilos of corn and imports dropped magically to 3,000,000 kilos, valued at 43,000 pesos.

SERIES OF POOR CROPS

A series of poor crop years succeeded, it being stated that between 1898 and 1906 the harvest never exceeded 3,000,000,000 kilos though during this period available figures show imports to have been small. In relation to imports 1906 was the banner year, the valued of corn bought in the United States reaching 2,496,209 pesos imports in previous years of the eight-year period having amounted to less than 1,000,000 pesos annually.

In 1909 more than 5,000,000,000 kilos of the cereal was produced but imports crept up and more than 87,000,000 kilos was imported, valued at more than 5,000,000 pesos.

The year 1910 was a calamitous year as, although the national corn crop reached more than 4,000,000,000 kilos, North American farmers sold Mexico more than 229,000,000 kilos, valued at 11,000,000 pesos.

MALNUTRITION FELT

During the revolutionary period which followed, poor crop conditions existed, but on account of bad economic conditions it was possible for Mexico to import grain only in small quantity. Taking 1914 for instance, when but 2,000,000 kilos of corn was produced in Mexico, the imports reached the insignificant total of 1,000,000,000 kilos, valued at 92,000 pesos. It was during this year that thousands of the poorer classes in Mexico died of malnutrition, and in a few districts, of actual starvation.

Enormous losses in the corn crop were reported in 1921, when but 1,550,000,000 kilos of corn were harvested in the entire national territory of Mexico, and imports reached 216,000,000 kilos for which Mexico paid the United States $16,117,206.

COMMUNISTS DRIVEN TO BULGARIAN HILLS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SOFIA, Sept. 27.—The Communists were seized and driven out of Kritichin, Bania, Kostenets and Istabanola on the railroad between here and Philipopolis and Ferdinandove, a village north of Sofia, during the last twenty-four hours. Although they succeeded in cutting the railroad between here and Philipopolis in two places within fifty kilometers south of Sofia, and made a sally twelve kilometers north, attempting to tear up the tracks there also, the Minister of Communications announces that communications have been entirely re-established. This, however, was not done before the Orient express from the south was delayed sixteen hours.

Th government reports that not more than fifty armed Communists created the trouble between here and Philipopolis, while not a great number more took part in the Ferdinandove coup.

The Agrarians gave no assistance to the Communists, as arranged, but lost their nerve and permitted the train to proceed. They then fled to the hills, where they are now being sought.

ITALIAN COUNTESS IN LONDON PRISON

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A young and beautiful Italian countess whose name was given in court as Minica Anna Carolina, was sent to jail for a fortnight yesterday for crossing the channel in a French fishing smack to visit her sweetheart and thwart a Russian rival.

The countess had come here with a man on August 22, but was deported as an undesirable alien. She then hired a smack at Boulogne and gave the fisherman 2500 francs and a bottle of whisky to land her at midnight on an unfrequented coast. She appeared at her sweetheart's flat and later was arrested.

Sir Henry Curtis Bennett, her lawyer, pleaded that the offense be condoned as caused by youth and love, but the magistrate was unsympathetic. After her prison term the countess will be deported.

STUDENT TOTAL INCREASE MADE

Rigid Entry Requirements Fail to Halt Gain

Freshman Scatters Eleven Would-be Hazers

Tucson Banker Leaves Post for Coast Work

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TUCSON, Sept. 27.—Despite more rigid entrance requirements, 1134 students are registered at the University of Arizona, compared with 1047 at the same time last year. The new students numbered 508 and the registration includes 694 men and 440 women. In the college of letters, arts and sciences are 630, in mining and engineering 203, in agriculture 129 and in education 132.

The usual hazing has been started, the hazers taking freshmen far out on the desert at night and leaving them to walk back home. Somewhat of a setback was known by eleven sophomores, who were whipped by a single freshman, "Bull Moose" Walter Hoag, who will play guard on the football team when he recovers from the effects of a broken rib, cracked in the melee.

SIX ARRIVE HORSEBACK

A half-dozen students for the Evans school near Tucson, have arrived, making the journey on horseback from the summer school maintained by the institution at Flagstaff, a ride of about 350 miles.

John Mets, for years vice-president of the Arizona National Bank, has resigned this position, to give attention to large investments in the neighborhood of Los Angeles. He retains his interest in the bank and in number of other Tucson enterprises.

REGAINS CITIZENSHIP

Glenton Godfrey Sykes, a native of Flagstaff, Ariz., son of Godfrey Sykes of the Carnegie desert laboratory staff, has just been admitted to Amecican citizenship. In 1916, anxious for action, he enlisted in the British army. When he returned to Arizona he found he had forfeited citizenship.

DRIVER OF WRECKED AUTO STAGE ACCUSED

INJURED PASSENGERS DECLARE NEGLECT AT WHEEL CAUSED CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Sept. 27.—That Driver J. C. Kerrigan went to sleep at the wheel is charged by passengers of the Los Angeles-El Paso stage that was wrecked on the divide, five miles north of Bisbee. There is threat of criminal proceedings against him by three men and a woman, passengers who were injured. The other eight passengers all are said to have been bruised when the truck struck the edge of a culvert and toppled over into a ditch.

Kerrigan says that something went wrong with the steering apparatus while he was climbing the hill in second gear. The passengers were Mexicans. As the stage was not operating under Arizona laws, it is understood that no passengers' liability insurance was carried.

Thomas M. Ford, Jr., of Nogales is charged with reckless driving that caused injury to J. J. Walker, a State road employee, said to have been knocked down at Fairbank by Ford as he was brushing by a State truck on which Walker was about to climb. Foreman Miller of the road gang states that his men are endangered constantly by motorists who breeze through Fairbank at a thirty-mile clip or worse.

ASSESSOR CONFESSES EMBEZZLING FUNDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TURLOCK, Sept. 27.—J. H. Edwards, assessor for the Turlock irrigation district, resigned his position today after admitting the embezzlement of $18,000 of the district's funds, officials of the district announced. The district is safeguarded by a $20,000 bond, which was drawn up for Edwards. No information was forthcoming from Edwards today on the disposition of the embezzled funds. He is a married man with two children and is prominent in church work here.

HOTEL MAN TELLS OF EXTORTED BRIBES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Frederick J. Littleton, deposed naturalization examiner accused of extensive frauds in the issuance of citizenship papers to foreigners, extorted bribes totaling $2000 from three wealthy Nevada cattlemen it was testified in Littleton's trial in Federal court here today by Peter Jauregui, an Elko (Nev.) hotel owner. The three, Balbino Achabel, Javier Goicocho and Jose Juan Berrieuta, said the witness passed the money to Littleton so that they might obtain fraudulent naturalization papers.

SUPERSTITION AS TO KING TUT REVIVED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The superstition that Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amun still exerts a malign influence upon the disturbers of his tomb, has been received by the death in London yesterday of the Hon. Aubrey Herbert, half-brother of the late Earl of Carnarvon.

His friends recall that he strongly objected to the Earl's activities at Luxor, believing it unlucky to interfere with the tombs of dead. When the burial chambers of the Pharaoh were laid bare, Mr. Herbert remarked: "Something dreadful will surely happen in our family."

JAP SILK INDUSTRY WILL RECOVER SOON

the silk industry by the earthquake is but temporary, the only material losses being stocks destroyed in Yokohama totalling 47,000 bales, coupled with the time in rearranging exports at Kobe, which lengthens the trans.

Visits to chief centers revealed that only small parts of the growing district were affected. The only loss of manufactured stocks occurred in Yokohama, where chiefly raw products awaited shipment.

THREE DIE IN JERSEY EXPLOSION

Castor-Oil Plant Blows Up and Burns; Five Are Injured

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Three men were killed and five injured by an explosion in a one-story brick building within the plant of the Baker Castor Oil Company, Bayonne, N. J., today. Up to a late hour investigators had been unable to discover what had caused the explosion.

During the spectacular fire that followed the accident the building was destroyed. An old tank near by caught fire and four hours later another tank was in flames.

The dead are:

Theophole Tepetit, a French war veteran who was wounded several times in the late war; John Zeleathidis and Vito Tonates, who died in Bayonne Hospital of burns.

Tepetit and Zeleathidis were blown out of the building, which partially collapsed from the force of the explosion. Tepetit was dead when found, and his injuries were such that ambulance surgeons said death probably had been instantaneous. Zeleathidis was so seriously burned and otherwise hurt that he died a little while after he had arrived at Bayonne Hospital. His clothes were aflame when he was found.

COOLIDGE HEARS GRAIN PROPOSAL

Listens to Demand for Marketing Agency

Asks Northwest Bankers for More Data

Silent on Petition for Extra Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—President Coolidge gave careful consideration today to proposals of a delegation of bankers from the Northwest for revival of the wheat corporation or some similar grain-marketing agency, but gave no indication as to his own attitude on the subject. Participating in the conference were Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Eugene Meyer, Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation.

The bankers, who represent wheat-growing States in the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank district, later in the day met with Secretary Wallace with whom they discussed the wheat situation more in detail. Tomorrow they will hold conference with Secretary Hoover and Mr. Meyer.

ATTITUDE CHANGING

Heretofore it has been indicated that President Coolidge was not inclined to look with favor upon the establishment of a government corporation to buy and sell wheat. Secretary Wallace also has expressed doubts as to the value of such a plan, although in his report to the Cabinet this week he proposed in a rather indefinite manner the creation of some sort of a commission or corporation to aid in developing an export market for wheat.

That the President does not intend to dismiss the plan for a wheat-marketing corporation without considering it from all angles was apparent at today's conference. The Northwest delegation had been allotted thirty minutes but the President allowed its members to talk for a full hour. The President assured them that he was deeply sympathetic with the plight of the farmer and that he desired greatly to work out some sound plan for the relief of agriculture.

COOLIDGE ASKS DATA

He asked that his Cabinet members be furnished with more complete information as to conditions and promised that he would discuss the proposal further with his advisers before finally making up his mind on the subject.

The delegation urged that the President call a special session of Congress at once in order to provide for legislation creating a wheat corporation in time to be of benefit in handling this season's crop. The President has been of the opinion up to this time that nothing would be gained by calling a special session but he refrained from any comment on this point in responding to the bankers. The general belief continues to be that there is no possibility of a special session.

America's Opium Fight Lauded at Geneva Meeting

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—Expressions of appreciation for the action of the United States in taking the lead in the struggle against the opium evil were given by several delegates at a plenary session of the League of Nations Assembly today.

The assembly adopted resolutions providing for two conferences, one to reduce opium smoking in far eastern lands and suppress the illegal production and use of opium in China and the second a general conference with representatives of all countries attending to limit the manufacture of narcotic drugs derived from opium and the cocoa leaf to medicinal and scientific purposes as advocated by the United States.

WOULD REINSTATE CARPENTERS' UNION

RESOLUTIONS OFFERED AT PORTLAND CONVENTION; NO ACTION TAKEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 27.—An attempt was made in the building trades convention today to heal the two-year-old breach between the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the other trades, but it was not at once successful. The resolution voicing the effort was referred to the committee on resolutions, following defeat of an effort to obtain immediate action.

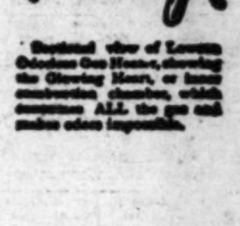
The feature of today's proceedings in the metal trades convention was an address by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who recounted recent advances in the labor movement and predicted bigger things for the future. He urged the union men to protect fellow workers in their interests "industrially and politically," and regretted that workmen of other countries than the United States had "forsaken the true road and followed false gods." Speaking of the railway labor situation he said:

"Many regret that the reductions ordered by the Railway Labor Board have not been successfully resisted on all roads. It is highly pleasing that it has been resisted on some."

MINE SHUT DOWN BY SMELTER STRIKE

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHIHUAHUA CITY (Mex.) Sept. 27.—The Potsoi Mining Company, the largest of its kind here, apparently without hope of getting its ores smelted soon, has closed down, discharging 600 men. This is due to the fact that American Smelting and Refining Company smelter here is closed down by strikes, 4000 workmen being involved. The smelting company, apparently realizing the seriousness of the differences with workmen, yesterday gave 30 days discharge notice to eight office employees. Troops remained in the smelting properties.



Healthful, odorless, radiant heat—lots of it!

The Heater with the Glowing Heart gives you greater comfort at lower cost—and is absolutely safe!

YOU'LL welcome the cheery warmth of the Lawson Odorless Gas Heater on chilly mornings—crisp evenings—cold, rainy days.

Just light your Lawson. In a few minutes every corner of the room will be snug.

No odor. No unburned gases. The Glowing Heart consumes ALL the gas and brings out every possible heat unit. No gas wasted.

Costs little to operate. The Lawson gives more heat than larger, higher-priced gas heaters. Works equally well with natural or manufactured gas.

Compact. Takes up little space, in spite of its great heating power. An economical size for every room.

Safe! No open flame to set fire to children's clothing. Sudden drafts cannot extinguish flame.

Attractive. Made in Aluminum, Nickel and Black finishes.

Remember, only the Lawson Heater has the Glowing Heart.

Reliable Hardware, Furniture, Department Stores, and Gas Companies, sell the Lawson Odorless. Ask to see it.

WORLD END FAILS TO COME

Chinese Breathe Easier as Day of Prophecy Goes by and Heavenly Wrath is Absent

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—China's period of terror following the prophecy of the end of the world on the 25th inst., is over, and millions of inhabitants are now heaving the proverbial sigh of relief.

According to a prediction made a year ago by Li Chan Tao, a Taoist priest living in Chanswa, Sachuan Province, a series of divine manifestations was to start on the fifteenth day of the eighth moon of the Chinese calendar, which coincides with our September 25. Because the Japanese earthquake came along at such an opportune time to lend cordence to the prophecy, Chinese and Christians have been terrorised to an extent that is unbelievable in western countries.

BISHOP BELIEVED

The predictions did not arouse more than passing comment until Christian missionaries, including one bishop, expressed belief in Li Chan Tao's forecast. After that widespread apprehension prevailed.

According to the prophecy the first day's manifestation was to take the form of earthquakes. The second day was to bring an eclipse of the sun. On the third day there were to be floods and on the fourth thunder, lightning and a great storm. On the fifth day meteors were to fall from the heavens. Then on the final day heavenly vengeance on the sinful was to be wrought.

PROPHECY FAILS

Taoists, Confucianists, Mohammedans and Christians accepted the prophecy and started preparations for the collapse. Few Christians went beyond the stage of writing letters to the newspapers. Buddhists took on an attitude of scepticism until the Japanese catastrophe seemed to lend weight to the prophecies. Then Buddhist temples became thronged with worshipers who burned Joss sticks and prayer papers. Even blase occidentals began to become dubious.

The fifteenth day of the eighth moon came at last and nothing happened. Now everybody is breathing easier. There are some who still think that the end is near that the Japanese earthquakes and the recent eclipse of the sun are still portentous, but the scoffers are now in the majority.

Seven Die, Two Are Hurt When Car Hits Auto

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

RENO (Nev.) Sept. 27.—Seven men were killed, one was badly injured and a ninth seriously hurt today when the Fallon Motor Car of the Southern Pacific Company, west bound, struck a large touring car loaded with men, eleven miles east of Reno. The dead and injured were brought to Reno.

With the exception of John Lucke, a labor contractor of Stockton, who was driving the men to Austin for highway work, all the dead are laborers. The list of men, as given out by the employment office here, is as follows: John Lucke, contractor in charge; F. Burns, George King, D. G. Perry, D. F. Jones, Wilson Vasquez, Joe Rodriguez, Tom Yarnoz and Garcia Sorellas.

Of the nine men, Yarez is in the railroad hospital at Sparks, where his chances for recovery are said to be good. Another is believed dying in a local hospital, but his identity has not been established.

WASHINGTON, septiembre 27.—Los Senadores McKinley, McKellar y Robinson expresaron hoy su desengaño por lo que respecta a la Sociedad de Naciones, así como su falta de confianza en el tribunal mundial. Los tres acaban de regresar de extensos viajes por Europa.

El Presidente Coolidge ha estado estudiando con detenimiento las proposiciones de una delegación de banqueros del noroeste, relativa a la resurrección de la compañía triguera o de alguna agencia análoga para conseguirle mercado al grano.

El Ministro de la Guerra Weeks anunció hoy su resolución de que no podrá jugarse en Chicago el partido de futbol West Point-Notre Dame, en vista de que se prolongaría demasiado la ausencia de los cadetes en la Academia Militar de los Estados Unidos.

La elección de Sam B. Hill, demócrata, en el quinto distrito parlamentario de Washington, es tomada por los líderes democráticos de aquí como la primera piedra de toque política que se ha aplicado a la administración republicana.

La Comision de medios y arbitrios del comité nacional republicano, después de una conferencia hoy, ha expresado su confianza en que se allegarán amplios recursos para la campaña nacional y el fomento de los programas en pro de su política.

Descubre la Policía un Ingenioso Fraude en Barcelona

BARCELONA, septiembre 27.—Han sido arrestados por la policía algunos individuos que llevaban muchos años de practicar el timo de los presos, consistente en distribuir por el mundo una enorme cantidad de conmovedoras cartas escritas a nombre de presos ficticios que solicitaban ayuda pecuniaria para pagar sus multas, y poder entrar en posesión de valiosos tesoros ocultos. En gran escala se ha estado practicando esta estafa, pues en un solo año fueron despachadas de Barcelona no menos de cincuenta mil cartas por un gran personal de secretarios, empleados de la banda de timadores. La policía confiscó listas cuidadosamente llevadas de nombres y direcciones de personas de quien se podía sacar dinero. Dicen las autoridades que este registro es uno de los más completos que puedan verse en su clase.

NOTAS LOCALES

Gran Fábrica de Licor Confiscada

George Contreras y nueve tenientes sheriffs llevaron a cabo ayer un raid en el rancho Henry, de 500 acres de extensión, que se halla dos millas al sudeste de Walnut; y sorprendieron en pleno fucionamiento una de las mayores destilerias que se hayan instalado en este distrito.

La aparición de los agentes fué seguida de escenas de melodramática excitación. Saltaron unos hombres desde la ventana del segundo piso de la gran casa del rancho, y de los pisos superiores de dos trojes contiguas. Dos echaron a correr por una barranca cercana, y fueron detenidos por el teniente sheriff Chandlers, que les disparó un tiro de escopeta. Otros salieron corriendo por la puerta trasera y cayeron en los brazos de los policías allí apostados. La Sra. Julia Dragina, esposa de Tom Dragina, que maneja el rancho, se resistió con fiereza a darles entrada a los sheriffs. Estaba armada de una gran estaca, con la que apaleó a varios de ellos, antes de que pudieran reducirla a la impotencia. Finalmente, se les echó el guante a siete individuos y a la Sra. Dragina, los que, en compañía de dos chicos de ésta, fueron metidos en unos automóviles y conducidos a la cárcel de Pomona. Pesa sobre todos ellos la acusación de haber violado la ley Wright.

DEPORTES

Hipódromo

El domingo se procederá a roturar el terreno donde va a construirse el nuevo hipódromo, en Culver City. En dos meses quedará construida la pista, y comenzará el primero de diciembre la temporada de carreras, que durará 100 días o más. Correrán en este hipódromo algunos de los mejores caballos del este. Queda este campo de carreras a unos quince minutos de coche, del corazon de Los Angeles.

Baseball

El parque de baseball de Maier, en Vernon, está siendo ensanchado, habiéndose echado hacia fuera las vallas, en una distancia de muchos pies. Hay casi la certidumbre de que los Gigantes de Nueva York van a entrenarse en el parque Maier durante los meses de febrero y marzo próximos.

Los Angeles batió a Sacramento por 5 a 1; Seattle venció a Vernon por 7 a 2, y Oakland derrotó a Portland por 3 a 0. Tales fueron ayer los resultados de los juegos de la Liga de la Costa.

Pugilato

Jack Dempsey, el campeón pugilista mundial de gran peso, llegó ayer a Los Angeles, procedente de Salt Lake. Se le veía en espléndida condición. Ha declarado que Firpo le pegó más duro que le ha pegado ninguno de los hombres con quienes ha combatido. Afirma que no habrá pelea Dempsey-Wills. Dice que fué terrible el golpe que le dio Firpo cuando lo lanzó fuera del tablado. Esta dispuesto a pelear, sea con Firpo, sea con Gibbons, el año entrante, pero no antes de junio. Está aquí para descansar una temporada y figurar en las cintas.

RECORD CROWDS AT FRESNO FAIR

Attendance Totals Exceed Those of Last Year

Hartz Makes Fast Time in Auto Race Workout

Live-Stock Parade is Feature of Today's Program

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Sept. 27.—Attendance totals at the Fresno District Fair today, in spite of the rain day before yesterday topped last year's. It was announced that during the first three days of the show, 35,000 persons passed through the gates, as against 33,000 in the same period last fall.

Interest centered in the workouts for Saturday's 150-mile automobile race. Several of the ten drivers entered were out on the speedway tuning up their mounts. Harry Hartz, driving Jimmy Murphy's Durant Special, skimmed the board oval at 112.5 miles an hour, equaling the record made by Murphy in a larger car, while practicing for the Raisin-Day race last spring. Hartz was timed twice by Fred Wagner, official starter of the American Automobile Association, doing the mile in 32s. flat. The car he used will be driven by Fred Comer, manager of the Durant team, in Saturday's race.

Tomorrow the main event will be a parade of live stock; judging at the poultry show, was completed today. Among the winners were: J. C. Williams, Fullerton; A. J. Coem, Lodi; J. E. Fisher, Stockton; Henry Sharp, Selma, and John E. Forney, Kingsburg.

Navy Boy, owned by Gatewood and Stevens of Fresno, was adjudged grand champion male in the swine division and the grand champion female award went to Miss Buttress Bob, owned by P. B. Long, Tulare.

Troop Fourteen of Fresno carried off first honors in the Boy Scout first aid competition arranged by the American Red Cross.

Mountain Fire Razes Barns in Goleta Valley

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 27.—Three barns were destroyed and many homes threatened when a fire swept down on Goleta Valley, early today from San Roque Canyon. The fire originated from the Santa Ynez mountain fire which was brought under control a week ago.

During the night a high wind developed, reviving smouldering embers. A wall of fire raced down the canyon, surrounding the County General Hospital and for a time it looked as though the hospital would go. The home of S. L. Wright, half a mile distant, was aflame four times. Two barns on the Wright place were destroyed.

The flames surrounded other homes, but all were saved. Sparks fired a roof of the barn on the St. Vincent Orphanage Farm, and this structure was destroyed. Close to 1000 acres were burned over before the fire was conquered.

The wind also carried many acres of beans into the sea and strewed other bean crops over miles of territory.

AUTO HURTS BOY CYCLIST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Sept. 27.—Arthur Buchanan, 11 years of age, was struck and hurled from his bicycle early today by an automobile driven by Henry Fitschen, local rancher. The boy was taken to the Orange County Hospital where he was reported to be suffering from a fractured leg and numerous bruises.

BANKER IS DEAD FROM CAR CRASH

John Lagomarsino, Rich Venturan, Succumbs to His Injuries

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Sept. 27.—John Lagomarsino, wealthy director of the Ventura Bank of Italy branch and long-time resident of Ventura, died this morning at the Cottage Hospital, Santa Barbara, as a result of an automobile accident last Sunday in which he was injured when his machine fell down a fifteen-foot embankment on the highway near Lompoc.

Two friends who were with him were practically uninjured. He was thrown violently against the wheel and later exerted himself strenuously in freeing one of his friends who was caught under the car.

He suffered a double rupture. He was operated on soon afterward, but later peritonitis developed and he underwent a second operation, but without success.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, John and William, and two daughters, Mrs. George Medley and Miss Nilda Lagomarsino. Arrangements for the funeral, which will be conducted from the old mission, will be announced later.

POLICE SEE MURDER IN BEACH CASE

Condition of Body Found on Sand is Held to Disprove Suicide

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 27.—Although the man's body found on the beach near Orizaba avenue Tuesday morning has been positively identified as that of W. S. Heckendorn of 1132 Loma avenue, reported Saturday night as a suicide, police are still working on the theory that the man was murdered before his body found its way into the Pacific Ocean.

All the pockets in the man's clothing had been slashed, apparently with a sharp knife and this fact, police say, strengthens the murder theory. Nine distinct marks about the throat, two blackened eyes and a welt on the forehead led police to suspect foul play at the time the body was discovered.

Last Saturday night Heckendorn disappeared from his home and shortly afterward some of his clothing was found on Belmont Pier. Reports that Heckendorn had threatened suicide strengthened the belief at that time that the man had taken his own life. The condition of the body, when found, however, leads police to believe otherwise.

HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Machine of Los Angeles Man in Collision Near Bakersfield

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27.—R. L. Glover of Los Angeles and companion were injured fifteen miles north of here today when the automobile which Glover was driving collided with another car.

Glover and his companion were taken to the San Joaquin Hospital, where the former was found to be suffering with several broken ribs, a fractured collarbone and other injuries. His fellow-traveler was less seriously hurt.

WANTS AUTO CLUB BRANCH

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Sept. 27.—The Chamber of Commerce has begun activities for the fall season. The first to be put under way is the effort to bring a branch of the Auto Club of Southern California to this city.

FREED ON KILLING CHARGE

Redondo Man Highly Complimented by Judge for Action on Request of Woman

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 27.—Bert Lewis, held in the City Jail here for several days on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Tony Arci, a Mexican longshoreman, was freed today after being highly complimented by Police Judge Miller, before whom the preliminary hearing was conducted.

Those in the courtroom, which was packed to capacity, broke into cheers when Judge Miller ordered that Lewis be released.

DIES OF BLOWS

Arci died on the 6th inst. of a blow delivered by Lewis several days previously. His death remained a mystery for some weeks. A few days ago, however, local police took Lewis into custody after an extended investigation. He confessed he had struck the blow which killed the Mexican but declared he had not learned of the victim's death until a few days before his arrest. Fear of the consequences, he stated, restrained him from giving himself up.

Lewis, according to police, struck the Mexican after Mrs. J. Payne of 19 Court street had rushed into his house with the statement that Arci was following her. In ordering Lewis's release, Judge Miller declared he would have acted in a similar manner in the same situation but expressed regret at Arci's death.

FAMILY CARED FOR

The latter was favorably known here, having been employed for many years as a longshoreman on the Pacific Electric wharves. Police are convinced that Arci had no intention of accosting Mrs. Payne and that her action in appealing to Lewis for aid was inspired by a hysterical fear. Local fraternal organizations are now caring for Arci's family.

Lineberger to Fight Pollution of Water by Oil

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 27.—Congressman W. F. Lineberger of Long Beach will introduce in Congress at its next session a resolution designed to bring about an international agreement governing the pollution of waters beyond the three-mile limit of this country, it was announced here today. A meeting of representatives of the maritime powers is to be arranged, according to Maj. Lineberger's plan, with a view to putting an end to the pollution of the waters at American ports by oil tankers which are said to empty their bilge tanks at sea.

Long Beach has been one of the greatest sufferers from this form of pollution, it is said, and thousands of dollars have been spent by the city in offsetting the effects of the black skum which appears on the local beach at times and makes bathing impossible.

The greatest difficulty in overcoming the nuisance, according to Charles H. Windham, City Manager, lies in the lack of control by Americans of the action of foreign tankers. American oil companies are co-operating fully with Federal, State and city governments in abating the nuisance, he said.

VINEYARD FOREMAN SLAIN

Workmen on Tarpey Ranch Near Clovis Engage in Pitched Battle; Two Arrested

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Sept. 27.—Frank D. Delameter, foreman of the M. F. Tarpey vineyard, near Clovis, was shot and killed today in a pitched battle among workmen on the ranch. Leandro Castro was arrested and officers say he admitted he is the slayer.

Delameter's body was found lying in an automobile by Dr. M. S. McMurtry of Clovis, who was summoned after the shooting.

Five shots had passed through the windshield of the car and all struck the foreman as he sat in the front seat. Marshal R. Ellis of Clovis arrested Castro and also detained Julio Flores, accused of having taken Delameter's part in the general altercation. Both Castro and Flores had been slashed with knives on the head and body.

Witnesses refused to give details of the battle.

THREE SEIZED IN DRY RAIDS

Pasadena Liquor Supply Believed Cut Off by Agents; Three Homes Entered; Rum Found

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 27.—Believed to be the source of supply of whisky in Pasadena, local officers raided at an early hour this morning the home of Julius Caesar and that of his brother, Joseph, where a complete distillery and approximately $15,000 worth of liquor was confisticated, it is reported.

Joseph Caesar's residence at 1127 Glendon Court was the first to be raided by Officers Beal, Hayden and Thomas. They found, they assert, liquor, but were informed that a more complete stock could be obtained at the home of Julius Caesar, 1316 Avenue 63. On the way to Julius's house the officers stopped at the home of H. R. Lewis, 836 South Fair Oaks, a friend of the Caesars, and made another raid.

At Julius Caesar's home officers found three large copper stills in the basement, they said. They also found several hundred gallons of extra-strong whisky, according to the complaint. As the officers were preparing to bring Julius to the Pasadena jail he is asserted to have quietly placed a large roll of bills in the hands of Officer Beal as an inducement to let him escape.

Today a number of well-to-do residents of Los Angeles furnished bail for the two Caesars. The trio will be arraigned before Judge Dunham tomorrow morning.

MORE CASES DROPPED

Six Freed in Two Weeks Due to Lack of Evidence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 27.—Two dismissals, for lack of sufficient evidence, were moved by the District Attorney's office, in the Sixth Justice Township Court this morning. They were allowed by Justice Edward V. Jones. This makes six cases dropped by the District Attorney for lack of evidence in two weeks.

Spiro R. Guarneros, charged with having committed an assault with a deadly weapon, was allowed his freedom and the case against him dismissed, through an explanation from the District Attorney's office that the complaining witness had left the State.

Mary Ross, charged with grand larceny, was also granted her freedom and the charge against her dismissed for lack of evidence.

Justice Jones occupied the stand this morning when he made a deposition relative to the $2000 bail of Victor Bernacchi, who is not to be found. Bernacchi was to have been tried on a charge of maintaining a common nuisance contrary to the prohibition act.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR HURLING BAD EGGS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 27.—Throwing eggs of doubtful vintage at passing motorists caused the arrest of three Pasadena youths today. The boys, whose ages ranged between 16 and 18, were caught at the corner of Raymond avenue and Buena Vista Drive while in the act of hurling eggs at motorists, pedestrians and every contrivance that passed the intersection. I. W. Martin, 76 North Raymond avenue, one of the victims of the ancient eggs, reported the matter to the police and caused the arrests. A number of the eggs were brought to the police station as evidence.

LINDSAY PHYSICIAN PASSES SUDDENLY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LINDSAY, Sept. 27.—Lindsay is saddened by the sudden death last night of Dr. C. W. Locke, 65 years of age, one of the city's leading physicians, from a heart attack at his home here. Dr. Locke had eaten dinner with his family shortly before he was stricken and the end was wholly unexpected although he had been in poor health for the past year.

ILL HEALTH IS BLAMED IN SUICIDE

Ontario Blacksmith Kills Self in Shop; Had Long Been Despondent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Sept. 27.—John E. McCabe of 558 Lynn Haven Court committed suicide this afternoon by shooting himself in the left temple at his blacksmith shop, 218 North Lemon avenue. Despondency over poor health is blamed for his action.

Before committing the act McCabe fastened all the doors of his shop from the inside. The body was discovered by Ray C. Olive of 610 East Sixth street shortly before 4 o'clock, who at once notified the police. Olive went to McCabe's establishment to make a purchase, and, finding the doors fastened, looked in a window and saw the blacksmith's body in a chair.

M. W. Cornell of 225 north Lemon avenue told the police that he heard two shots at about 2 o'clock, but gave no special thought to them at the time. A superficial examination of the body at Draper's mortuary revealed but one bullet wound.

McCabe is reported to have been in ill health for some time, and is said to have been acting strangely, so it is believed he had become somewhat deranged. He leaves his widow and two sons.

CAR NEEDS HIT FRUIT

Grape Shipments Drop Because of Refrigerator Shortage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 27.—Shipping of grapes in the Etiwanda-Cucamonga districts slumped today, when a shortage of refrigerator cars hit this section.

Although loading dropped in the district, leading growers were not greatly alarmed. The shortage, unless it becomes acute and is prolonged, will not seriously menace the marketing of the thousands of tons of grapes yet on the vines. Charles Latimer, an independent shipper of the district, declared that his shipments "were only 50 per cent normal" yesterday, but added "there is nothing to indicate the shortage will be serious."

VETERAN ESPEE WORKER PASSES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Sept. 27.—James Brennan, who has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific for almost half a century, and a resident of Ventura almost all that time, has passed away. The funeral will be from the old mission Friday morning. He was born in Ireland in 1853. He leaves a widow and daughter.

COYOTE GOES WINDOW SHOPPING IN ORANGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ORANGE, Sept. 27.—Unwise to city ways, a coyote strolled through town early today, peeped into a few store windows, then trotted briskly away down one of the principal streets, according to J. Z. Fuller, local rancher, who witnessed the unusual spectacle from his automobile.

TO STUDY WATER SHIPPING

Orange County Chambers of Commerce Hear Address By Steamship Official on Advantages

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Sept. 27.—Following a speech by A. P. Hammond, vice-president of the California-New York Steamship Company, detailing the advantages of shipping citrus fruits and other perishables to the eastern markets by fast ocean-going steamers, the Orange county associated chambers of commerce meeting at Olive last night authorized President J. D. Thomas to appoint a committee to investigate the citrus waterway proposition.

The committee of three members was instructed to make a thorough investigation and report its findings to the next meeting of the chambers at Garden Grove next month.

In his talk Hammond pointed out that the volume of waterway traffic at Los Angeles Harbor had developed from virtually nothing six years ago to an enormous present volume. But Los Angeles Harbor is now overcrowded, he said, and cannot built fast enough to take care of the tremendous increase in water traffic. Consequently he stated Newport Harbor, where Orange county proposes to expend $1,000,000 for improvements has wonderful possibilities for development as an important port indicating that his company would use it for shipping citrus fruits when the proper time arrived.

The meeting in Olive Hall was attended by about 120 persons. An excellent course dinner was served by the Olive ladies. The address of welcome was delivered by Ben Cole of Olive and the response made by L. F. Coburn of Orange.

FAMOUS COWGIRL AT STOCK EXHIBIT

Prairie Lilly Allen

Final preparations have been completed for the annual stock, poultry and dairy show at San Jacinto tomorrow.

Howard Warren and Earl Englas, chairmen of the committee in charge, have spared no expense to make this years' show one of the outstanding features of the season.

Amusements of all kinds will be on tap, including Indian games, horse racing has been planned with Prairie Lilly Allen as the headliner. Miss Allen is a rider of international fame.

The Hemet-San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce has arranged along the various roads entering the town prominent arrows that will lead visitors to the grounds of the activities and they promise everyone a good time, as everything will be free. But, they say, to be sure and bring along your own cups and spoons.

TALK BY DEAN JACQUA

Will Speak at Dedication On Educational Fallacies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHINO, Sept. 27.—Dean Ernest James Jacqua, new member of the Pomona College faculty as professor of education, will be the principal speaker at the afternoon program October 12, when the new high school auditorium will be dedicated. Dr. Jacqua has chosen "Educational Fallacies" as his subject.

Other speakers will be Merton E. Hill, of Chaffey High School and Junior College, who will represent San Bernardino county; Guy V. Whaley, of Pomona High School, who will represent Los Angeles county; C. H. Covell, of Claremont; Principal Whistler of Chaffey; Principal Hayden of Citrus Union and W. H. Clark, of the local School Board. B. M. Aldrich, district superintendent of schools, will preside.

EPISCOPALIANS TO REBUILD SCHOOLS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 27.—The local Episcopal church has started a campaign among members to collect funds to rebuild in Japan the Episcopal school, hospital and college buildings that were destroyed in the earthquake. Rev. E. S. Lane, rector of the church, has learned that the denomination lost more than $1,000,000 in buildings.

The tidal wave that destroyed the original Embassy Building of the government in Tokio was the same that wiped out St. Luke's International Hospital and a half-dozen other Episcopal church institutions.

HOUSEWARMING AT NEW DORMITORY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 27.—Melrose Hall, the newest and most complete of the men's dormitories of the University of Redlands, was the scene of a big house warming last night, when all the men of the university gathered there for a stag night in charge of the Y.M.C.A. Vernon Olsen headed the committee on arrangements. The dormitory, which cost more than $80,000, was completed during the summer and is now filled to capacity. It has several exclusive features and will be used for most of the men's gatherings, as no meals are served there and there is more room. All the meals for the men will be served in California Hall.

AZUSA CELEBRATES BOND ISSUE VICTORY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AZUSA, Sept. 27.—A street parade, with scores of motor cars filled by shouting people and led by the Azusa fire truck, sirens screaming, last night wound through the streets and caused householders to rush to their doors in the belief that the town was burning. It was only a celebration, however, of the victory won in the municipal bond election, which indicated by a vote of 439 to 75 that Azusa will spend another $35,000 on street paving. More than 60 per cent of the 800 registered voters turned out at the polls yesterday.

GRAFT HEARING BELIEVED ENDED

Prosecutor Keeps Silent as to Indictments

San Bernardino Hospital Steward Testifies

Explains Listing of Coffee Purchased as Pudding

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 27.—Inquiry by the San Bernardino county grand jury of asserted graft at the General Hospital apparently reached its conclusion late Wednesday night with prospects of indictments being returned. The inquisitors refused to discuss the progress of the investigation, in which Anson West, a coffee dealer, charges Steward John Marshall of the hospital staff with misconduct in office and incompetency, although all witnesses summoned to testify had been heard.

Marshall was among the last witnesses to appear before the grand jury, denying the charges of West, it is believed. Various county officials, including County Purchasing Agent A. G. Kendall, Auditor Vincent L. Roth and Sheriff Walter A. Shay, were called to testify. A score of patients at the institution and numerous former employees were also before the inquisitors.

Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson, who directed the inquiry before the grand jury, would neither deny nor affirm reports that the inquiry was at an end, nor would the prosecutor deny that indictments were to be returned.

West accused Marshall of purchasing $40 worth of pudding and instructing that it not be delivered. Marshall told the Board of Supervisors at the board's inquiry, that he substituted coffee for the pudding listed in the invoice, a photographic copy of which was introduced before the grand jury by West. The hospital steward explained that the order was listed as pudding because his budget for coffee had been exhausted and that he wanted to favor West with an order for coffee.

DOCTORS' OFFICES ARE BROKEN OPEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, Sept. 27.—Burglars believed to be drug addicts last night broke into offices of two physicians and a dentist in the American National Bank Building, wrecked furniture, cabinets and safes but apparently took nothing, according to reports today to the police. The offices of Dr. E. H. Kelly, Dr. C. D. Gaylord and Dr. C. B. Parkinson were forced. In Dr. Kelly's office a new mahogany desk was ruined when the thieves found the drawers locked. Cupboards were smashed, boxes and cases broken in the search for drugs, it is believed. This is the fifth time offices in this building have been burglarized within the past six months.

GIANT DAM SITE WILL BE VIEWED

Party of Thirty to Make Trip Into San Gabriel Canyon Saturday

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AZUSA, Sept. 27.—A party of about thirty, including Senator Samuel Shortridge, Congressman Walter F. Lineberger and Congressman Fredericks, Flood-Control Engineer Reagan, representatives from the twenty cities that make up the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley and their guests will leave Azusa Saturday at 9 a.m., for a two-day trip into the San Gabriel Canyon to look into possibilities of the $20,000,000 dam proposed to be built in the canyon as flood-control and water-conservation measure.

Arrangements for the trip are in the hands of C. A. Griffith of this city. The party will leave from Follows Stables and will pass Saturday night at one of the resorts in the canyon, returning Sunday afternoon.

The proposed San Gabriel Dam, if built according to plans of the flood control engineering department will rise 525 feet above the floor of the canyon; will be 421 feet thick at its base and twenty-five feet across at the top. It will obliterate half a dozen mountain camps, such as Rincon, turn a score of canyons into lakes and in addition to conserving 90,000,000,000 gallons of water every year, enough to irrigate the entire San Gabriel Valley, would give this part of the country, a new and unique resort. It is believed that the damage caused by two such floods as occurred in the past decade would more than pay the cost of the dam, which will make such floods impossible.

PASADENA LEGION MEN TO GET NEW QUARTERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 27.—Arrangement has been made today by Pasadena Post of the American Legion to obtain quarters in the Chamber of Commerce. At present the post is located in cramped quarters at 30 North Broadway. The former dining-room of the Chamber of Commerce and the assembly room will be given to the local post. Negotiations were completed by Adj. David O'Leary of the Legion, and William Dunkerly, secretary of the Chamber.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Iris Deane, daughter of Sir Arthur Deane, millionaire shipowner, is en route from China to England on one of her father's vessels, the Sirdar. At the captain's table one evening Lady Tozer asks Iris if the report of her engagement to Lord Ventnor is true. The question has a curious effect upon a passing steward who, at the sound of Lord Ventnor's name stops short and turns to stare at Iris. The incident is forgotten shortly after when the passengers learn that the Sirdar is riding into a typhoon. Driven from her course by the storm the ship is wrecked on a reef and sinks. Hours later Iris gains consciousness to find herself on land with the only other survivor of the wreck, her rescuer. She discovers that the man is Robert Jenks, the steward of the dinner incident, but he later explains that his name is Capt. Robert Anstruther, cashiered from the British army because of a fight with Lord Ventnor over a woman. Anstruther insists that Iris continue to address him as Jenks. Exploration reveals to the man a small island with traces of former habitation in the forms of a crudely-drawn plan of the place, the decaying bones of a skeleton and lastly a rusted dagger, the size and shape of which suggests to him Dyak or Chinese pirates. He sees a possibility of a visit to the island by these outlawed seamen and salvages guns and ammunition from the ship's wreckage.

On the nineteenth day of their residence on the island the sailor climbed, as was his invariable habit, to the Summit Rock while Iris prepared breakfast. At this early hour the horizon was clearly cut as the rim of a sapphire. He examined the whole arc of the sea with his glasses, but not a sail was in sight. According to his calculations the growing anxiety as to the fate of the Sirdar must long ere this have culminated in the dispatch from Hongkong or Singapore of a special search vessel, while British warships in the China Sea would be warned to keep a close lookout for any traces of the steamer, to visit all islands on their route, and to question fishermen whom they encountered. So help might come any day, or it might be long deferred. He could not pierce the future, and it was useless to vex his soul with questionings as to what might happen next week. The great certainty of the hour was Iris—the blue-eyed, smiling divinity who had come into his life—waiting for him down there beyond the trees, waiting to welcome him with a sweet-voiced greeting; and he knew, with a fierce, devouring joy, that her cheek would not pale nor her lip tremble when he announced that at least another sun must set before the expected relief reached them.

He replaced the glasses in their case and dived into the wood, giving a passing thought to the fact that the wind, after blowing steadily from the south for nearly a week, had veered round to the northeast during the night. Did the change portend a storm? Well, they were not prepared for all such eventualities and he had not forgotten they they possessed, among other treasures, a box of books for rainy days. And a rainy day with Iris for company! What gale that ever blew could offer such compensation for enforced idleness?

The morning sped in uneventful work. Iris did not neglect her cherished pitcher-plant. After luncheon it was her custom now to carry a dishful of water to its apparently arid roots, and she rose to fulfill her self-imposed task.

"Let me help you," said Jenks. "I am not very busy this afternoon."

"No, thank you. I simply won't allow you to touch that shrub. The dear thing looks quite glad to see me. It drinks up the water as greedily as a thirsty animal.

"Even a cabbage has a heart, Miss Deane."

She laughed merrily. "I do believe you are offering me a compliment," she said. "I must indeed have found favor in your eyes."

He had schooled himself to resist the opening given by this class of retort, so he turned to make some corrections in the scale of the sun dial he had constructed, aided therein by daily observations with the sextant left by the former inhabitant of the cave.

Iris had been gone perhaps five minutes when he heard a distant shriek twice repeated, and then there came faintly to his ears his own name, not "Jenks," but "Robert," in the girl's voice. Something terrible had happened. It was a cry of supreme distress. Mortal agony or overwhelming terror alone could wring that name from her lips. Precisely in such moments this man acted with the decision, the unerring judgment, the instantaneous acceptance of great risk to accomplish great results, that marked him out as a born soldier.

He rushed into the house and snatched from the rifle-rack one of the six Lee-Metfords reposing there in apple-pie order, each with a filled magazine attached and a cartridge already in position.

Then he ran, with long swift strides, not through the trees where he could see nothing, but towards the beach, whence, in forty yards, the place where Iris probably was would become visible.

At once he saw her, struggling in the grasp of two ferocious-looking Dyaks, one, by his garments, a person of consequence, the other a half-naked savage, hideous and repulsive in appearance. Around them seven men, armed with guns and parangs, were dancing with excitement.

Iris's captors were endeavoring to tie her arms, but she was a strong and active Englishwoman, with muscles well knit by the constant labor of recent busy days and a frame developed by years of horse-riding and tennis-plaing. The pair evidently found her a tough handful, and the inferior Dyak, either to stop her screams—for she was shrieking "Robert, come to me!" with all her might—or to stifle her into submission, roughly placed his huge hand over her mouth.

These things the sailor noticed instantly. Some men, brave to rashness, ready as he to give his life to save her, would have raced madly over the intervening ground, scarce a furlong, and attempted a heroic combat of one against nine.

Not so Jenks.

With the methodical exactness of the parade-ground he settled down on one knee and leveled the rifle. At that range the Lee-Metford bullet travels practically point blank. Usually it is deficient in "stopping" power, but he had provided against this little drawback by notching all the cartridges in the six rifles after the effective manner devised by an expert named Thomas Atkins during the Tirah campaign.

None of the Dyaks saw him. All were intent on the sensational prize they had secured, a young and beautiful white woman so contentedly roaming about the shores of this Fetish island. With the slow speed advised by the Roman philosopher, the backsight and foresight of the Lee-Metford came into line with the breast of the coarse brute clutching the girl's face.

Then something bit him above the heart and simultaneously tore half of his back into fragments. He fell, with a queer sob, and the others turned to face this unexpected danger.

Iris, knowing only that she was free from that hateful grasp, wrenched herself free from the chief's hold, and ran with all her might along the beach, to Jenks

Again, and yet again, the rifle gave its short, sharp snarl, and two more Dyaks collapsed on the sand. Six were left, their leader being still unconsciously preserved from death by the figure of the flying girl.

A fourth Dyak dropped.

The survivors, cruel savages but not cowards, unslung their guns. The sailor, white-faced, grim, with an unpleasant gleam in his deep-set eyes and a lower jaw protruding, noticed their preparations.

"To the left!" he shouted. "Run toward the trees!"

Iris heard him and strove to obey. But her strength was failing her, and she staggered blindly. After a few despairing efforts she lurched feebly to her knees, and tumbled face downward on the broken coral that had tripped her faltering footsteps.

Jenks was watching her, watching the remaining Dyaks, from whom a spluttering volley came, picking out his quarry with the murderous ease of a terrier in a rat-pit. Something like a bee in a violent hurry hummed past his ear, and a rock near his right foot was struck a tremendous blow by an unseen agency. He liked this. It would be a battle, not a battue.

The fifth Dyak crumpled into the distortion of death, and then their leader took deliberate aim at the kneeling marksman who threatened to wipe him and his band out of existence. But his deliberation, though skilful, was too profound. The sailor fired first, and was professionally astonished to see the gaudily attired individual tossed violently backward for many yards, finally pitching headlong to the earth. Had he been charged by a bull in full career he could not have been more utterly discomfited. The incident was sensational but inexplicable.

Yet another member of the band was prostrated ere the two as yet unscathed thought fit to beat a retreat. This they now did with celerity, but they dragged their chief with them. It was no part of Jenks's program to allow them to escape. He aimed again at the man nearest the trees. There was a sharp click and nothing more. The cartridge was a mis-fire. He hastily sought to eject it, and the refle jammed. These little accidents will happen, even in a good weapon like the Lee-Metford.

Springing to his feet with a yell he ran forward. The flying men caught a glimpse of him and accelerated their movements. Just as he reached Iris they vanished among the trees.

Slinging the rifle over his shoulder, he picked up the girl in his arms. She was conscious, but breathless.

"You are not hurt?" he gasped, his eyes blazing into her face with an intensity that she afterward remembered as appalling.

"No," she whispered.

"Listen," he continued in labored jerks. "Try and obey me—exactly. I will carry you—to the cave. Stop there. Shoot any one you see—till I come."

She heard him wonderingly. Was he going to leave her, now that he had her safely clasped to his breast? Impossible! Ah, she understood. Those men must have landed in a boat. He intended to attack them again. He was going to fight them single-handed, and she would not know what happened to him until it was all over. Gradually her vitality returned. She almost smiled at the fantastic conceit that she would desert him.

Jenks placed her on her feet at the entrance to the cave.

"You understand," he cried, and without waiting for an answer, ran to the house for another rifle. This time, to her amazement, he darted back through Prospect Park toward the south beach. The sailor knew that the Dyaks had landed at the sandy bay Iris had christened Smugglers' Cove. They were acquainted with the passage through the reef and came from the distant islands. Now they would endeavor to escape by the same channel. They must be prevented at all costs.

He was right. As they came out into the open he saw three men, not two, pushing off a large sampan. One of them, mirabile dictu, was the chief. Then Jenks understood that his bullet had hit the lock of the Dyak's uplifted weapon, with the result already described. By a miracle he had escaped.

He cooly prepared to slay the three of them with the same calm purpose that distinguished the opening phase of this singularly one-sided conflict. The distance was much greater, perhaps 800 yards from the point where the boat came into view. He knelt and fired. He judged that the missile struck the craft between the trio.

"I didn't allow for the sun on the side of the foresight," he said. "Or perhaps I am a bit shaky after the run. In any event they can't go far."

A hurrying step on the coral behind him caught his ear. Instantly he sprang up and faced about—to see Iris.

"They are escaping," she said.

"No fear of that," he replied, turning away from her.

"Where are the others?"

"Dead!"

"Do you mean that you killed nearly all those men?"

"Six of them. There were nine in all."

He knelt again, lifting the rifle. Iris threw herself on her knees by his side. There was something awful to her in this chil and business-like declaration of a fixed purpose.

"Mr. Jenks," she said, clasping her hands in an agony of entreaty, "do not kill more men for my sake!"

"For my own sake, then," he growled, annoyed at the interruption, as the sampan was afloat.

"Then I ask you for God's sake not to take another life. What you have already done was unavoidable, perhaps right. This is murder!"

He lowered his weapon and looked at her.

"If those men get away they will bring back a host to avenge their comrades—and secure you," he added.

"It may be the will of Providence for such a thing to happen. Yet I implore you to spare them."

He placed the rifle on the sand and raised her tenderly, for she had yielded to a paroxysm of tears. Not another word did either of them speak in that hour. The large triangular sail of the sampan was now bellying out in the south wind. A figure stood up in the stern of the boat and shook a menacing arm at the couple on the beach.

It was the Malay chief, cursing them with the rude eloquence of his barbarous tongue. And Jenks well knew what he was saying.

NEW TRIBES OF ESKIMOS DISCOVERED

Knud Rasmussen's Party Reported to Have Found Cousins of Chippewas

BY JOHN AHL-NIELSEN

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 27.—Birket Smith, who has returned as the first courier from Knud Rasmussen, Arctic explorer, tells me Mr. Rasmussen's route from Cape York. He stayed on a Danish Island in the winter of 1921 and January of 1922 and then started west for North Canada. He stayed at Chesterfield Inlet last winter and started this spring for Baker Lake. He found an Eskimo colony, named the Willows tribe. He then started for Hikuligjuak Lake and here, too, found the Willows trible,, descending from Indians. The language here is the same as in Greenland, although there is no connection between the tribe and Greenland. The tribe never had heard of Greenland, but their old myths tell of comrades wandering north to greater hunting fields.

Birket Smith found proofs that Greenlandian Eskimos descended to the Willows tribe, again descending to Chippewa Indians. The expedition has found proofs that no white Eskimos are living.

Knud Rasmussen's expedition is safe and will return next autumn.

WOMEN ARE KIDNAPED BY CHINESE BANDITS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—Two British women missionaries, Mary Darroch of Glasgow, Scotland, and Mary R. Sharp of Milikent, South Australia, have been carried off into the mountains of Honan province by Chinese bandits, according to news received here this morning by the China Inland Mission. The bandits raided the town of Sihiwa, plundered the place, including the missionary property, and carried off the foreign women as hostages. Miss Darroch has been a missionary in China for twenty-five years. She is a sister of Dr. Darroch, secretary of the Religious Tract Society. Miss Sharp has been a missionary for four years.

THE GASOLINE TAX

On Monday, October 1, 1923, as the result of a law passed by the last session of the California Legislature, motorists and other users of gasoline in California will begin to pay a tax of two cents for each gallon of gasoline, or "motor vehicle fuel", purchased.

Accordingly, the Standard Oil Company will on Monday, October 1, 1923, and from then on as long as the law is in effect, include the amount of the prescribed tax of two cents in the price of each gallon of motor vehicle fuel sold and delivered by it in the State of California, except on such fuel sold and delivered to the United States Government, or for export, and on kerosene.

This Company will make return of the tax as provided by the law to "the State Controller of this State" together with a verified statement on a form "to be prescribed, prepared and furnished by the State Board of Equalization".

The law provides that any person who purchases gasoline, or "motor vehicle fuel", for purposes other than use in motor vehicles operating on the public highways, shall be repaid the amount of the tax on the gasoline he purchases. He can obtain refund of the tax thus paid by application to the State Controller, supported by affidavit covering the facts and by invoices.

The law further provides that "all motor vehicle fuel used by a distributor in the operation of any motor vehicle shall for the purposes of this act be considered… as though the same had been sold by the distributor." Therefore, this Company also is required to pay a tax of two cents on every gallon of motor vehicle fuel, except kerosene, used in the operation of any and all of its motor equipment in the State of California.

BRANCH BANK IN CALIFORNIA

Executive Defends the System in an Interview

Says That This State is Committed to Policy

Elasticity of Operation One Favoring Element

James A. Bacigalupi, vice-president of the Bank of Italy, while in New York en route to the national convention of the American Bankers' Association being held this week in Atlantic City, gave to the Wall Street Journal an interesting and timely interview on branch banking in California which that authority gives considerable prominence.

Mr. Bacigalupi stoutly defends branch banking in California, of which his bank is a practical exponent, but he is not prepared to say that the system will work in States which reply largely upon a single crop. He expresses the belief that objections to branch banking in California originate with its competitors, and have not been voiced by the people. Objection that the bank might become a political instrument is offset by the wide distribution of its stock. There is no uniformity in the political beliefs of its stockholders.

CALIFORNIA ADAPTED

California is particularly adapted to branch banking, according to Mr. Bacigalupi, because of the diversity of its industries and resources and the variance in the maturities of its crops.

Branch banking in such a State offers more elasticity than does unit banking. Some districts require considerable money for development, while others use a bank largely for deposits. In twenty of the cities in which the Bank of Italy has offices, it has loaned $15,000,000 in excess of the total deposits of those offices, besides keeping prudent margin of liquidity. Money from one district is transferred through the system to the district in which it is required. Developments would have to seek capital elsewhere were branch banks not in existence. There are loan peaks and deposit peaks in each district, and different industries need money at different times, but the balance is kept throughout the system.

MONEY AVAILABLE

The objection offered by the opponents of branch banking that the large organization acts as an octopus with its head in the city, drawing money from the country for use of speculators, has been disproved. There have been no objections by the smaller communities where money has been available as required.

Opponents of the system also maintain that it is cold-blooded and impersonal. Mr. Bacigalui believes that the impersonal element is avoided in that it is the policy of the Bank of Italy to establish branches only by acquisition of a going institution. The management of the bank that is absorbed is maintained and the same personal contact exists with the clientele.

EXPERT TALENT

There are other advantages to a large organization aside from the distribution of deposits where they are needed. A large statistical organization is maintained in the head office, which has a conservative influence on the activities of the local branches. Opinions are not colored by the tide of local confidence. Expert talent in other lines is also employed, through which there is no little benefit to the people as a whole.

As a proof of the soundness of the organization, Mr. Bacigalupi offers the fact that two of the California superintendents of banks who watched the development of branch banking in California for ten years are now officers in banks employing that system.

Mr. Bacigalupi is not disposed to hazard a future as to what may be the future of branch banking in the rest of the United States, but stoutly maintains that it has come to stay in California.

PREDICTS DECLINE IN PRODUCTION

California Oil Expert Looks for Less Output From Los Angeles Basin

I. W. Fuqua, president of the California Petroleum Corporation estimates that the three big fields in Los Angeles basin—Santa Fe Springs, Long Beach and Huntington Beach—will decline within one year from an estimated daily output 694,000 barrels at present to 356,000 barrels in September, 1924. He places present daily production as follows: Huntington Beach, 100,000 barrels; Santa Fe Springs, 340,000 barrels; Long Beach, 274,000 barrels. For September, 1924, Mr. Fuqua estimates Huntington Beach at 48,750 barrels, Santa Fe Springs 150,000, Long Beach 254,000 barrels.

Mr. Fuqua believes that competitive drilling has been largely eliminated at Huntington Beach, and that developments in Santa Fe Springs from now on will be slow on account of great depths necessary to reach the producing sands and because of edge water.

He does not expect any "shot-to-pieces" condition because "almost all the high pressure production has been under restrictions and the holding back of the pressure during flowing will be much in favor of high fluid levels and well saturated sands after initial flowing has stopped." He believes that much production can be had through agitation after the wells have been put on the pump.

He estimates present shut-in production at 122,600 barrels a day.

PETITIONS IN BANKRUPTCY

The following petitions in bankruptcy were filed in the United States District Court yesterday.

Louis Derocher, nurseryman, Moneta, liabilities, $24,416.23, of which $15,000 is the alleged value of the nursery stock.

Ottavio Venturini, farmer, Winton, Merced county, liabilities, $6639; assets, $6555.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Growth of California Mineral Industry; Pacific Coast Activity; Business Outlook

Compilation of the final returns from the mineral producers of California for 1922 by the statistical division of the State Mining Bureau, under the direction of Lloyd L. Root, State Mineralogist, shows the total value for the year to have been $245,183,826, being a decrease of $22,973,646 from the 1921 total of $268,157,472. There were fifty-three different mineral substances, exclusive of a segregation of the various stones grouped under gems; and all of the fifty-eight counties of the State contributed to the list.

The salient features compared with the preceding year, were: The continued increase in petroleum yield, although of lower prices per barrel; increases in copper, lead, natural gas, brick and tile, and crushed rock; and decreases in gold, silver, cement, and petroleum values. The net result was a decrease in the grand total of all groups of nearly $22,000,000, as stated above. Petroleum accounted for a decrease of $29,756,960 in total value, although there was an increase in quantity of approximately 26,000,000 barrels.

Of the metals: copper increased from 12,088,052 pounds, worth $1,559,358 to 22,888,987 pounds, worth $3,090,582; lead, from 1,149,051 pounds and $51,707 to 6,511,280 pounds and $358,120; zinc, quicksilver, platinum and iron ore also showed increases. Gold decreased from $15,704,822 to $14,670,346, in spite of which California accounted for approximately 33 per cent of the gold output of the United States.

Of the structural group: brick and tile increased in value from $5,570,875 to $7,994,991; miscellaneous stone (comprising crushed rock, sand and gravel, paving blocks) from $7,834,640 to $10,377,783; magnesite, lime, marble and onyx also increasing; cement although increasing from 7,404,221 barrels to 8,962,135 barrels in output, decreased from $18,072,120 to $16,524,056 in value. Slate again joined the active list with a small yield.

In the "industrial" group, there were a number of fluctuations, the more important increases being shown by mineral water, pottery clay, gypsum, and pyrite; and decreases by diatomaceous earth, and limestone. Two new items were added to this list, not previously produced commercially in California, namely, shale oil and sillimanite. In the saline group, potash and soda increased, with borates, magnesium salts, salt, and calcium chloride, decreasing.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Current conditions as they are seen by the National Bank of Commerce, New York, include the statement by the bank's economist that at no previous period in the last five years has the general situation in the United States been as stable as today. Business continues active and there is confidence in the outlook. The advance in money rates which has taken place since the beginning of July is no greater than is to be expected as requirements for funds approach their autumn peak. Except where special factors affecting supply and demand are operative, the general price level shows no indication of radical change.

Considering the country as a whole, purchasing power is good, and while consumers are disposed to buy carefully, they are nevertheless purchasing steadily and in good volume. Production in most lines is being maintained at a fair rate with promise of the customary seasonal expansion. High wages, high prices of important raw materials and resistance to price advances on the part of consumers have combined to restrict profits in many industries, but this is a thoroughly sound situation. Business peril lies in easy profits. Rigid economy, improvement of methods and effective selling policies are all encouraged by the conditions now prevailing, and the result should be a continuance of prosperity.

The best evidence of gradual European betterment in the face of apparently wellnight insuperable political and financial handicaps is the increase in production, especially of foods. Better political and business conditions will unquestionably increase purchasing power, but the first requisite of economic health for a nation or an individual is limitation of expenditure to income, and the condition of most European countries is such that rigid national and individual economy must be practiced for a long time. This is the great penalty of the war.

At least equally as important as international political events is the raising of the official estimate of the wheat crop of Canada from 383,000,000 bushels at the end of July to 470,000,000 bushels at the end of August. The indicated yield is 71,000,000 bushels in excess of the largest Canadian crop harvested heretofore, and is accounted for by an increase of 84,000,000 bushels in Alberta, Canada's newest wheat province.

COAST CITIES ACTIVE

Pacific Coast cities continue to register business activity in excess to that being demonstrated in other parts of the country. The record established by Los Angeles is in a class by itself, and industrial leaders assert that it forecasts a continuation of more than normal expansion during the coming months. Thomas May is quoted as saying that in his opinion the district will witness one of the largest retail trade periods in 1924 that it has ever experienced. Farmers have been successful in disposing of early crops at an advantage and market conditions have warranted prices generally above the level for citrus fruits and cotton. Shipments of agricultural products have shattered previous records.

In San Francisco there has been an increase in optimism and a number of new commercial enterprises have been established in that city during the year. Retail stores report increased demand. Ship tonnage and Westbound transcontinental freight is in excess of a year ago and foreign trade continues to improve. Bank clearings and savings deposits have increased.

From Portland the word comes that general business conditions are satisfactory and that the outlook is for continued improvement. Fall demand is stimulating the lumber industry which employs more than 70 per cent of the labor in one way or another. Fruit growers have large crops; the Columbia River salmon catch has a volume of more than $6,000,000, and the condition of sheepmen is improving.

Seattle reports that Washington will have 58,000,000 bushels of wheat to sell this year, and that the North Coast mills have on their books orders for 650,000 tons of flour sold to the Orient. Growers are receiving from 25 to 30 per cent more for their fruit than they expected. The west coast lumber mills are nearly sixty days behind in their orders, and more lumber will be cut and sold this year than for any similar period in the history of the industry.

STOCK INCREASE

Stockholders of the Bank of America have voted to increase the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 in order to absorb the Commonwealth Trust Company, the purchase of which was announced recently. The number of directors was also increased from twenty-nine to thirty-three in order to provide for representation on the board by the Frank A. Vanderlip interests.

Chicago Spends Million a Day for Clothing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Sales of $3,000,000 worth of clothing here in three days indicates that merchants throughout the Middle West have permitted their stocks to reach a low point. The National Association of Retail Dealers is holding its tenth annual session here and expect the sales to continue this average until the close of the convention Saturday. These sales will shatter all records.

Merchants learned a bitter lesson following the war, when they found their shelves loaded with goods bought at peak prices. Then came a buyers' strike and the dealers had to unload at heavy sacrifices. Since that time they have been on a "buying diet."

Visitors from all parts of the country, attending the convention to get the styles and to stock up, say money is a trifle tight in parts of the Middle West and South, but that prosperity has returned beyond any question and everybody is loosening up. Thousands of men who made their old clothes do overtime service are now ready to stock up and the merchants are warranted in replenishing their depleted stocks. Manufacturers who were a bit skeptical of heavy sales at this convention admit they are amazed at transactions running $1,000,000 daily.

Drilling for Oil Under the Midnight Sun

Oil wells in the Kanatak region of Alaska are expected to reach the production state in the spring, if the actions of the Standard Oil and Associated Oil companies in jointly building roads costing $60,000 from the coast to the oil fields are to be taken as reliable indications. These companies, according to Frederick F. Evans, president of the Alaska Liberty Oil Company, have gone to considerable expense to place their properties in shape to handle production.

The Associated managers have demonstrated their faith in the field by shipping in a second drilling rig, in addition to the operations now being conducted. The Associated Oil well has reached a depth of 916 feet, and the Standard drilling crew is approaching 500 feet. The Associated drillers encountered gas pressure and oil indications, and closed down because of the lack of pipe line and tanks, which are to be supplied in the spring.

The Cold Bay oil field is now connected with the coast by a thirty-mile road, and the Federal government has constructed a trunk road costing $40,000.

COTTON HOLDS FIRM IN QUIET TRADING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The market closed firm, after a session of quiet trading. After advancing some 20 points at the opening a reactionary tendency was displayed. Dealings to a large extent represented evening up prior to the bureau report next Tuesday. The better tone early was due to Liverpool's improvement, but buying was not heavy enough to offset increased profit-taking and heavier hedge selling. After prices were carried down to around the previous closing level, however, demand improved and although trading was not particularly active the list continued firm through the afternoon. Final prices were 8 to 11 points under the day's high.

Spot was quiet, 20 points advance, 29.45 for middling upland.

Southern markets: Galveston, 28.60, 15 points advance; New Orleans, 28.25, unchanged; Savannah, 28.36, 22 points advance; Montgomery, 28.13, 13 points advance; Memphis, 28.75, unchanged; Houston, 28.50, 20 points advance; Little Rock, 28.50, 12 points advance.

NEW COTTON REPORT DUE NEXT WEEK

Private Estimates Fix the Yield Around Eleven Million Bales

Cotton merchants and speculators are again engaged in forecasting the condition and yield of the crop as of the 25th inst., in completion with the Bureau of Census report which will be published on October 1. Private estimates now in circulation in the cotton market range between a condition of 51.4 per cent and 48.7 per cent, and a yield of 10,900,000 to 10,811,400 bales.

The ten-year average condition as of September 25 is 57.5 per cent, and an average decline from August 25 of 6 per cent. In the first month of the present cotton year beginning in August, the condition fell considerably below the ten-year average to 54.1 per cent on the basis of serious deterioration from the weather and weevils. Continuation of these evils during the present month indicates to the trade that the September figure will also fall widely short of the ten-year average condition.

The average decline in the private estimates now current in the market is 5.4 per cent from the August 25 government figure, which would bring the government condition down to 48.7 per cent, indicating a yield of 10,811,400 bales. One reporting agency estimates the condition will be 51.4 per cent, or a decline of 6.2 per cent from its own August figure. Should the government report show a decline of 6.2 per cent, the condition would fall to 47.9 per cent.

Due to seasonal causes, the California and Arizona crop has dropped about 8 points in condition in the opinion of cotton merchants here which would indicate a figure of around 80. The deterioration is believed, however, to be beneficial as it represents the normal amount of excess growth that the plant should lose in order to flourish properly.

Speculative attention in the market is now concentrated on the probable course of prices since the 30-cent level has been attained. Statistically, the market is in an almost impregnable position on the basis of a limited supply, but the attitude of the mills and the public relative to high-priced raw cotton and finished goods has yet to be ascertained definitely.

Cotton authorities estimate that in the past season the world used 21,000,000 bales of cotton from the entire producing countries, and produced 17,500,000 bales. In the previous year, 17,000,000 bales were consumed, and only 15,000,000 bales produced. Of this cotton grown and consumed, the United States has produced the greater amount, but the crops of the last two years have seriously depleted the world stocks of American cotton.

Stocks of American cotton held in the world three years ago were estimated at 9,000,000 bales, which is now reduced to around 2,300,000 bales, or what it is declared to be the irreducible minimum against consumption of approximately 1,000,000 bales a month.

WORLD'S COTTON STOCKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The world's stock of cotton, visible and in spinners' hands on July 31, the end of the cotton year was 5,310,000 bales, estimated by the International Federation of Cotton Spinners, the American agricultural commissioner at London reported today by cable. The quantity is 1,041,000 bales less than the estimate of the Department of Commerce issued September 10.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Sluggish Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Today's bond market was unusually quiet with small recessions predominating.

Foreign issues eased along with the decline in foreign exchanges. Active United States government bonds also moved slightly lower.

Railroad mortgages were relatively steady, although a few issues recorded declines of as much as a point, notably Western Maryland 4s, Frisco 4s, series "A," and Chicago Railway 5s. Third Avenue adjustment 5s receded 1 3-4.

Industrial liens moved irregularly with the copper and sugar company liens showing slight gains. Steel company bonds generally fell off fractionally. Commonwealth Power 6s declined 1.

NEW YORK CURB

Finish is Strong

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Prices in today's curb market opened firm, sagged on dull trading and finally pointed upward again at the close, with the active shares showing few important changes on the day.

Fractional improvement was noted in such shares as Standard Oils of Indiana and New York, Vacuum, Mutual and Salt Creek Producers. Prairie Oil and Gas was run up 2½ points and Standard Oil of Kentucky 1, while Pennsylvania-Mexico Oil broke 3 points and Indiana Pipe 8. Eureka Pipe dropped 1½ on unofficial reports of a cut in the dividend.

Trading in the new common stock of the International Concrete Industries Corporation and the Glassenite Products Company, which were admitted to the list today, featured the industrial division. Each stock fluctuated between 9½ and 9¾, closing at the top. Gillette Safety Razor advanced a point. The motors improved slightly.

Interest in the mining group centered in the penny stocks, changes in which were unimportant.

Following are the closing quotations and sales on the New York Curb Market. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 636 South Spring street:

If a mortgage on real property is a good investment—why not ownership of the property itself & full participation in all its earnings?

Unusual in Plan and Possibilities

SECURITY buyers who have investigated the financial plan of the Los Angeles Income Properties, Inc., have all reached the same conclusion — that this company is unusual in plan and possibilities.

Organized to own, build and operate income properties on an extensive scale, this company is offering for the first time, an opportunity for the public to participate in the substantial profits to be derived from this field of operation.

Sponsored by a group of representative realtors, bankers and business men, the Los Angeles Income Properties, Inc., is the result of years of experience which have proven that operations of this nature have always been highly successful.

A limited number of shares of the first issue remain unsold. The present offering which includes one share of common stock, par value $100, given as a bonus with each share of 7% Cumulative, Participating, Preferred stock, $100 par, gives the buyer double purchasing power.

We unhesitatingly urge that you make immediate inquiry as to the stability and high yield features of this issue. Your inquiry will incur no obligation and will undoubtedly convince you as it has others, that this offering is unusual in plan and possibilities.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

With the exception of the active bonds, reactions dominated in the trading in the mining, oil and industrial shares yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Losses ranged from fractions to 2 points, with the volume of transactions running on a moderate scale.

The outstanding strong spot was Shell Union Oil, which arose five-eighths of a point to a final price of 15 3-4. At 42 3-4, Union Oil Associates advanced one-eighth of a point, while the remainder of the petroleum stocks were under pressure.

Closing at 51, United States Royalties declined 1½ cents from the final quotation of the previous day, and Globe Petroleum at 39½ cents was off 2½ cents. Republic Petroleum was liquidated around 5 cents, with the close at 4, off 2 cents from the previous session. United Oil was firm at 35, and Standard Oil of California was unchanged at 51 1-4.

Opening at 19 cents, Gold Dust dropped to 17, off 2 cents, and Oatman United at 8 cents was behind ½ cent. Black Range was traded in at 12, and North Star sold at 2½ cents.

Los Angeles Investment, which has been striking successive new highs, was restrained in its upward course, and sold down to 1.81, off 2 cents. Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred sold at 84, off 2 points.

Finishing at 106 7-8, Pacific Gas and Electric 7s of 1940 were up seven-eighths of a point, and Union of California 6s of 1942 climbed one-eighth to 99 5-8. San Joaquin Light and Power, series C, 6s of 1950, sold at 98 7-8, and Los Angeles Gas 5½s of 1943 were taken at 92 3-4, unchanged.

Facts Established Out of the Mouths of the Board of Public Service

I. There was a great abundance of water, even in this dry year, for a city greater than Los Angeles; both for domestic and irrigating uses and for a great surplus for safety; but the Board of Public Service wasted it into the Pacific Ocean to make "cheap power" for propaganda purposes for the power bond election of June 5, 1923. See Engineers' Report in Letter No. 15, and Letter No. 13.

II. There has been caused by this waste alone, a great famine of irrigating water in the San Fernando Valley. See attempted justification of Board of Public Service in Examiner, August 23, September 1 and September 9 and Letter No. 11.

III. There has been threatened, solely because of this waste, a domestic shortage in the City of Los Angeles. See Letter No. 11.

IV. The statements of the Board of Public Service Commissioners and its paid agents, contained in "interviews" (see Examiner, August 23, September 1 and September 9, 1923) are not supported by the records of their office.

Turn the Spotlight on this Point

Let's get that Settled Right NOW

SOME INVESTORS WILL VERY LIKELY ASK ABOUT "BONUS" OR "PROMOTION" STOCK in the Bond Great Western Clothing Co.

It is both desirable and necessary, therefore, that the exact facts be set out clearly so that intelligent and correct judgment may be formed.

LET'S PULL THIS WHOLE PROPOSITION RIGHT UP BY THE ROOTS AND LOOK AT IT CLOSELY.

We have already stated that we had nothing to hide, deny, evade or camouflage and we meant EXACTLY THAT. Yes, we are using Promotion Stock and we fully believe it is the very strongest link in the unusually strong CHAIN OF FACTS about this proposition.

Every tub stands on its own bottom. Circumstances alter cases. In some corporations the use of Promotion Stock might be unwise, unjust and otherwise objectionable. We DON'T know. But in a Corporation like ours, with the work and purpose we have in mind, the use of Bonus Stock is not only WISE and just, but is very highly desirable.

We propose to erect a factory right here at Los Angeles for making men's and boys' clothes. We also propose to sell these clothes direct to wearer at a big discount to our customers and a handsome profit to our stockholders.

This company is incorporated with an authorized capital stock of $4,000,000. There is $2,000,000 8 per cent Preferred and $2,000,000 Common Stock. We are selling the Preferred Stock and using all of the Common for promotion. One-half of the Common Stock, or $1,000,000, we are giving away to the buyers of the Preferred Stock—one share with each two shares of Preferred for $200.

To Handle a Necessity

Every man knows clothing is an absolute necessity and that all men and boys MUST buy it. There is no argument about that. Every man knows that clothing can be sold direct from factory to wearer cheaper than would be possible to sell it through several middlemen. There can be no argument about that. Every man knows that in buying for cash and selling for cash we avoid the most common cause of commercial failure. There can be no argument about that. Every man knows that the risk of fire and similar disasters can be safely covered by insurance. There is no doubt about that. Where can there be a doubt?

The most vital question affecting the safety of investment in this company and the profitable operation of the company is

MANAGEMENT — SKILLED, EXPERIENCED, CAPABLE, COMPETENT AND HONEST MANAGEMENT.

In that one word MANAGEMENT lies the SECRET OF SUCCESS or failure of this great enterprise. We recognize that fact fully and we are reinforcing our structure at that point by every known and possible method.

We must employ Managers, Superintendents, Designers, Cutters, Foremen, etc.

Now, Mr. Investor, let's talk turkey—hot turkey. What class of men do you wish us to employ? Shall we get them from the benches in the park? You say "Certainly NOT!" Shall we get them from the very best men in the United States, who are right now employed in the best clothing factories of the country and are right now successfully doing the very thing we want done here? You say "Certainly Yes!"

How to Get Able Men

That's good! How are we going to get them? There is but ONE WAY and that is to give them a better proposition than they now have. There are but two ways to give them a better proposition. One way is to give them a long-time contract at a greatly increased salary and to pay them out of the hard money which you have paid for stock. Do you want us to do that? Well, hardly!

There is another and better way to do it, and that is to give them about the same salary they are getting now and in addition thereto hold up before them a bonus of Common Stock, which shall be delivered to them WHEN AND NOT UNTIL the business is successfully established and is EARNING and PAYING dividends.

Your part of the Common Stock is delivered to you outright with the Preferred. That part which goes to the organization is NOT DELIVERED until the business is a success. These men cannot make their Common Stock valuable without making yours valuable at the same time. These men will be experts who know their business and will try their DEAD LEVEL BEST to make a fortune out of that Common Stock. What do you care how high they carry it if they take you with it? All stock votes and the buying shareholders will have three-fourths of it and therefore have control. Don't forget that. The organizers and officers of the company are going to get some of that stock, but they don't know how much and cannot tell until the rest of the organization is completed and satisfied.

A Case in Point

Now, to illustrate. Take the case of Mr. Walter S. Workman, at present general manager of the Bond Clothing Co., with headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, which owns two factories and fifteen great stores. He is drawing a good salary and can hold his position indefinitely. He has a fine home near Cleveland and he and his family are in the midst of friends and enjoying life to the full. Mr. Workman has signed a contract to move to Los Angeles and become general manager of this company, which involves selling his home, breaking away from friends and associates of long standing. How did we get him? Here's how:

We pay him the same amount of salary he is getting now and put in escrow for him a big block of this Common Stock, which will be delivered to him when and not until this company is an established success. Mr. Workman has already purchased some of the Preferred Stock of this company and has just wired that he will subscribe for $10,000 more of the Preferred Stock upon his arrival in Los Angeles.

Mr. Charles A. Bond, who knows this business from A to Z, and has made a fortune out of it, subscribed for $25,000 of the Preferred Stock, signing the very first subscription blank, paying the same price as other subscribers pay. Is it not entirely evident that Mr. Bond fully believes that the foundations of this company and its management have been LAID IN SOLID CONCRETE?

Do you want to play with boys like these? We think you ought to be very glad of the opportunity. We are profoundly convinced that the use of "bonus" stock in our kind of a case is the very strongest part of our whole proposition, sealing up as firmly as possible the only place where a proposition like ours might prove to be weak.

Makes Proposition Sound

We believe our proposition is vastly better by reason of using this stock in this way than it would be otherwise, and that is why we are doing it. We don't want any person to purchase stock in this company unless he knows all about it and likes it and believes in it fully. If any man thinks that we should not do it that way and if he would have preferred that we double a man's salary to move out here and pay him in cash, then such a man should not come in with us. We want only those who think that we know what we are doing and are willing to put their money on the spot where we put ours.

If you want to come in with us you have the opportunity. Eventually, we are going to sell you clothes and it is not going to be very long, either.

In any event, whether we sell you stock or sell you clothes—or both—we will be satisfied.

READY TO MEET SOVIET MENACE

Government Indifference is Denied by Official

Spread of Propaganda Told to Bankers' Convention

Repeal of Prohibition Law Advocated by Speaker

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 27.—The Federal government has in the past week taken steps to combat the spread of Russian soviet propaganda in this country, James M. Beck, Solicitor-General, today told the American Bankers' Association convention.

He urged adequate immigration laws to meet the situation.

The government has not been indifferent to the spread of propaganda and the Attorney-General has asked the co-operation of the State authorities in establishing a more effective supervision of the revolutionary and criminal elements, he declared.

"The next Congress is not likely to be indifferent to the danger which too many men have minimized," said Mr. Beck. "Two bills will be urged for passage. One will provide for the registration of all aliens in the country and the other would make it a crime to conspire to overthrow the government by force and violence.

"Today it may be doubted whether there is any specific Federal statute which enables the Federal authorities to arrest an alien even though he is carrying a bomb to blow up a custom house. The registration of aliens would probably cause a welcome hegira of alien Communists who are now under cover and plotting every day."

URGE DRY LAW REPEAL

Repeal of the prohibition amendment was advocated today before the American Bankers' Association convention by Waldo Newcomer, president of the national bank division.

The Constitution of the United States was never intended to be a code of criminal law, but was meant to lay down the respective rights of the national and State governments, he said.

"I regret that the question of prohibition was introduced into our Constitution," Mr. Newcomer continued, "because it opens the way for the introduction of other amendments, covering all crimes and misdemeanors. One of the greatest evils of the present day is the enormous number of laws being passed and it has been charged that there is a deliberate Bolshevik influence at work to increase the laws so that they will be so numerous that they can't possibly be enforced."

Mr. Newcomer said he understood that if the New York City police were conscientiously determined to enforce every law, they would be compelled to be familiar with 6000 ordinances. He said he thought it inadvisable that Congress make any changes in the Esch-Cummins railroad bill at this time and that if Congress is determined on such action, strong pressure should be brought to bear to prevent "such a catastrophe."

RIGHT OF FREE LABOR

Referring to the open shop, Mr. Newcomer said:

"I think every laborer should he prefer to join the union should be free from any coercion and have an absolute right to work without its benefits, if he prefers to do so."

He added that he believed in the right of workmen to strike, but that fair notice should always be given and in no case should there be any opposition to their places being filled.

Contending that the Federal Reserve Board has "to the extent of its powers energetically inaugurated a par clearance system with no regard whatever for the individual opinion of the nonmember banks affected," George H. Bell of Nashville, Ark., advocated an amendment to the Federal reserve law. Deposits of nonmember banks total $20,000,000,000, while those of the member banks approximate $24,000,000,000, he said. A controversy between the country banker and the Federal Reserve Board would mean more damage to the board because the banker is closer to his audience, he said.

"The remedy for this situation," he continued, "lies in the appointment of a commission by the president of this association, composed of member and nonmember banks which would submit to Congress a recommendation that would clear up all controversy over the Federal reserve law."

SANTA FE EARNINGS INCREASE

Cost of Operation Also Rises; Higher Levels in Every Department

Railroad operating revenues of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe for August of this year amounted to $20,868,697.69 compared with $19,948,553.54 in 1922, or an increase of $920,144.15 according to the statement released yesterday by the Santa Fe offices here. Operating expenses were $15,271,115.04 as against $14,778,926.24 for the previous year, indicating an increase of $492,188.80 in cost of operation.

Net operating income for the month totaled $3,955,088.87, which compares with $3,483,816.95 in 1922, a gain of $471,271.92. Mileage of track operated during the month amounted to 11,807.27, an increase of 107.97 miles.

For the first eight months of this year, the operating revenues of the system amounted to $152,267,464.12, compared with $135,818,836.83, an increase of $16,448,627.29. Operating expenses for the eight months were $114,386,878.29, representing a gain over 1922 of $7,603,547.94. Net railroad operating income totaled $27,710,614.24, or a gain of $8,001,303.61.

Railway tax accruals for the eight months amounted to $10,784,977.11 an advance of $1,286,125.54 over the same period in 1922.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A stock market which today resisted concerted professional efforts to force down prices, and a foreign exchange market which again halted, evidently awaiting further German or French developments following the announced surrender in the Ruhr, left an atmosphere of perplexity in Wall street. The day's reaction in exchange on Europe, especially emphasized in the mark, evidently reflected news of the attempted Bavarian coup d'etat.

On the whole, however, the reaction in foreign exchange was not of a scope to suggest great uneasiness over the German political situation; it was small when compared with the rise of the past ten days, and left rates on Paris, Rome and even Berlin substantially above last week's closing.

Until lately the stock market, under its present professional auspices, moved in opposite directions on alternate days. Today the alternations came in a single day. Declines of 1 to 2 points in the active speculative shares were promptly followed by recovery of all the loss, leaving the general market higher than on Wednesday. It is hard to take such a market seriously, yet even such seemingly purposeless variations must have some meaning, and in the present instance they at least reflect the conflict of judgment and the rather frequent changes of opinion that are going on in business circles. In that quarter the visible trend of judgment seems to be that, while the idea of an "autumn trade boom" will have to be relinquished, on the other hand, a season of normally large trade and of reasonably steady markets may be reckoned on.

That business of substantial proportions is in progress was shown by today's Federal reserve report, showing $85,700,000 increase in rediscounts during the week, of which sum $61,600,000 occurred in the New York bank. Increased rediscounting, however, seems not to have been primarily for the purpose of enlarging member banks' reserves; in the whole system these increased nearly $26,600,000, and reserve note collections also decreased. A decrease in gold reserve was again noteworthy. The system's total holdings are now $4,000,000 less than they were in the middle of August, although some $15,000,000 gold has been imported during the interval.

Trading Irregular

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Marked irregularity characterized today's stock market, with closing prices generally showing little change on the day.

Failure of operators on the long side of the market to follow up the recovery started just before the close yesterday by Baltimore and Ohio's constructive dividend action led to a renewal of bear pressure after a buoyant opening. Speculators for the decline succeeded in uncovering several weak spots, such as Jones Brothers Tea, which broke more than nine points to 35½, a new low for the year, but the usual leaders offered good resistance and prices turned upward again in the late dealings.

Cable reports indicating serious differences between Bavaria and the German Reich were generally regarded as a disturbing factor and undoubtedly responsible for the reactionary trend in foreign exchange. Demand sterling dropped more than ½ a cent to around $4.55, French francs slipped back 5 points to 6.15 cents and German marks were off 14 points at 68 cents a hundred million.

Baltimore and Ohio was again the most active stock on the board, nearly 80,000 shares changing hands during the day. The stock touched 57, and then eased off to 56 3-8, where it was up 1⅛ on the day. The preferred advanced 1 1-4 to 5 1-4. Most of the other rails improved fractionally, the car loadings for the week ending the 15th inst. again exceeding the 1,000,000 mark, despite the suspension of hard coal mining in that period.

A good inquiry developed for the tobacco shares, inducing rather extensive short coverings and resulting in some sharp gains in that group. Gains of 2 or more points were recorded by Tobacco Products, A and B, and American Tobacco. Lorillard jumped 4 3-4.

Some of the other strong spots in the industrial division were American Beet Sugar, Beechnut Packing, Eastman Kodak, Inland Steel, New York Dock and Foundation Company, all up 1⅛ to 2½ points.

Union Pacific went through a sinking spell, getting down to 127 1-8 after having sold 2 points higher but snapping back to 128⅛ for a slight fractional loss on the day.

Houses which make a practice of loaning stocks to cover short commitments, reported a heavy demand for all classes.

Call money opened at 5½ per cent, but eased off to 5 before the close. Time money rates were unchanged with more business being done at the 5½ per cent rate for the longer maturities. Brokers continue to bid 5 1-4 for all dates. Only a moderate amount of new commercial paper is coming into the market, the ruling rate being 5 1-4 per cent.

Total stock sales, 671,400 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 88.53 net unchanged.

High 1923, 105.38; low 86.92.

Twenty railroads averaged 81.75; net gain .21.

METAL MARKETS

Daily Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Resumption of the Alabama program of blowing out blast furnaces is announced as yard stocks of pig iron increase and sales continue small. Steel fabricators at New York and Boston are four to six weeks behind their building construction orders. Keen competition among middle western mills for reinforcing steel bars cut prices $2 to $4 a ton. Pittsburg strip steel mills are kept steadily at 80 per cent of operation by incoming business. Copper is steady at New York at 13¾. Lead is slightly easier at 6.65 to 70 cents as also is zinc at 6¾ St. Louis. Tin is dull at 41¾."

METAL QUOTATIONS

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

W. C. Hill, petroleum economist of the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, with headquarters in Washington, is in this city to confer with petroleum refiners relative to the collection of statistics as to the production of gasoline and other refined products of petroleum which are published monthly by the bureau. Mr. N. C. Lane and Mr. C. E. Steidel of the San Francisco office of the bureau are visiting the California refineries with Mr. Hill.

Mr. Steidel has come from the Washington office to compile the California refinery statistics formerly handled by Mr. Lane, who will now devote his entire time to chemical research. These statistical reports give the figures as to the country's total production and consumption of the most important refined products, the total supplies in storage, and exports and imports. The object of Mr. Hill's visit to California is to obtain the views of local refiners as to possible improvements in the method of preparation of the statistical reports, the incorporation of additional data and means by which the publication of the reports may be made more promptly.

Mr. Hill will remain in Los Angeles about ten days, leaving then for the Gulf Coast and midcontinent fields.

Two of Shell's Come In

The daily production of the Santa Fe Springs field was increased by 3800 barrels yesterday when the Shell Company put its G.H.N. No. 6 and Slusher No. 4 wells on production.

The G.H.N. No. 6 is making a flush flow of 2900 barrels per day of 35 gravity oil. It was drilled to a depth of 4633 feet. The Slusher No. 4, drilled to a depth of 4668 feet, is delivering 1900 barrels of 34 gravity oil a day.

Production Drops

The daily average gross crude oil production of the United States decreased 32,250 barrels for the week ending the 22nd inst., totaling 2,242,700 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production east of the Rocky Mountains was 1,394,700 barrels, a decrease of 22,250. California production was 848,000 barrels, a decrease of 10,000.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports was 205,850 barrels, compared with 22,285 for the previous week. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports were 114,143 barrels, compared with 230,857 for the previous week.

Pennsylvania crude was reduced 25 cents a barrel. Bradford district now being quoted at 2.75 and all other Pennsylvania grades at $2.50.

More "Bargain" Gas

Along with the "scrambled" gasoline prices which Southern California motorists have experienced in recent weeks, another brief season of bargain gasoline is about to prevail, according to reports from Sacramento yesterday.

There seems to be a conflict of opinion as to when the new gasoline-tax law goes into effect. Everybody is apparently agreed that the tax is to be 2 cents per gallon, but the authorities at the capital appear to be unable to agree as to when the tax begins.

The gasoline tax bill that "every distributor shall from and after September 30, 1923, in addition to any other taxes provided by law, pay a license tax to the State Controller of this State of 2 cents for each gallon of motor vehicle fuel, etc."

The Shell, Union Standard and Associated Oil companies are said to have interpreted the law to mean that they are to begin collecting the tax, beginning Monday, October 1. The independent filling station men referred the question to State Controller Riley, and they say that he advised them that they were to begin collecting the tax Sunday, the 30th inst.

The upshot of it is that unless something more definite is known, the four big companies will be selling gasoline Sunday for 13 cents a gallon, while the independents are selling it at their present retail price, plus 2 cents per gallon.

The distributors admit that it looks like a Sunday of many different gasoline prices, inasmuch as the independents already are offering gasoline at prices ranging between 9 and 13 cents a gallon.

Estimated receipts, Thursday, September 27: Cattle, 900; calves, 500; hogs, 1500; sheep, 260.

Actual receipts, Wednesday, September 26: Cattle, 993; calves, 285; hogs, 674.

Holdovers, Wednesday, September 26: Cattle, 270.

Disposition, Wednesday, September 26: To Los Angeles packers, 514 cattle, 231 calves, 750 hogs. Others, 15 cattle, 50 calves.

CATTLE—Market is 15 to 25c lower with common and medium grades showing most decline. Indifferent trading featured a very slow market. Load good 1170-pound steers scored 7.75. Strictly medium steers lacking good covering and quality sold 6.50 to 7.00 with few steers of comparable weight but of considerable more covering up to 7.50. Common steers around 6.00.

She stock was equally slow but held around steady. Odd lot good 1010-pound cows 5.75. Two loads good 1006-pound cows 5.60 while three loads lacking in weight and finish sold for 5.25. Common and medium cows mostly 4.00 to 4.60. Canners and cutters rather numerous 2.00 to 3.00. Few good butcher bulls 3.50 to 4.00.

CALVES—Market steady with trading fairly active especially on better grades. Part load good 174-pound Texas vealers 7.50. Bulk of calves were good 210 to 310-pound Texas and Arizona calves at 8.00 to 9.00 with heavier averages at lower figure. Heavies and common handyweights 6.00 to 6.50.

HOGS—Fairly liberal offerings, quite a few of which arrived late, met active trading at values around steady with spots higher, which looked slightly out of line with the general market. Top of 10.85 was scored on one load good 187-pound California butchers. Bulk of butchers averaged 170 to 200 pounds and sold 10.50 to 10.75 with one load mediums down to 10.25. Few rough packers 7.00 to 7.50 with smooth ones up to 8.00.

SHEEP AND LAMBS—Slow trading on ewes and lambs in yards most of which are of undesirable weight and finish.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The spot market for dried fruits is showing but little activity, and this of a spotty character. Buyers are content to work off the stocks they have before making any broad replenishment of their supplies. The Coast advises firm prices, but not a good deal of new buying. Crop conditions have stimulated interest in prunes to a mild extent but other items are more or less neglected. Supplies of peaches are liberal but there is little or no selling pressure, so prices are holding firmly. Apricots are devoid of feature.

NUTS

The movement of both shelled and unshelled nuts into consumption is steady at firm prices. Higher prices are predicted on the basis of reduced supplies, the market being virtually cleaned up on some lines. Imported nuts are the hardest to find at steady quotations but neither are domestic sorts going begging. No noteworthy price changes took place in the local market today.

Herman C. Fisher of the Magnus Fruit Product Company, San Francisco, wires as follows: "The independent almond nut shellers of California purchasing their almonds direct from individual growers and competitors of the California Almond Growers' Association have noted your market report from New York quoted in a local paper which no doubt has been quoted elsewhere and wish to say that they consider your statement not in accord with their views. Their opinion at the beginning was that the almond growers' prices were too low and that their advance is still too low, as we have sold large part of holdings at materially higher price. We are not interested in the Almond Growers' Association but, in view of our sales situation, your report does not correctly reflect a national condition, and we respectfully call it to your attention."

CANNED FOODS

Tomatoes continue to hold the center of the stage in the canned foods market. Prices on these are firm for shipment right up to the end of October, and some southern factories are cutting down on their offerings. The outturn this year probably will be smaller and buyers are beginning to cover requirements. Number ones are available as low as 60 cents, but number twos have gone up to 90 cents, while number threes hold firm at $1.30. Corn offerings have shown a drop, and this has been accompanied by a stiffening of asking rates. Western standards are held for 95 cents, and fancy for $1.40, with some asking more. The primary hands are well sold up on beans. Prices are nominal around $1.10 on No. 3 southerns.

With the exception of sardines and shrimp the canned fish market is moderately active and steady. Prices are very firm and advancing from day to day.

FRUITS

There was a demoralized market for apples owing to increasing receipts and dull demand. The best grades of oranges and grapefruits were firm. There were moderate receipts of plums and prunes from State sections. The far western stock was irregular and weak.

SUGAR

In raw futures, trading options were some 4 points net higher to a decline of 2 points. A new high for the movement of 6 cents was established for raw sugars, and rumors were to the effect that 6 cents had been paid f.o.b. Cuba. The latter, however, was apparently without confirmation. It was apparently a liquidating market throughout, and after December had touched 5.23 cents in the early dealings, prices gradually weakened until by the close December had suffered a net reverse amounting to some 18 points. A similarly easy condition appeared to be prevailing in March, which had sold as high as 4.20 cents on trade demand in the early dealings, but which weakened to 4.05 cents by the close. The market as a whole closed at the lowest point for the day with finals some 5 points higher to 12 points net lower. The day's turnover amounted to 46,500 tons.

Advances of 45 points were named in refined sugar by Pennsylvania and McCahana which established the market at 9.60 cents a pound, less 2 per cent. Other refiners maintained last prices of 9.15 cents a pound.

Foreign markets were generally reported as firm with sales of a cargo to United Kingdom at 27s f.o.b. against the previous price of 27s c.i.f.

BUTTER

Butter is firm but sales of extra creamery above 45½ cents were too rarely reported to warrant a place in quotations. On the exchange, buyers and sellers were unable to find a trading basis.

EGGS

The demand for eggs was entirely of selective character. Really fine quality of browns is scarce and sales are easily effected at full prices.

Pacific Coast white extras 53@56c; white extra firsts, 49@52c; firsts, 45@48c.

TEAS

The principal interest in teas was in the continued line buying of India, Ceylon and Congou descriptions. The inquiry is reported as quite general with the country participating to a larger extent than has been the case for some time past.

RICE

Only moderate spot quantities of rice remain available. Foreign rices maintain a steady tone, generally with prices on the firm side.

COPPER

Copper here still rules at 13½ cents a pound for electrolytic delivered. London cables standard spot as declining 10s to 62£ 15s and futures 7s 6d to 63£ 5s while electrolytic dropped 5s to 67£ 5s for spot and to 67£ 15s for futures.

ZINC

Zinc eased off 1-8 of a cent to 6 3-8 cents a pound St. Louis. In London, spot dropped 12s 6d to 33£ 5s and futures 5s to 32£ 10s.

LEAD

Lead prices are firmly maintained at from 7 to 7 1-8 cents New York, and from 6.70 to 6.75 cents a pound St. Louis. Spot in London showed a gain of 5s at 26£ 5s, but futures showed a decline of 2s 6d closing at 25£ 13s 6d.

TIN

Practically all deliveries and positions of straits and straits shipments tin closed from 41 1-4 to 41½ cents a pound. London cables a uniform decline of 1£ 15s with both spot and futures standard closing at the same price of 198£ 10s and straits 202£.

BONDS

Responding to the reports of dissensions within Germany the foreign bond group again eased off. The French municipals lost fractionally. There was little activity in the foreign issues. Domestic industrial issues were generally firm. Copper bonds were strong and active. The outlook for the copper industry is improving steadily, and bonds which can be converted into stock later, while enjoying a fair income in the meantime, are meeting with favor.

The sugar bonds also met with strong support responding to better outlook among the leading sugar companies.

Rail bonds were a disappointment. The leading carriers made little response to the strong movement in the rail stocks.

PRODUCE MARKET

DAILY MARKET REPORT

Slump Occurs in Grain After Week of Rises

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Grain markets have been on the upgrade for over a week with an advance of 3⅝@5⅝c on wheat, 5⅛@9⅞c on corn and 2⅝@3⅞c on oats from the recent low which many thought sufficient for the time being, and while early there was a strong upturn with corn and oats in new ground for the season, the close was on a good reaction. Wheat finished ⅝@⅞c lower, corn ⅛@1⅛c higher, oats ⅜@⅝c higher and rye ⅛c lower.

Wheat showed a heavy undertone throughout the day, and borrowed a great deal of its strength from corn. Offerings increased on all the bulges and final figures were about the bottom with September 1.03⅝; December 1.05⅛ and May 1.10⅝ to 1.10. Advance on the high point of the day was on spreading operations, purchases being made here against sales at Winnipeg. Later the market showed strength and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower with cash prices fractionally higher, No. 1 Northern being 1c over October.

With Washington messages saying there was little or no probability of an increase in the import duty on wheat the formal application for an increase of 50 per cent by the farm bureau attracted little attention. Weather conditions in the Southwest were favorable for the new crop, and messages from there indicated that there would be no reduction of consequence in the acreage.

Open interest in September corn is being rapidly reduced. The price advanced to 91⅝ on continued short covering while longs sold on resting orders and the finish was at the top. Cash grain kept pace with the future, selling at a new high for the season at 93¼ for No. 2 yellow. Profit-taking was largely responsible for the recession of ⅝@1⅛c from the top on the deferred futures, and December went to ⅛c under May at the last after being ⅛c premium early. Receipts, 34 cars.

Outside interest in oats is increasing. Bartlett Frazier Company was out with another bullish statement, calling attention to the increased use on farms for feed. All recessions brought in good buying and the finish was firm. Receipts, 81 cars.

Trade in rye was light and prices held within narrow limits. Action of wheat was the main influence. Export demand continues slow.

FEDERAL RESERVE BUSINESS SUMMARY

SEASONAL INCREASES IN ACTIVITY MANIFESTED; REPORTS FAVORABLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Seasonal increases in business activity normally manifest during the first days of autumn were a characteristic feature of the business and industrial situation in California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Arizona and Nevada during August, according to a report issued here today by John Perrin, chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and Federal reserve agent of the twelfth district, comprising the foregoing seven States. He says:

"In some cases enterprises appear to have awaited the more definite returns of yields of the districts' crops, and the prices to be received therefor, which became effective about the first of September, before making the usual autumn commitments, but in most cases business was merely retarded, not curtailed.

"On the whole, harvest reports from the principal farming areas have been favorable. Record yields of wheat are being threshed in Washington and Idaho, and the total district crop is now placed at 137,359,000 bushels, a yield about 40 per cent greater than that harvested in 1922.

"Excellent yields of other cereals and of such field crops as potatoes, sugar beets, cotton and beans are being harvested. The deciduous fruit crops, excepting apples and grapes, have practically all been picked, and an unusually large movement of fresh fruits to eastern markets has been reported.

"Total shipments of deciduous fruits from California up to September 9 were 25,596 cars, compared with 17,703 for the corresponding period of 1922, an increase for this year of 44 per cent.

"Fruit-shipping equipment of the railroads serving this territory has been asked to capacity, and although no serious shortage of cars has been reported thus far, the possibility of such a shortage will not disappear until the peak of the grape shipping has been passed.

"Continued slow movement has been noted in the live stock industry, and weather and range conditions have been generally favorable.

"Prices of farm products, which have been declining during recent months, advanced during August. The majority of the principal agricultural products of this district are now selling at prices well above those a year ago, including barley, rice, cotton, sugar, cattle, sheep, lambs and hogs."

MAYOR TO START ON VACATION NEXT WEEK

Mayor Cryer and his private secretary, H. H. Kinney, will start on their vacations next week, and during their absence the Board of Public Works will, if the Council appropriates the funds, repaint the Mayor's office and public reception rooms and replace the outworn carpets with new ones.

FISHES RENEW EARTH'S OIL

Quakes Bury 'Em and There You Are, Say Scientists

Botany Professor Develops Brand New Theory

Inexhaustible Petroleum is Savant's Prediction

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Completing research work covering a period of more than fifty years, Dr. John M. Macfarlane, professor of botany at the University of Pennsylvania, has announced discoveries that, he says, prove beyond doubt that the world's supply of petroleum is inexhaustible.

In addition, Dr. Macfarlane advances the prediction that oil will eventually replace coal as a medium of heat. He says that new oil deposits forming under the earth were an indirect cause of the Japanese earthquake and give added proof of the soundness of his theory.

Among the points on which Dr. Macfarlane bases his conclusions, which are of great importance and value to the petroleum industry of the world, are the following:

That fishes constitute the sole source of petroleum.

That a knowledge of this fact will enable man to locate with almost scientific accuracy new oil deposits.

That there is no danger of the exhaustion of the world's oil supply.

That the recognition of scientific principles regarding the origin and location of fish deposit beds will result in the cheaper production of oil and hasten the development of its commercial value for motive power and heating purposes.

STUDY IN FISHES

These conclusions are based, Dr. Macfarlane asserts, on a study of fishes and their relation to petroleum which he began when an undergraduate and graduate student at the University of Edinburgh, where he won numerous prizes for researches in this and similar fields.

Tracing the origin of petroleum deposits to earthquakes and similar volcanic disturbances, which in early times killed immense quantities of fishes and changed the surface of the earth and the boundaries of the oceans and fresh-water bodies, Dr. Macfarlane further declared that new supplies can easily be found if proper research is made.

"Every new disturbance like the recent Japanese earthquake, particularly in regions adjoining the sea, result in the development of new deposits for the production of oil," he said.

Dr. Macfarlane's conclusion is that our supply of oil is virtually unlimited and that it is a practical substitute for coal for heating purposes. "It will cost less and be free from dust and ashes," he said. "The perfection of this has been unaccountably slow, but it will come in due time."

The first scientific explanation of how fish oil set free by earthquakes and volcanic movements becomes precipitated as a constituent of oil shale or oil rock is credited by Dr. Macfarlane to a Philadelphia scientist and member of the University of Pennsylvania faculty.

"To this question," said Dr. Macfarlane, "Joseph Leidy first made answer. Fully forty years ago he pointed out that the escaping oil from the Philadelphia gas works, when passed into the Schuylkill, gradually became caught up between mud particles and then the whole was precipitated as an oily clay film or oil-shale layer. This was later confirmed by Stuart, the Anglo-Indian geologist, in his experiments with Burmese petroleum.

BANKING CLASSES FOR A.I.B. MEMBERS

Instruction in practical banking under the auspices of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Institute of Banking will be available to members of the organization through classes beginning October 8, and conducted by the extension division of the University of Southern California. The classes will meet at the chapter headquarters, No. 721 South Hill street.

Subjects offered in the course include elementary and practical banking, commercial law, negotiable instruments, political economy, business English, accounting, credits and analysis of financial statements, public speaking and public affairs forum.

WIFE SUES NOTED OIL PROMOTER

S. A. Radcliff, Head of White Star Syndicate, is Charged With Desertion

Mrs. Marjorie L. Radcliff yesterday filed suit for divorce from her husband, Sidney A. Radcliff, wealthy oil promoter, president of the White Star Refining Company, founder of the White Star Oil Syndicates, and president of the Mercury Refining Company.

The complaint charges desertion. Mrs. Radcliff says her husband left her in December, 1919, after eight years of married life, without giving any reason. She declares she begged him to come back, and that a year later he agreed to return. But at the last minute, she says he sent word that he could not live with her again.

Mrs. Radcliff states that her husband's ownings are worth at least $500,000, and that his earnings during the month of June exceeded $200,000. A division of community property is now being arranged, she declares, but asks the court to make the division equitable. Pending settlement of the suit, she asks $2000 alimony. She also requests custody of her only child, Stuart, 6 years of age.

Spouse After Twenty Years Considers Remarriage is Sinful

"She lived with me for twenty years, Your Honor," Harry L. Stockton told Judge Guerin yesterday, when he asked for a divorce from Oatie Stockton. "Then she found out that I had been married and divorced before, and refused to live with me any longer. She said it was irreligious for divorced people to marry. In fact, she said it was sinful. She took all the furniture out of the house except two chairs and a cot, and went away for good."

Mrs. Stockton's minister testified in court to a conversation he had had with her, in which he tried to persuade her to return to her husband. Mrs. Stockton claimed that according to the Bible they had never been married at all, he said.

Judge Guerin granted Stockton a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Love for Other Woman Wrecks Domestic Life

"I love her too well and can't live without her," was Ralph B. Moohr's answer to his wife's remonstrances with him about his connection with Madeline Sheilan, testified Linnie S. Moohr in Judge Guerin's court yesterday, where she obtained a divorce. Miss Sheilan was named in Mrs. Moohr's complaint as corespondent.

According to the wife's testimony Moohr is employed by the Triangle Syndicate, and receives an average of about $600 a month.

An agreement whereby Mrs. Moohr is to receive half of all her husband earns was arranged out of court. He is never to pay her less than $50 a week, however. Mrs. Moohr has the custody of three minor children.

SCIENCE DEFEATING CRIME

Vollmer Tells Credit Men Police Leaders of Future Will Come from Universities

With the advent of science into the work of criminal apprehension and detection, leaders in police work in the future will be drawn from the universities of the country, Chief of Police Vollmer said last night at the dinner of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association at the Elite. Himself a university man, Chief Vollmer narrated numerous incidents brought about by the evolution in criminal work in which scientific research alone was responsible for the successful "spotting" of guilty persons.

Probably most interesting of those incidents was the accurate description of a murderer when the only clew available was his shirt. The shirt, according to Chief Vollmer, was taken to a scientist, who was asked to tell all he could learn from the garment of the suspected slayer.

DESCRIPTION GIVEN

The description offered by the scientist was: Age, 35 years; height, 5 feet 9 inches; slight of build; light, brown hair; blue eyes and clothed in a tan suit. A hair found on the shirt was light brown. The interior of the hair provided the approximate age. Lack of much oil in the hair suggested the owner was not robust. The color suggested light eyes and the color of the suit was determined from a piece of lint found on the shirt. The murderer was picked up within two days.

Chief Vollmer also praised the invention of the lie-detectorimeter and cited numerous incidents in which the instrument had detected guilty persons when all other methods known to police had failed.

With 500 of its 1000 members present, the dinner session of the association was voted the most interesting and successful in the history of the organization. Addresses were made by J. A. Cattell, who presented a gavel to the retiring president, H. I. Bremner; by Mr. Bremner and Hugo M. Burwald, president of the Fire Insurance Exchange.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The new president, A. F. Stepan, gave a brief talk and Prof. Emory E. Olson of the University of Southern California discussed the special class for credit men and women to be conducted by the university. Prof. Olson was elected an honorary member of the association. "Echoes" from the meeting of the directors of the national association recently in Atlantic City were sounded by A. J. Goldwater, member of the Los Angeles association, who was elected a national director.

The new officers for the coming year are: Albert F. Stepan, president; W. W. Grether, first vice-president; F. M. Couch, second vice-president; Edgar L. Ide, secretary, and Jay Spence, treasurer.

PORT NOTES

Three hundred tons of Christmas toys, the first shipment of the kind directly from Germany since the beginning of the war, arrived yesterday morning aboard the United American liner Hessen, after a record run from Antwerp of twenty-five days and six hours.

In addition to toys, approximately 1000 tons of silver sand and machinery were unloaded at this port, while more toys and other cargo are destined for North Pacific ports.

The Hessen again exemplifies the shipbuilding skill of the Germans, maintaining a speed of thirteen knots en route here. She was built at Bremen last year, is 487 feet long, has 58-foot beam, depth of 35 feet and 12,000 tons deadweight cargo capacity. She contains cabins for twenty-five passengers, carries a crew of seventy-one men, and is under command of Capt. G. Meisner, who has commanded twenty-six ships during his eighteen years in the line's service. The captain wears three war crosses and two life-saving crosses on the breast of his full-dress uniform, to attest his valor of the past.

John A. Hoyt of the firm of Swayne & Hoyt, Inc., sailed from Los Angeles Harbor yesterday on the Swayne & Hoyt liner President Hayes, which is making her last run to Buenos Aires before being turned over by the Shipping Board to the Robert Dollar Line. She took on sixteen passengers and 150 tons of freight for the Latin countries.

A new schedule eliminating the liner H. F. Alexander for a few months of the winter run will be issued today by the Admiral Line. There will be three liners arriving and three departing weekly, however, throughout the season. The H. F. Alexander is expected to return to the run when traffic gets heavy next spring. She is the fastest commercial ship under the American flag, and can clip off as much as twenty-seven knots an hour. The vessel enjoyed an excellent season just closed, between Los Angeles Harbor, San Francisco and Seattle.

Ships which empty their oily bilge water outside the harbor where it floats in upon beaches, are inviting a storm of protest. Municipal representatives from Long Beach, Santa Monica and other cities will meet at Hermosa Beach at noon today to seek a remedy. Protests are particularly vociferous from beaches north of the harbor, where it is reported persons take one look at the tarry-coated bathers emerging from the water and turn back.

The entire City Council will be entertained at dinner by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce October 5, following which there will be a tour of the harbor.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—All monthly records for the volume of tonnage handled through San Francisco Harbor were shattered during the month of August, according to figures made public here today by officials of the State Harbor Board. The compilation shows that the total volume of freight during the month this year was 633,459 tons inbound and 334,291 tons outgoing, a grand total of 967,750 tons, eclipsing any previous figure for a similar period in the history of the port. The increase in August of this year over July was 43,800 tons. The total tonnage for July was 931,939 tons, compared with 776,762 tons for the same period in 1922. The total tonnage handled through this port in August of last year was 867,932 tons.

Agreement to make an open rate on the carrying of whole grains, such as wheat, barley, oats and rye, by which carriers may fix their own charge, was reached at a special meeting of the Intercoastal Eastbound Conference here today. The special rate of 50 cents for 100 pounds on all supplies destined for Near East Relief organizations in Europe also will be maintained.

The freighter West Prospect, under command of Capt. J. A. Jacobson, one of the first ships to send out distress signals from Yokohama Harbor at the time of the earthquake and fire there, arrived here this morning. She carried 17 passengers from Manila. The vessel carried refugees from Yokohama to Kobe.

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—Two thousand head of especially bred Oregon sheep destined to Chernofsky, Unalaska Island, are to be loaded on the Odessa here tomorrow. The sheep are to go aboard at low tide and will travel in pens built for them. Reports by Capt. F. C. Dodge, district commander of the United States Coast Guard, indicated that the climate in the Aleutians is well adapted to sheep raising, and two concerns are trying the experiment.

Capt. O. Mosiner, commander of the Norwegian steamship Golden Gate, which was built here and is in Gray's Harbor, was a visitor in Seattle today from Hoquiam.

After five months' cruising in the vicinity of the Alaskan Archipelago, the coast guard cutter Haida arrived here tonight. Lieut.-Commander J. F. Hottel, her commander, said that the weather in the Bristol Bay region this season had been the finest in many years. The Haida is expected to remain here several weeks before assignment for winter duty.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Sept. 27.—Cars brought to Vancouver Island last summer by automobile ferries from Bellingham, Anacortes, Port Angeles and Vancouver numbered 6947, according to compilations made today. This is an increase of 2000 over last year.

The Protesilaus, bound from Seattle for the Far East, called here today.

BELLINGHAM, Sept. 27.—The West Hematite left here today for Sound points carrying 1,000,000 feet of lumber for reconstruction in Japan, a gift from the Bloedel-Donovan, E. K. Wood and Earles mills.

EVERETT, Sept. 27.—The Nome City, which arrived at Mukilteo last night, will shift here, loading lumber at both points.

The Norlina left tonight for the Columbia River, and the motorship Oranlinda for Bellingham.

PORT ANGELES, Sept. 27.—The schooners Zampa and S. M. Castle, from Honolulu in ballast, were towed from Cape Flattery today and are waiting for cargoes of lumber for Hawaii.

ANACORTES, Sept. 27.—The Hokuto Maru is due tomorrow to load timber squares for Japan.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 27.—Slight damage to the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia in Yokohama Harbor when the catastrophe of September 1 struck, is attributed to the fact that her propellers are water driven. When the anchor chain of the Steel Navigator wrapped around the propeller of the Australia, the Australia's shaft stopped turning. The water, it is explained, slipped, when another motive power might have caused something to break.

Arrivals here today were the Benvenue from Java, the Margaret Coughlan from Bellingham and the Princess Alice from Skagway. The schooner Annie Campbell left today for Chemainus and the Chifuku Maru last night for Kobe.

COOS BAY (Or.) Sept. 27.—The Norwegian steamer Hellen, which loaded a partial cargo here, sailed for the Columbia River this afternoon.

The steamer F. A. Warner arrived from Bay Point this morning and is loading lumber.

The motorship Challamba made her first call here today as a unit of the Admiral fleet, from San Francisco with general freight. The vessel will sail for Portland tomorrow.

ASTORIA (Or.) Sept. 27.—After taking on 300 tons of canned salmon and cannery bark, the steamer American sailed last night for the Atlantic Coast, via San Francisco.

The steamer Kentuckian, after loading 4000 cases of canned salmon, sailed today for New York.

The Danish five-masted auxiliary bark Kobenhavn finished loading deck stock and lumber here today for Australia, but in pulling away from the wharf got a line caught in her wheel. She will be delayed here until her wheel is cleared.

The steam schooner Thomas Crowley, with lumber from Warrenton and Rainier, sailed last night for Los Angeles Harbor.

The Japanese steamer Burmah Maru arrived today from the Orient and, after being fumigated here, goes to Portland.

The gas schooner King and Winge, recently purchased by the Columbia River Entrance Pilots for a pilot schooner, arrived during the night from Seattle. She will probably go into commission about the first of the coming month.

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—The Blue Funnel liner Orestes has been ordered to come here in October and load a heavy shipment of Oregon apples in refrigeration for the United Kingdom, it was announced today. The Orestes also will take out some wheat from this port.

After a season of operation in Coos Bay Harbor, the government dredge Col. P. S. Michie has been ordered to the Columbia River and will put in several weeks deepening shoaled places. She is expected to arrive by the end of this week.

Repairs were completed today to the Japanese steamer Yonan Maru, which was damaged several weeks ago when she ran aground in the estuary of the Columbia River. The vessel will proceed at once to Astoria to reload her lumber cargo which was discharged following the accident.

Bert E. Haney, commissioner of the United States Shipping Board, left here today for San Francisco, after a stay of several days in Oregon, and will proceed to Los Angeles for a conference with Meyer Lissner, the California member of the board.

The steamer West Jester is expected to arrive here by the end of this week from Puget Sound, where she has been in dry dock for cleaning. She will be loaded here with wheat for the Orient by the Columbia Pacific Shipping Company.

The steamer Oregon Pine, out of Port Allen since August 26, is expected daily at the mouth of the Columbia. The Oregon Pine is a home-owned vessel operated by Grant Smith & Co.

TACOMA, Sept. 27.—Big cargoes will be taken from Tacoma on vessels of the Admiral-Oriental Line in the next few days. The steamer Bearport, which will load around 5000 tons of cargo here, is listed to arrive tomorrow. The steamer Cross Keys arrived this evening and will load about 4500 tons of freight here, including flour, wheat and lumber.

The steamer Wheatland Montana is due Monday to load for the Orient while 1500 tons of Tacoma cargo for the President Grant will be barged to Seattle for this vessel. Owing to the earthquake in Japan changing schedules, the Grant is late and will not come to Tacoma this voyage.

The steamer Steel Seafarer of the Isthmian Line was listed for arrival late tonight and the Colusa was expected at the smelter. The Seafarer is to load for the east coast and the Colusa is from South America.

On her first trip to Tacoma in the service of the Charles Nelson Company, the steamer Doylestown arrived late last night and sailed today for San Francisco. The Doylestown is a new vessel and on her last voyage was in the Orient. The vessel had considerable general cargo out this voyage.

Part Played by America in War Still Minimized

There still is a disposition among some of the allied peoples of Europe to minimize America's part in the World War, according to Dr. Henry Foote Perrin of 12 South Euclid avenue, who has just returned to Los Angeles after a several months' trip through Europe.

"The French feel that America came into the war too late," he says. "But it is noticeable that all European countries are glad to welcome the American tourist and his money. Conditions in Germany are not so bad as pictured in the newspapers over here; much of the distress you read about is merely German propaganda calculated to stir up antagonism against the French."

Among other interesting incidents of his tour Dr. Perrin cited a visit to the recent excavations at Naples into the ruins of Pompeii. While in France he also visited the tombs of Lafayette, Sarah Bernhardt, Dumas, Chopin and the Unknown Soldier. The Cathedral at Rheims, partially destroyed by German gunfire, is slowly being restored, he says.

Warrant Issued Here for Wife of School Head

Information that Mrs. Ida Owens Ward McCormick, who, it is asserted, left Chicago January 16, last, with $9000 belonging to the McCormick Medical College, is in Los Angeles, caused a warrant to be issued yesterday for her arrest.

Mrs. McCormick has been treasurer of the college of which her husband is president. The Chicago police say they believe she was accompanied to Los Angeles by a banker of Cloud county, Kansas.

Bail was fixed at $25,000 when the warrant for the woman's arrest was issued on complaint of William Black, secretary of the college.

Advices from Chicago say that telegrams have been sent to the Los Angeles police to apprehend Mrs. McCormick but at the detective bureau last night it was said that these messages had not been received.

THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS OF ABUSE IS CHARGED

In the thirty-eight years of their married life not a week passed during which her husband did not abuse her, Lydia M. Galbreath says in a divorce complaint filed yesterday against John E. Galbreath. Shortly after their marriage on March 14, 1886, she says, her husband began drinking and came home almost every evening intoxicated. Later he began to abuse her but their children came to her aid and he left her alone while they were about. Now that the children have grown up, she says, she is left more or less defenseless as they have left home. The couple separated last Tuesday.

COMPRESS READY SOON

Expect to Run Seventy Thousand Bales at Mexicali Plant

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICALI, Sept. 27.—The Mexicali compress, constructed especially to handle the Lower California cotton crop for shipment, is nearing completion this week. The work has been rushed in order to get the compress ready in time to prevent delay in the movement of the crop. It is estimated that nearly 70,000 bales of cotton will be compressed at the plant this season.

BREAK FROM COURT FAILS TO DEVELOP

Officers Had Tip Four Robber Convicts Planned Dash for Liberty

While twelve guards stood about Judge Reeve's courtroom yesterday waiting for the event, an expected break for liberty on the part of four defendants, convicted of robbery, failed to develop. The defendants are Peter Morelli, Antonio Morganellis, John Kopantis and A. E. Sprangler. Information had been obtained by Jailer Bailey of the County Jail that one of the four had offered to pay "trusties" inthe jail for a revolver. It was believed that an attempt to hold in the jail for a revolver. It was up the courtroom and escape was to be made.

Morelli, Morganellis and Kopantis were denied the right to file an application for probation and were sentenced to San Quentin for from one year to life. Spangler was allowed to file an application, but the court stated it was against his policy to grant probation to convicted robbers and intimated that the application would be denied.

The defendants were convicted of robbery of Mrs. H. B. Lull of the Bell Sweet Shop, Bell Station, on November 7, 1922, of $480.

Another expected outburst failed to develop when Jesse Taylor, notorious bandit, who is said to have committed thirty-nine robberies in and near Los Angeles, came into court. When Taylor went onto the Bridge of Sighs, connecting the jail and courtroom, the court ordered the bridge cleared. The same order was observed when the four other defendants arrived on the bridge.

Taylor, with his right eye black and his knuckles skinned, appeared meek. He said nothing while the court appointed Public Defender Aggeler to handle his case. He is accused of robbery. Taylor escaped from a moving train near Madera while being brought here from Folsom Prison to testify as a defense witness in the trial of a defendant accused of robbery. Time for entry of his plea was continued until October 1.

REFEREE IS NAMED FOR SUING WIFE

Community Property Rent Will be Divided Between Disagreeing Couple

The battle between Tyra B. Lees and Walter E. Lees could be settled only by the appointment of a referee, Judge Guerin decided yesterday, when both appeared again in court.

The two were married in 1894, and lived together until 1916, when Mrs. Lees obtained a divorce. They were remarried last March, and separated on August 1. Mrs. Lees alleges in her complaint that her husband nagged her continually and by reason of his constant mistreatment almost wrecked her health.

Community property valued at about $34,000 comprises a two-family flat dwelling at 547 North Kingsley Drive and a four-bungalow court at 812 Park View avenue. Pending settlement of the divorce action, neither was willing that the other should have anything to say about the disposition of the property.

Mrs. Lees had a concrete walk laid down by her contractor on one of the pieces of property, and her husband tore it up, she alleges. She attempted to rent the property, but because of her husband's "stubbornness, meanness, and bullheadedness," he allowed no one to move in, she says in an affidavit.

Judge Guerin appointed Willard L. Goodwin as receiver. Goodwin is to rent the properties and divide the returns equally.

CARD PLAYERS FINED WEREN'T UP ON LAW

J. J. Keegan and Thomas Rock have decided to take up an intensive study of the California gambling laws. An episode in Police Judge Sheldon's court yesterday hastened their decision. The two men were arrested Wednesday night by University police, charged with gaming. They appeared before Judge Sheldon. "What game were you playing?" inquired the Judge. "Just a friendly little game of blackjack," returned Keegan. "Blackjack?" repeated the Judge. The defendants nodded. "Well, that's too bad," returned the court. "I'll have to fine you $100 or 100 days. It's the State law." The Judge then explained that the penalty for poker playing is less than for blackjack. As they left the courtroom, Rock said to Keegan, "After this, we shoot craps."

TWO KILLED IN AUTO CRASHES

Wife of Lankershim Police Judge Hit by Train

Husband Seriously Injured at Hatteras Crossing

One Man Dead, Sixteen Hurt as Truck Overturns

Two persons were killed, five were seriously injured and twelve others suffered minor injuries in two accidents occurring late yesterday afternoon in Los Angeles.

Mrs. J. W. Dupree, wife of the Lankershim police judge, was killed and her husband was seriously injured when a Van Nuys Pacific Electric train, operated by Motorman J. D. Hall, struck their car yesterday afternoon as they were attempting to cross the tracks at Hatteras street, near Van Nuys.

The other accident occurred when a truck carrying laborers of the Western Constructing Company overturned in the 2500 block on Beachwood Drive. Seventeen men were injured, one of whom later died at the Golden State Hospital of a basal skull fracture, and one other of whom is not expected to live. The identity of the dead man could not be learned.

The laborers were Mexicans, who had been working on gas mains in the Hollywoodland tract, and were on their way to the carline when the truck overturned. They were first treated at the Emergency Hospital of Dr. Ferry and Dickey of 5300 Hollywood Boulevard and at the Hollywood Community Hospital, but were later removed to the Golden State Hospital, 423 Towne avenue.

The identified injured are Basilio Moreno, Francesca Caranza, Joe Garcia, Charles Yebawra, Jose Padia, Boniface Padia and Rafael Contreras.

Gerald Keenan, driver of the truck, suffered a fractured skull. He declared that the accident occurred when one of the Mexicans sitting beside him became frightened and grabbed his arm.

Motorman Hall of the Pacific Electric train which struck the car of Judge Dupree and his wife, declared that he blew his whistle repeatedly and that the signal at the Hatteras-street crossing was in operation, but that the driver of the car apparently was not aware that the train was approaching and drove across the tracks directly in its path.

The automobile was thrown about thirty feet and was wrecked. The train also was damaged. Judge Dupree was about 65 years of age and his wife, who was a confirmed invalid, about ten years younger.

HELD IN ATTACK CASE

Joe Franks, accused of a statutory offense against Minnie Eastman, 14 years of age, of Sawtelle, was lodged in the County Jail yesterday as a result of a complaint issued by a Sawtelle justice of the peace after investigation by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos. The girl charges that Franks took her for an automobile ride the 23rd inst. into Topanga Canyon and there attacked her.

LYMAN STEWART, FOUNDER OF UNION OIL, IS DEAD

Pioneer of Great California Industry Passes Away at Home Here from Broncho-Pneumonia

Lyman Stewart, a pioneer figure in the oil industry of California, founder and chairman of the board of directors of the Union Oil Company, died at his home, 353 Lafayette Park Place, at 12:40 o'clock this morning. He had been ill for about two weeks from an attack of acute bronchitis, which developed into broncho-pneumonia at the last. He had rallied from the first attack and seemed to be recovering until yesterday when a sudden relapse came and the end followed swiftly. He was in his eighty-fourth year.

For nearly sixty years Mr. Stewart was a dominant and picturesque figure in the oil world. Starting out in the industry three years before John W. Rockefeller did, Mr. Stewart early realized the potentialities of the undeveloped oil territory in California. More than once he faced complete ruin, but with the dogged determination of the western pioneer, he succeeded in building up the great organization of the Union Oil Company of California, today capitalized in excess of $100,000,000.

A loan of $10,000 made to Stewart by his lifelong friend, I. W. Hellman, is credited with putting the former on the road to success, after he had faced ruin when he sunk five dry holes in the neighborhood of Newhall and Santa Paula. His capital exhausted and his drilling tools lost, Stewart refused to give up, and with the aid of the loan, paved the way for extensive development of the Californian oil fields.

His knowledge of the oil industry was not obtained wholly from California, however, as for twenty years previous to his coming to the State, he had been associated with the industry in Pennsylvania.

BEGAN AS TANNER

Stewart began life as a tannery boy in his father's establishment. There he managed to save $100 which he invested in oil three months after Colonel Drake's first well came in. His investment was a success and from then on until 1862, when he enlisted in the Sixteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry with which regiment he served throughout the Civil War, he continued to delve into oil.

The war was the only interruption of his long years of activity in the oil industry. Following the war he devoted nearly a score of years in the Pennslyvanian fields, and being firmly convinced of the future of the industry, came to California, where he since had applied his knowledge of the game to the benefit of himself and his associates.

Since the foundation of the Union Oil Company of California, which had its humble beginning in the single well drilled at Newhall in 1883, Stewart held active control of the organization until a few years ago, when he gave over the leadership to his son, W. L. Stewart. However, Stewart had retained active control of the board of directors of the company until two weeks ago, when he first became ill.

IMMENSE BUSINESS

At the present time, the Union Oil Company is capitalized in excess of $100,000,000. It has more than 700,000 acres of oil land under its control, on which there are 600 producing wells with a daily average of 80,000 barrels.

Mr. Stewart is credited with building the first refinery in the State and the first to construct a tank vessel on the Pacific Coast. The latest of the company's vessels, the Lyman Stewart, now heads the large Union Oil fleet. Mr. Stewart, it is said, was also the first to fit the first oil-burning locomotive, in the early '80's.

Although a leader in the realm of big business, Stewart never failed to exercise a kindly supervision over the welfare of his employees, and in his public philanthropic acts, became almost as widely known as in his dealings in oil.

With his first wife, Mrs. Sarah Adelaide Burrows Stewart, who died in 1911, he was instrumental in creating the Bible Institute as it stands today. He was one of the principal financial backers of many churches and public and private charities.

In 1916 Mr. Stewart married a second time, the bride being Miss Lula May Crowell, who had been his personal secretary for eleven years previous. As a celebration of his wedding, Stewart made known that the Union Oil Company had adopted a plan of profit-sharing with its employees, by means of which every person who works in any capacity for the company would share directly in its prosperity.

At the time of his last illness, Mr. Stewart was on the eve of realizing his ambition of seeing the offices of his company moved into the new Union Oil Company skyscraper, which was recently constructed at Seventh and Hope streets.

Members in the immediate family of Mr. Stewart are his wife, two sons, W. L. Stewart and A. C. Stewart, the latter nationally known as the inventor of the Stewart speedometer; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, wife of a minister of Pasadena, and a brother, Milton Stewart, also of Pasadena.

BORN IN PENNSYLVANIA

Lyman Stewart was born July 22, 1840, in Cherrytree, Pa., near Titusville, the scene of the first discovery of oil in commercial quantities. After leaving school in 1859, for eight years young Stewart worked in his father's tannery. In 1859 he had saved enough money to make an investment in oil, the lure of which he had followed until his death.

That was three years before John D. Rockefeller entered the game. While Mr. Stewart has not been so widely known as Mr. Rockefeller, he has been as successful relatively and has showed an equal courage in the ups and downs of the game. Mr. Stewart's monument, the Union Oil Company of California, is one of the great institutions of the industry.

His first investment was of $125 for a one-eighth share in a small lease. When the Civil War started he enlisted in the Sixteenth Pennsylvania Cavalry, serving through the war and taking part in Grant's final campaign. He then returned home and again engaged in oil operations.

In the six years following the termination of the war he made $300,000, an average of $1000 a week, the biggest kind of money in those days. But soon after he engaged in an unsuccessful venture and lost every penny he had made. In 1872 he was "flat broke."

After this disaster, Mr. Stewart met W. L. Hardison, with whom he was connected in business for many years. They formed a partnership and were fairly successful at first in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Stewart came to California and in 1883 drilled his first well near Newhall. It was real pioneering, for the oil industry was supposed to be almost restricted to the East. California had only a few struggling wells, whose aggregate was not 100 barrels a day. Mr. Stewart increased his operations with varying success until he and Mr. Hardison, who also had come West, in partnership founded what is now the Union Oil Company.

With a limited capital of $135,000 all tied up in drilling equipment, Stewart sunk five wells near Newhall and Santa Paula. All proved failures. But he stuck at it. The Stewart-Hardison partnership was merged with two other concerns in 1890 into the Union Oil Company, and Mr. Stewart became president of the new company.

ROMANCE OF BUSINESS

The growth of the Union Oil and the genius of its founder is one of the West's great industrial romances. It was a battle at first to find a market for the black California oil. In the early Ventura days avalanches covered the company's derricks, and there were no end of difficulties in the tunneling under Sulphur Mountain and with the first days of the Second-street wells here in Los Angeles.

The Union Oil under Mr. Stewart's direction built the first oil

Bishop Raps City Council on Zoning Law

Introducing ecclestiastical Bolshevism!

Don't get excited. American ministers have not formed a soviet party, in spite of a perfectly legitimate progressive church movement and also in spite of the Socialistic tendencies of at least one well-known clergyman now "in our midst."

The Bolshevism referred to concerns a political move of an unknown propagandist whose action yesterday so enraged Rev. A. W. Shamel that he classed it as "a Bolshevistic trick to discredit the preachers of the Southern California Methodist Conference who are fighting for more democracy in Methodism."

Mr. Shamel was mad and there was Methodism in his madness. Mr. Shamel is pastor of the First Methodist Church at Huntington Beach and is editor of The Pastors Council, a paper which, since 1920, has been advocating the placing of the Methodist pastors of America in control of the legislative body of the General Conference which meets quadrennially.

BALLOT SLIP

Yesterday morning the 350 pastors attending the Southern California Conference at the First Methodist Church were surprised to find in their mail boxes a printed slip containing the names of nine clergymen, with the suggestion that eight of these men be supported as delgates to the General Conference which meets next May at Springfield, Mass.

The names of the men, for whom support is apparently desired by the unknown propagandist, are as folows: Dr. Francis Larkin, editor of the California Christian Advocate; Rev. Merle N. Smith, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Pasadena; Rev. G. B. Oxnam, pastor of the Church of all Nations; Rev. A. W. Shamel, of the First M. E. Church of Huntington Beach; Rev. John G. Hill, professor of religious education at University of Southern California; Rev. C. A. Kent, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Upland; Rev. Frank Stevens, pastor of the First M. E. Church at Fresno; Rev. G. H. Warmer, of the First Church at Bakersfield, and Rev. G. B. Cliff, pastor of the Redlands Methodist Church.

Balloting on the election of ministerial delegates to the general conference will start at the First Methodist Episcopal Church at 9 a.m. today, while the lay electoral conference will start this morning at the First Congregational Church. The ministers will elect eight delegates, and the laymen's association will also elect eight.

Rev. Shamel and the other ministers whose names were found on the printed slip declared that no authority had been given to anyone to issue such a ticket. Mr. Shamel said that the "guilty party" had issued the ticket with a pretense of upholding the "progressives," but that his underlying motive was to make it appear that these men are ambitious for office, which would have a tendency to create prejudice against them.

TO BREAK CONTROL

The struggle in the conference, which is also being carried on in all district conferences in the United States, is between the pastors and the conference officials, with the exception of the bishops, who have no vote. Until 1920 the general conferences were controlled by the delegations composed of district superintendents and the "detached men," the latter being elected at the general conference to executive and administrative offices. The pastors of the progressive group contend that the pastors and not the officials should entirely control the legislation at the general conference.

Telegraphic reports received yesterday from twenty-five of the sixty-one conferences now being conducted throughout the country reveal the fact that since 1920 the pastors' delegated membership to the general conference has gained by thirty-seven, and that the pastors now have a majority of fifty-seven members over the administrative and executive officials.

Among the measures which the progressive Methodist pastors of the country desire to promote, according to Mr. Shamel, are the following: Election of a pastors' and laymen's delegation to the

Melodramatic Scenes in Raid as Woman Gives Battle to Officers; Eight Are Arrested

Sweeping down upon the 500-acre Henry ranch, two miles southeast of Walnut yesterday, George Contreras and nine deputy sheriffs surprised in full operations one of the largest distilleries ever constructed in this district.

Scenes of melodramatic excitement followed. Men leaped from the second-story window of the large ranch house, and from the upper floors of two adjacent barns. Two ran down a near-by ravine, but were halted by Deputy Sheriff Chanders, who fired a shotgun at them. Others ran from the backdoor into the arms of waiting deputies.

Mrs. Julia Dragina, wife of Tom Dragina, who operates the ranch, fiercely resisted the entrance of the officers. She was armed with a large club, and landed blows on several of the deputies before she was overpowered.

Finally, seven men and Mrs.

ships and seventy-eight lives have been lost during 1923
North Pacific, or on the reefs along its shores. Countless theories propounded as to the causes of these disasters, ranging from and freak currents to "radio interference" and the deep-sea ever present in the superstitious mind of the off-shore sailor.

Out of this mass of discussion come two clear-cut explanations of these numerous founderings, fires and groundings.

"It's the law of averages," says Capt. Herman M. Weimers, skipper of Pacific windjammers. "The Pacific Coast today has more traffic on its sea lanes than any other trade routes in the world. These accidents have not been at all excessive in comparison to the growing trade."

OPERATION BLAMED

"Failure to observe the fundamentals of safe navigation," quite tersely says Norman F. Titus, claim agent for the McCormick Steamship Company and an authority on navigation and salvage operations. Mr. Titus strongly recommends greater application of the old-fashioned "lead" and less excessive speed in fog-bound, current-infested channels of coast navigation.

A list of the year's marine disasters proves graphically that with one possible exception, both Capt. Weimers and Mr. Titus are right.

LIFE HANGS ON DICE OF FATE

Strange Contradictions Mark Heated Trial of Man Charged With Slaying of "Crap" Game Winner

Wham! And the dice of fate rolled on the courtroom table. In reality, it was a murder trial. Theoretically, it was a game of dice with the life of A. F. Champion as the stake, played in the courtroom of Superior Judge Hardy yesterday. And from the dice box rolled many tell-tale points—points for Champion, points for the prosecutor.

An alibi for the defendant, laid by three surprise witnesses; two prosecution witnesses with identical names who contradicted each other's story; two separate dead bodies, each said to be the body of the murdered man and each body in different locations—these were the points claimed by the defense.

The arrest of the three surprise witnesses on charges of perjury; three prosecution witnesses who declared they witnessed the murder of James E. Goldy by Champion—these were the points scored by the prosecutor.

WINNER KILLED

Goldy was shot to death in a "crap" game on January 10, 1922. He was the winner and he played his roll. He "shot a seven," won Champion's wad. Witnesses declared Champion did not shoot with the dice. He shot with a revolver and Goldy fell dead.

Champion was arrested in Cleveland a few months ago, after his wife had killed a man and had been sentenced to prison for the murder, and was extradited to Los Angeles for trial. He closed his defense yesterday and his argument for his life was in progress when court adjourned.

"Wham! And I makes my point."

So thought Champion when his pretty red-haired cousin was called to the witness stand. Accordng to her testimony, Champion could not have been the man who killed Goldy in Los Angeles. She declared she saw him in Fort Worth, Tex., on that day. The defendant's white-haired mother and father also testified that he was in Fort Worth on January 10, 1922.

The mother first saw him as he stood in the frame of her front door at twilight. She did not know why he had come home.

Dept. Dist.-Atty. Clark took the dice box of fate. First shake—and up rolled a seven. It was but a

Colorado Explorers Scheduled to Reach Diamond Creek Today; Wife of Engineer Confident

Somewhere between the rocky walls of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, hemmed in by towering precipices, buffeted by whirling rapids, and besieged by the swollen currents of the third largest river in America, is a party of government engineers. Whether they are still victorious in their battle against the united forces of unyielding rock and turbulent waters, or whether they are added to the long list of the Colorado's victims is as uncertain as the mood of the treacherous stream.

Today the answer may come. From Diamond Creek, where the party of adventurers is due to arrive today, word may come which will relieve the tension under which the families and friends of the explorers and officials of the United States Geological Survey have been living for days, ever since the big river went on its annual rampage.

Mrs. LaRue, wife of E. C. LaRue, second in command of the party, and Mrs. Maria Freeman, mother of Lewis R. Freeman, author and lecturer, who is with the party, at their homes in Pasadena are patiently but anxiously awaiting the word which will end the suspense. Leniency Not to be Shown Motorist Who Doesn't Keep to Right Under New Law

Motorists in Los Angeles city and county who fail to observe the section of the new California Vehicle Act which requires the driver of a vehicle to keep on the right half of the highway, and close to the right-hand edge of it, are going to receive an immediate shock.

In a conference yesterday is was decided to call the attention of the motoring public to this provision of the law by definite action.

Local authorities have decided that the average automobilist has had ample time to become acquainted with this feature of the new rule and leniency is to be discontinued.

According to Capt. McDowell, in charge of the traffic division of the police department, officers have been instructed to make arrests of motorists who ignore this requirement.

Capt. Cannon of the Los Angeles county motor patrol yesterday stated that throughout the county arrests will follow any violations of this provision.

Officials of the Auto Club of Southern California state that a number of complaints have been received by that organization from careful drivers, who declare that failure to observe Section 122, which deals with driving on the right-hand side of the highway, has been the indirect cause of what might have been serious auto accidents. Club officers point out that the motoring public should endeavor to become acquainted with every provision of the new Vehicle Act and abide by it closely.

FLUTIST HELPS RADIO CONCERT

Marguerite Anderson and Ensemble Feature

Present Program of Light Opera Selections

Maude Rockwell Pleases With Vocal Solos

BY BEN A. MARKSON

The next time you hear the instrumental ensemble in Stillwell's Union Cafeteria it may be interesting for you to recall that Marguerite de Forest Anderson, flutist, made her debut in London with orchestra accompaniment and then was presented at court, giving a recital for royalty. Her renown as a soloist has been credited by many critics to the exquisite tone coloring which she has developed.

Appearing last night at the Court of Radioland, Marguerite de Forest Anderson and her ensemble favored with a splendid program of operatic selections, chiefly the excerpts from favorite light operas, such as "Chimes of Normandy" and "Bohemian Girl." Then, too, there were scores from "Carmen," by Bizet, and overture, "Orpheus," by Offenbach.

The ensemble was composed of Marguerite de Forest Anderson, flutist; Anne Weiseman, violinist; Kitty Benter, pianist; Harriet Semecke, cellist, and Lauros Milligan, bass.

PLAYS WITH CELLIST

By request the flutist and cellist, with ensemble accompaniment, played Titl's bewitching "Serenade."

Maude Rockwell, soprano, was vocalist of the program, singing with ensemble accompaniment. She is a native Californian, who has concertized widely and who is now engaged in teaching.

Her singing was a brilliant feature of the program, listeners-in being impressed by sympathetic and musical qualities of her voice. "Il Bacia," by Arditti; "Forgotten," by Cowles; "Waiting," by Millard, and "Glow Worm," by Lincke, were included in her offerings.

Two programs, noon and matinee, were presented by pupils of the Davis Musical College, representing the piano department under the direction of Dr. Eugene E. Davis, the violin department under Sol Cohen, and Miss Margaret Davis of the cornet and saxophone department.

CHILD WONDER PLAYS

The noon broadcast was given by Maxine Martin, "child wonder pianist," and Miss Helen Weiss, violinist. The young pianist played remarkably, rendering "Minuet," by Paderewski, and "Moments Musical," by Schubert. The violinist was excellent in "Madrigal," by Simonetti, and "Cradle Song," by Brahms.

The matinee program was opened by Miss Vera McLean, pianist, who favored with "Valse Poetique," by Friml, and "Ballade in A Flat," by Chopin.

Helen Weiss, violinist, appeared on this program also. She is a pupil of Sol Cohen. "Adoration," by Barowski, and "Souvenir," by Drdla, were her matinee offerings.

Margaret Davis gave skillful and entertaining cornet and saxophone music. Cornet solos were "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," by Saint-Saens, and "La Cinquantaine," by Gabriel Marie. "La Golondrina" was a saxophone number.

Nessie Brodie, contralto, pupil of Mrs. Eugene E. Davis, sang sweetly "I Love You," by Sobeski, and "If All the Skies" by Hoffman.

Jubilee singers from the First Methodist Episcopal Church were broadcast by line telephony from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

The children's hour entertainment was given by Keith Ballard, pianist, 6 years of age, and Margaret Hochuil, reader, 14 years of age.

RECEPTION PLANNED ON SHIP

City of Los Angeles Issues Invitation to Those Planning Hawaiian Tour to Dance on Liner

Meeting the cumulative requests of those contemplating voyages to the Hawaiian Islands and especially for those who plan to join the Chamber of Commerce excursion party which will visit the coral isles in November, an afternoon reception and an evening dance aboard the liner City of Los Angeles at her pier at the harbor are announced for October 4.

According to the plans just made public, a reception will be conducted aboard the liner—the largest flying the American flag on the Pacific—from 3 until 5 in the afternoon. This reception is for those who will be unable to visit the liner in the evening.

EVENING EVENT

Promptly at 5 p.m. the ship will be closed, but will again be opened at 7:30 p.m. for the evening event, admittance to which may be obtained only by ticket. These tickets may be obtained without charge upon application either at the Chamber of Commerce or at the offices of the Los Angeles Steamship Company at 517 South Spring street.

During both the afternoon and the evening the entire ship will be thrown open to the public when the guests will be shown everything aboard the liner from the huge engines to the various state rooms, saloons, gymnasium, pilot house and other features of the liner, which in their completeness provide all the comforts and conveniences of the largest land hotel and which make life at sea complete in every detail.

TWO ORCHESTRAS

Two orchestras will furnish the music during the evening. One, the ship's five-piece jazz orchestra, will play on the large after deck of the vessel, from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. A second orchestra will furnish entertainment in the main saloon for those who do not care to dance. Light refreshments will be furnished throughout the evening.

For the convenience of those who will be unable to make the trip to the harbor by automobile to attend the evening dance a special train will leave the Pacific Electirc depot in Los Angeles at 7 p.m. carrying the guests to the steamship company's pier at Wilmington and returning to Los Angeles at the conclusion of the festivities.

Fails to Appear in Court to Face Bigamy Charges

After Richard B. Francois had been brought back here from New York to face charges of bigamy and grand larceny, and had furnished bail of $2500 through a surety company, he failed to appear in Judge Hardy's court yesterday. Upon motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney the bail was declared forfeited and a bench warrant was issued for Francois. Bail was then increased to $5000 on each information.

Francois is charged with having married Miss Blanche Uniack of 722 South Alvarado street on July 1, 1922, while still the husband of Mrs. Lillian B. Francois. He is also charged with having left his bride within ten days and taking with him jewelry belonging to her and valued at $2500.

Realtors From Los Angeles to Attend Meeting

Several hundred delegates from Los Angeles will attend the nineteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate Association at Sacramento from October 10 to 13. Many of these are expected to join the automobile caravan which will leave here for the capital before the opening of the convention.

It is predicted by officials of the local board that at least 1000 realtors from all sections of the State will be present at the convention, and that Los Angeles will have by far the largest representation. The program includes numerous entertainment features, and wives of many of the realtors are expected to accompany their husbands to the convention city.

EXECUTOR IS NAMED FOR GYPSY WILL

Administrator Appointed by Court to Handle Property of George Thompson

The petition of Mary Thompson that Steve Uwanawich be appointed administrator of the estate of her late husband, George Thompson, leader of a gypsy band, was granted by Judge Paul V. McCormick yesterday, who fixed Uwanawich's bond at $2200. The administrator is a member of the gypsy band.

Thompson, who is said to have organized a rather loose gypsy league among bands all over the country, for which he acted as business adviser, came to Southern California with his group last spring, and settled down at Compton. He died there on August 27. The petition names the widow, and Leo, Nick, George, Steve, Mike, Lio, Rosie and Catherine Thompson, children of the union, as heirs.

The estate is estimated at about $20,000, being composed of $11,236 deposited in the First National Bank, Albany, N. Y., $2400 in a bank in Springfield, Ill., and personal property.

Keyes Discusses Graft Charges With Mallard

In consequence of the graft charges made by Councilman Mallard in a recent Council meeting and the request of other members of the City Council for an investigation, Mr. Malard had a conference with Dist.-Atty. Keyes yesterday. It lasted about an hour and a half. When he came out the Councilman said:

"I simply discussed matters with Mr. Keyes and don't know what his action will be. I am perfectly willing to go before the grand jury if Keyes wishes me to."

"I have had a long conference with Mr. Malard," said the District Attorney, "and am proceeding with the investigation. I am going to investigate in my own way and if I get sufficient evidence I will take it before the grand jury. It will not be presented immediately."

Bus Line From California to Kansas Starts

Going to aKnsas?

Just walk down to the corner and catch the bus.

An auto bus line, operating on regular schedule has been established between Long Beach and Wichita, Kan., and the first trip begins October 1, with the bus scheduled to be back here in readiness for the next journey twenty-two days later.

Dewey Kuehl, Salvation Army band boy, from Wichita, has become the pioneer back-East bus driver and with his big white Cunningham bus, has established a regular service for Kansans who want to go home, and for Kansans who want to come to California.

The route will be via the Old National Trails highway and Kuehl expects to maintain an average speed of twenty-five miles for the journey, he said.

SINGERS TO RESUME

Now that "The Wayfarer" is over, Everybody's Community Sing will resume weekly meetings this evening at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. W. E. Herendeen, who took the part of the shepherd in the Wayfarer, is director. The Sing had a vacation of several weeks on account of the big Coliseum production.

CAFE HEAD REMOVED, SUES FOR DAMAGES

Declaring that a partnership agreement had been arranged under which he was to manage their cafe on West Fifth street at a salary of $50 a week, John Chimes brought suit yesterday for $2850 damages against Mrs. Helena B. Berry and her brother-in-law, who, he asserted, removed him as manager.

According to Chimes's contention, Mrs. Berry closed the cafe in July and when it was reopened within a few days, she and the brother-in-law refused to allow him to continue.

Dear Mr. Daggett:--

I was amused today to learn that some of my numbers, such as Marcheta, and Just an Old Love Song, were among those which you are not able to use over your radio, according to the ruling of the Society of Authors, Composers and Publishers.

This is news to me, as I am certainly not in sympathy with any move that would stand in the way of radio as I spend most of my evenings listening to the other fellow's efforts broadcasted by radio.

You have my full permission to use any of my writings at any time over your radio.

CONTINUOUS SHOW

Almost any day a peace ship may be expected in the offing—or whatever it is they call the Los Angeles River—on a mission to restore harmony in the City Council. It does seem that embroilment is continuous in that body. Must we always be investigating somebody?

AN AERIAL JITNEY

A Bavarian inventor is said to have introduced a flying glider of five horsepower that can scoot through the heavens at the rate of eighty miles an hour with only a fifteen-foot spread. On occasion it can fold its wings and pass through city streets as an auto or it can turn itself into a hydroplane and cross quite a large expanse of roughened water. If some Henry Ford could get this thing into quantity production we would all be buzzards inside of a week.

COLLEGE FISTICUFFS

There will be no intercollegiate boxing tournaments so far as the University of Southern California is concerned. The students may be trained in the noble science of self-defense, but they will not be encouraged to go abroad and exchange wallops with the battlers of other institutions. It savors too much of strife. At the same time, let no Berkeley bruiser seek to pick on the humblest student on the Los Angeles campus. It may be like picking up a hot tarantula.

CONSISTENCY, THE JEWEL

The friends of Senator Johnson are making considerable ado over the fact that some one published a private letter written by Senator Johnson without Senator Johnson's consent. In the course of their efforts to prove the enormity of this offense the Johnson newspapers are daily printing the private correspondence of the various persons whom they accuse of the "conspiracy"—without the consent of the writers. That of course is different. One of the main differences is that the Johnson letter proved something.

HOSPITAL WANTS

Los Angeles claims to have surpassed St. Louis in population, yet there are three or four hospitals in the Missouri city, each of which exceeds the combined capacity of the Los Angeles institutions—save for the General Hospital. Detroit is not much larger than Los Angeles, yet its hospital capacity is at least five times as great as that of this city. There should be at least one institution here of commanding rank and magnitude. As it is, even emergency cases have to be bandied between four or five small institutions before proper quarters may be found.

WRONG IMPRESSIONS

The League commission for an international regulation of the traffic in firearms is unable to obtain any support from the United States. It is desired to have a world understanding in the creation and disposition of artillery and ammunition as a part of the program for gradual world disarmament, but Uncle Sam is unwilling to participate. If there is another war there is warrant for the belief that every effort will be made to fix the blame on the United States and it may be possible to build up a strong argument in that direction. Uncle Sam is always ready to furnish the fireworks. There would be blame to that extent at least.

NO SMOKING ALLOWED

At the recent sessions of the Anti-Alcoholic Congress there was every intimation that tobacco would be associated with alcohol as a menace to the world and something to be warred against without compromise. There are now various organizations crusading against tobacco, but another is being formed—the Nonsmokers' Protective League, which already has over 2000 members in the East and is furnishing a number of salaried jobs to professional Galahads. It seems that people who do not smoke are entitled to protection from those who do. Whether this shall be achieved by having all smokers shot or by making the cultivation of tobacco a crime makes but little difference to the league. They want protection. Barney Oldfield and Theodore Roberts are willing to compromise. They suggest that the government order all tobacco to be burned and they promise to stand by and see that the thing is accomplished, but there are others who bluntly tell the reformers to go chase themselves. If the world is to be equipped with smoke consumers they insist that they will be of the human pattern. Those who do not like their smoke can keep away. They do not take much stock in the doctors who assert that nicotine is such a deadly poison that a drop carelessly left on a pine shingle in Ohio will kill a hairy walrus off the coast of Alaska. They aver that more men have died from eating than smoking and that, if they want to commit suicide with a nickel's worth of cigars, they should be suffered to go their way. At this moment it cannot be said that the prospects for a smokeless world are overly bright, but that will not dismay the blithe crusaders holding down the chairs in the office of the Nonsmokers' League.

GERMANY WAS

Germany is apparently engaged at present in the double feat of breaking down and breaking up.

By the same cables came the announcement of the edict of the Stresemann government ordering a cessation of passive resistance, of the formation of a separatist government in the Rhineland and of an ultimatum of the Communist party announcing the intent of the Reds to overthrow the government and establish a soviet dictatorship.

It is plain that the German government and people have reached the end of the trail. There is no charted course for them to follow. The central government hardly exists, except on paper. Bavaria is dominated by the monarchists, Prussia by the radicals, most of whom are Communists. The Rhine provinces have passed under the control of France and Belgium.

History has moved with gigantic strides in Central Europe. Ten years ago the German government was the strongest single military power in the world. That government now has no more control over what is commonly called German territory than the government of China over its domain.

Disintegration is taking place in Central Europe almost as rapidly as it did in Russia after 1919. So weak has the government become that all hopes of securing a foreign loan have gone glimmering. No one would care to trust it with so much as a second-hand flivver. In fact, the term German government has ceased to be more than a pleasant fiction.

But the serious fact remains that there are still 68,000,000 Germans in Europe. It is one thing to destroy a government and another thing to destroy a people. One may change one's flag, but not one's race. The French flag flies over the Ruhr; but it flies over a German people. Germany may turn Communist; but it will still be Germany.

What is going to be the effect of the practical collapse of the German government? That question is awakening apprehensions in the capital of every great power. The Times can but repeat what it said editorially a month ago: Representative government in Central Europe has ceased to exist; and the main issue is whether the government which succeeds it will be white or red.

France has accomplished its purpose in breaking the last force of resistance of the German government. Its armies are dictating terms to more than 60,000,000 unorganized people. That which the French desired and the English feared has come to pass.

For the present the French are in the ascendancy and their strengthened position has been attested by a sharp advance in the exchange value of the French franc. But the future alone can prove whether the victory, purchased at the price of destroying representative government in Central Europe, is one from which enduring benefits can accrue. The French went into the Ruhr for the ostensible purpose of collecting reparations. In that they failed; but they have broken down the governmental resistance of Germany; and they have converted the Ruhr, for the time being, practically into a French province.

They have separated the Ruhr and Rhineland from the rest of Germany by forming a local government under French control, similar to the British occupation of Egypt. They will build a tariff wall about the new state, permitting only French goods to enter free of duty. The railroads and post-office will be a part of the French system.

In short, the French are doing on the east of the Rhine what Napoleon did during the years of his dictatorship.

But there is a new force in Europe: radicalism. It is applied Socialism; and it is the most destructive governmental force known to modern history. It gathers about fallen governments like gangrene about a wound.

At the present it looks as though the Germans are being driven into the arms of the Russian Communists; and it must be remembered that these two peoples comprise almost two-thirds the population of Europe. That is the menace which England fears. The French have been content to beat their former victorious enemy into the dust. For the pleasure of sitting on the German's chest France has been willing to risk the consequences of a war with Communism.

If the French had really gone into the Ruhr seeking reparations the collapse of orderly government in Germany would have meant a disappointment of all their hopes. But to the world outside it was plain that reparations was only the pretext. The real cause of that occupation was to so weaken Germany as a world power that she would no longer be a menace to French security. Perhaps they have succeeded; for it is plain that German industry at least has committed suicide.

NO? NEITHER HAVE WE

Good morning, Mr. Taxpayer; have you read the answer of the Board of Public Service Commissioners to the sixty-eight questions asked the board by Mayor F. L. Parker of San Fernando and a heavy Los Angeles taxpayer as to what it has done with the millions of dollars it has received from the taxpayers and consumers for the municipal Power Bureau? You have not read the answers? Then you are in the same position as every other taxpayer in Los Angeles, all of whom have contributed to date to the Power Bureau more than $25,000,000 in bonds and more than $6,000,000 in cash from increased taxation, together with a recent loan of $500,000 from your city treasury, for the board still refuses to answer the questions asked on the taxpayers' behalf by Mayor Parker. The board is preparing to ask the taxpayers for, oh, just another $50,000,000 or so, and, remember, the board answers no questions as to whether or not it has spent the millions it has already had wisely and well or whether its rule has been to spend millions for political ownership propaganda and comparatively little for the actual needs of the power department.

IN AGAIN, OFF AGAIN

Senator Johnson's inky guardians are trying hard to keep him afloat. Dispatches from Washington and San Francisco couched in almost identical words say that "the attempted plot to ruin his political career may force him into the Presidential race."

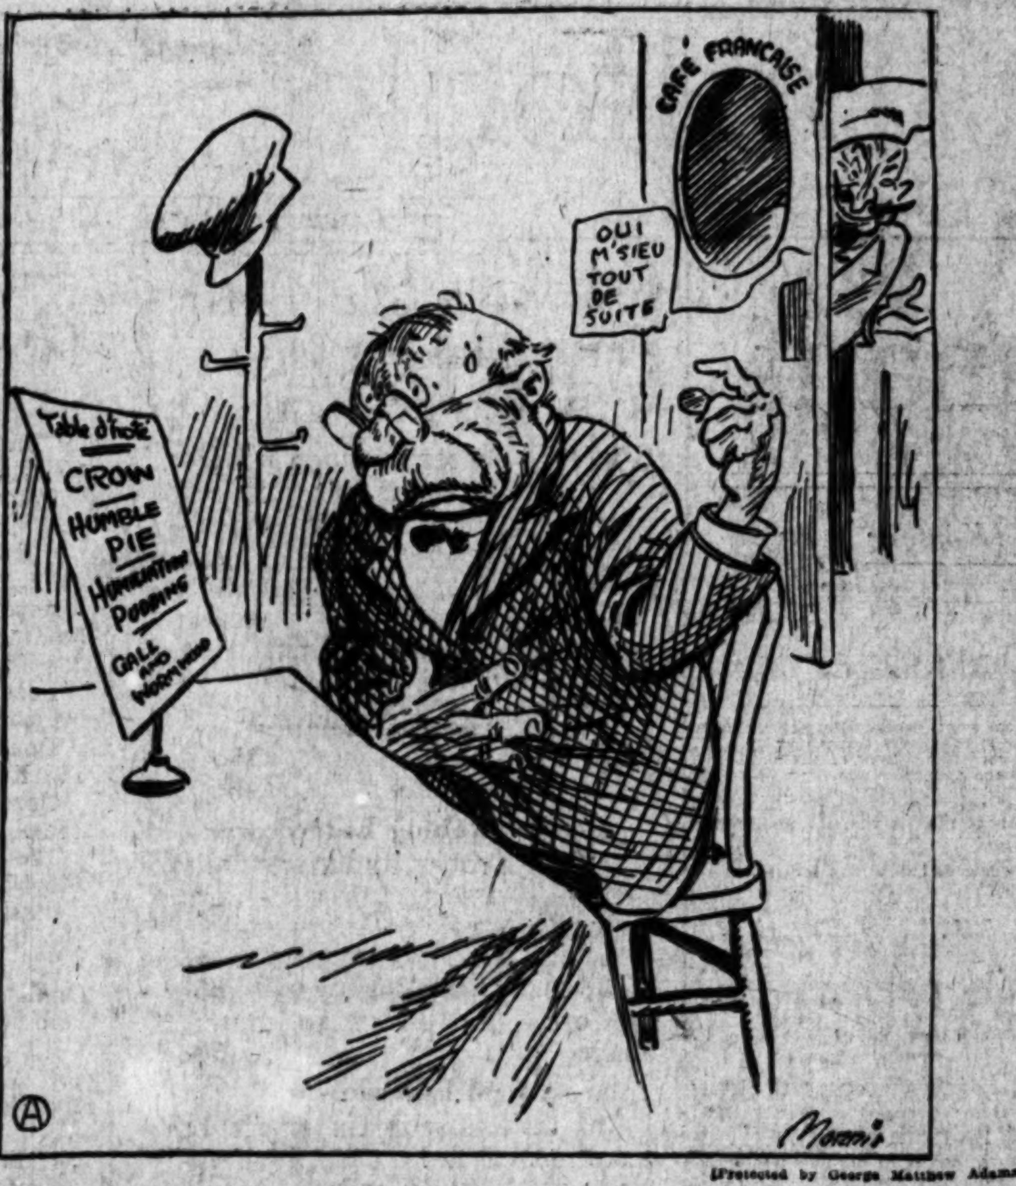
So far as is now known the only "plot" was furnished by himself and consists merely of a letter in which he foolishly criticised the character and capacity of his supporters in Southern California and conceded his own waning popularity in his State.

Certainly there would be no great demand on the part of the American public that Hiram run for anything on the strength of that letter. Yet, while the Senator's press agencies collaborate in their Washington and San Francisco information, Senator Johnson himself tells the citizens of the Los Angeles district—through his local organs: "We intend in the Presidential primary to elect a progressive delegation to represent California in the Republican National Convention."

It had been previously given out that the progressive delegation would be one that was not merely to vote for Johnson on the first ballot, but would be sewed up so tight that it could not possibly escape. The Progressive registration for the last primary shrank to but a fraction of its former strength, yet Hiram expects to tie up the Republican State Convention with his Progressive following and obtain iron-clad instructions for himself.

For one who has admitted his own wasted strength in California and who has ridiculed the quality of his Los Angeles support he is indicating a political hardihood that is almost in the ivory class. Apparently, the Senator only seeks a Johnson delegation in order to convince himself that his judgment was wrong.

Germany Decides to Eat



[Protected by George Matthew Adams]

A DIVIDED HOUSE—AND SENATE

On the latest return trip of the Leviathan the huge liner included in her passenger list seven of the prominent members of the American Senate and House who had been touring Europe after the manner of our army of statesmen.

Like other legislators who have returned from the grand tour, they are hopelessly divided in their opinions. On the face of things, one might be excused for asserting that it doesn't do any good for a United States Senator to see anything with his own eyes.

For instance, the distinguished Senator from Tennessee is quoted as saying that all the governments of Europe are at each other's throats. Hatred of each other is the dominant characteristic and they are all planning for war.

On the other hand, the eminent Senator from Virginia, who followed the same path of travel, declares with emphasis that Europe is thoroughly war-weary and there isn't a fight left in the people.

The further embarrassment is that most of the solons who have gone abroad are filled with ideas that they wish to incorporate in the law of the land or the policy of the administration. There are questions of reparations, immigration, occupation, limitation and affiliation enough to precipitate consternation over the rest of the nation.

It looks as if the verbal output of the next session of Congress might hope to break all known records for verbosity. The blind men of Hindustan who went to see the elephant gave a fair imitation of the United States Senate in action.

BARE SKIN FOR HEALTH

The campus of the University of California should present a rare and ennobling spectacle the coming semester. For one learns that the devotees of the higher learning have likewise dedicated themselves to the cult of beauty. While wrestling with calculus and political economy the students have decided on the type of costume that must be worn if the studious one desires to be in the swim.

Co-eds will elect a type of costume that will enable the skin to breathe, according to Dr. Ruby Cunningham, the women students' physician. "The more skin we bare the better it is for us," she avers, which statement should start a stampede under the Sather gate.

The sleeveless costume that has aroused the ire of eastern employment managers gets nothing but commendation from the woman physician. While they are assimilating knowledge let their pores drink in plenty of fresh air, she advises. Short skirts, low necks and sleeveless dresses will be the vogue in college circles in the north.

But the men do not intend to be outdone in the search for sartorial elegance. Golf knickers and marcels are de rigeur for campus sheiks. Last year it was the sleekly greased and brushed Valentino hair cut, but the vogue of this fashion is ended. Co-eds find great difficulty in making appointments at beauty parlors, because the boys use up the operators' time getting their locks suitably marcelled. Many a mother would not recognize her straight-locked son if she could drop in on him unannounced and observe his newly acquired crinks. Great are the advantages of a higher education.

SHAVED EYEBROWS

John Lewis was appearing in an Oakland court in an attempt to regain the custody of his three children from his divorced wife. Everything was going beautifully and witnesses had testified to his sterling character and exemplary life when the judge was seen to give a muffled gurgle of surprise and gaze fixedly at the plaintiff's face.

"Mr. Lewis," he gasped in horror, "do you shave your eyebrows?" And he switched his bench light full in the gentleman's face and examined at his leisure the two fine lines that denoted where the eyebrows once had been.

A titter went around the courtroom that changed to loud guffaws when the owner of the eyebrows snapped back, "Yes! I suppose a man has the right to do what he wants with his own face." The judge concurred with this statement, but it will probably cost the dandified Mr. Lewis the custody of his offspring. For Judge Kinsell announced that he would take the case under advisement, as he would have to ponder long and earnestly the question in his mind as to whether a man who shaved his eyebrows was fit to have the care of children.

The judge feels that he has unwittingly uncovered one of the sore spots of modern civilization. For the amount of money and time spent by the male sex in burnishing up their fatal beauty is getting to be a tremendous item. It would not be surprising if it did not have much to do with the steadily mounting divorce statistics. For, just as the funny papers used to love to call attention to the incontestable fact that many a romance withered when the masculine partner got his first view of the elaborate beauty treatments of milady, so does the wife's devotion cool at the spectacle of the lord of the manor with his face covered with plain old Fuller's earth at $1 a bottle. When the children see papa nipping out his eyebrows with tweezers and searching frantically for his powder puff they can't be expected to have the same reverence for his views as for the old-fashioned parent who didn't care whether his face looked like a patchwork quilt as long as he was known as a good provider.

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

Hammered Copper

From the very remotest times copper has been a favorite with metal workers.

The Assyrians, Egyptians, Persians and Greeks were all fine metal workers and claim some of the best specimens of the art, including a hand-hammered copper statue of Pepi I, a great Egyptian King who reigned in 2600 B.C.

Another great work of art is the Great Gate of Shalmaneser II, an Assyrian king contemporary with Ahab of Bible times.

The British Museum contains a masterpiece of hand-hammered copper known as The Sirus—a pair of shoulder pieces for a suit of armor, picturing a Greek warrior and an Amazon in combat.

Scores of European cities—particularly in Belgium—have beautiful statuary, roof ornamentations and other large pieces of hand-hammered copper.

Here is a pointer for Hiram Johnson: President Coolidge has written very, very little.

Everybody seems to be worrying about the political prospects of President Coolidge but "Cal" himself.

It is reported that the Russians have occupied the Persian port of Enzeli. We have heard Simla reports before.

Doesn't it beat all how Bulgaria, who is unable to pay her war debt, can muster enough of the sinews of war to wage hostilities?

Why not throw up a twenty-four-foot ring in the City Council chamber? Who will be the Luis Angel Firpo among the city fathers?

With a prospect that the Ruhr occupation will soon be settled the German mark is looking up. This comes from the fact that it has been flat on its back.

David Lloyd George, who may come to the United States next month, says he wants to see some of the antiquities of the country. Boy, page the Los Angeles City Hall.

It looks as if Germany would be able to float a mammoth loan in this country, amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars. The bricklayers and hod carriers have come to the rescue.

A New York court has decided that a certain lunatic in the Buffalo State Asylum for the Insane must have his name on the primary ballot. The voters of Los Angeles have long ago appropriated the right to put crazy folks into office.

San Francisco will have two weeks of real grand opera, with many of the Metropolitan Theater singing stars. The town is getting to be quite highbrow. It used to be satisfied with "Uncle Tom's Cabin" or "No Mother to Guide Her."

We do not pretend to be a diplomat, but for the life of us we are unable to see the difference between Mussolini occupying Corfu and France holding down the Ruhr. Meanwhile, M. Poincare has not indicated a date when he will leave the German territory.

The statement is made that the Pullman car people are to change the interior of their cars so that the occupants of the upper berths can get their clothes on in the morning without standing on their heads. This announcement should make snappy reading for the weary traveler who has fought a hard battle with his clothes in an upper berth.

THIS IS THE DAY

By passage of an act of Congress flogging was abolished in the United States Navy and in merchant ships of the United States in the year 1850.

THE "PUG" COMPLEX

BY ALMA WHITAKER

"Oh, yes, I was once engaged to Kid McCoy. You see, in my set I am considered an authority on prize fighters and no one would ever believe I knew them all if I hadn't been at least engaged to the Kid."

This from a vivacious, bobbed-haired, young newspaper woman, now of New York, but formerly of Denver and San Francisco.

She is obviously intelligent, attractive, chic, sophisticated—but she dotes on pugilists. She says it is Fate and Destiny—she just naturally gravitates their way. She eloped with a famous one when she was only about 15. She admits that it was too strenuous to last. If only she could have kept him in a kennel at the bottom of the garden all might have been well. As it was, it ended in a perfectly gentlemanly divorce.

It began when papa made her read the prize-fight news to him round by round when she was 12 years old. She learned their language, grew up with their psychology. Prize fighters became the most important men in the world to her. Then "another little roughneck like myself," as she tells it, became lightweight champion, international distinction from out her own crowd.

But today it is difficult to associate this petite, vivacious, clever and highly successful woman writer with prize fighters. She doesn't look a bit like that.

"Do tell me why you like prize fighters," I wanted to know.

"Oh, they are so adorably sympathetic when your pet canary dies. I knew one who carried a sparrow for blocks and returned it safe to the bosom of its family. And they are so good to their mothers. It must be wonderful to be the mother of a prize fighter," she mused sentimentally.

"Yes, but . . . well, when he—the one you eloped with—came home all battered up, with thick ears and bulging lips and black eyes and gashes—how did you feel about that?" I delved.

"No, I didn't like that—but I used to put raw meat on his eye and doctor him up and that was kind of romantic," she reminisced tenderly. "The poor darling baby."

"No, it doesn't sound romantic to me. But, then, I am not specially keen on men that specialize in knocking other men down. Personally, I prefer the ones that could but don't," I demurred. "It doesn't impress me as being a particularly heroic trade."

"Oh, you don't know them. Anyone can hear that. Why, they are just dears. Oh, I don't know. I don't know why I like them, but they are so sentimental. Oh, it was wonderful how they sympathized with me when Mike died. You know I killed Mike. It was dreadful. I had let him out of his cage and he had been singing and chirping. But, you see, I am so quick. So, when Mike was going back into his cage and swung on the door, I banged it to and . . . oh, oh, oh, I killed him. And the boys all sent flowers and tried to console me so beautifully. Other kinds of men thought me foolish to make so much fuss over a mere canary, but the pugs understood. They knew. They . . . they—well, you see they understand things like that."

"And why didn't you marry Kid McCoy? What made you hesitate to be the ninth—or was it the tenth?" I inquired, without delicacy.

"Oh, I didn't want to make a habit of divorce. But, really, I liked the Kid tremendously. You know he has a flattering little way of sending one highbrow sentimental poetry. And he gave me the loveliest dictionary. Such a wonderful way of seeming to bow to my superior intellect and all that. But, of course, I did know I couldn't survive on highbrow poetry and dictionaries alone. Neither could the Kid. It was just one of his dear little ways. So cute of him, wasn't it?" and she went off in dreamy reminiscence of the days of Kid McCoy.

"You know I met him again when I came here to Los Angeles—and we went to the show. He asked me if I was married again and I told him 'yes'—because otherwise he would have been sure to hold hands. They can't help holding hands, you know. Of course, I told him the truth afterward—and he looked so sad and reproachful. It's mean to deceive them, isn't it?" she went on.

"Then why didn't you let him hold hands?" I wanted to know.

"Oh, I am so busy. And I had to leave for New York in a few days. Another engagement would have mussed up my plans dreadfully," she explained regretfully. "But, all the same, he is a dear fellow—and always gets his divorces so gracefully and magnanimously. No one ever bears the Kid a grudge, no matter how long they were married to him. He is so fond of animals and children, you know. And canaries. They all love children. Oh, they really do. Jack Dempsey does—awfully. And grandmothers, too. Why, my grandmother whooped with joy when Dempsey won. But maybe, of course, that was because she couldn't pronounce Aquilla Firpo's name very successfully," she admitted.

"Shall you marry another some day?" I wondered.

"Oh, I don't suppose so. You see, it would have to be a champion, and they are getting too young for me now. Mostly about 22 or 23, you see. And I'm a bit over 30. And I would not like to own a passe one. Besides, it is sort of nice loving them all. I have known every champion since I was about 14 years old—even the foreign ones. They are just dears, they are really. Even when they get snobby and highbrow. You know, when they are champions they always get taken up by society people—especially society men—and they start putting on airs. That is when they start sending their lady loves books of poetry and trying to raise the standard of social deportment. They are so funny then, the dear blesseds. It doesn't go with their hairy chests. But I don't care, I [illegible] anyway. Really, [illegible] quite a lot by not [illegible] ers. . . .

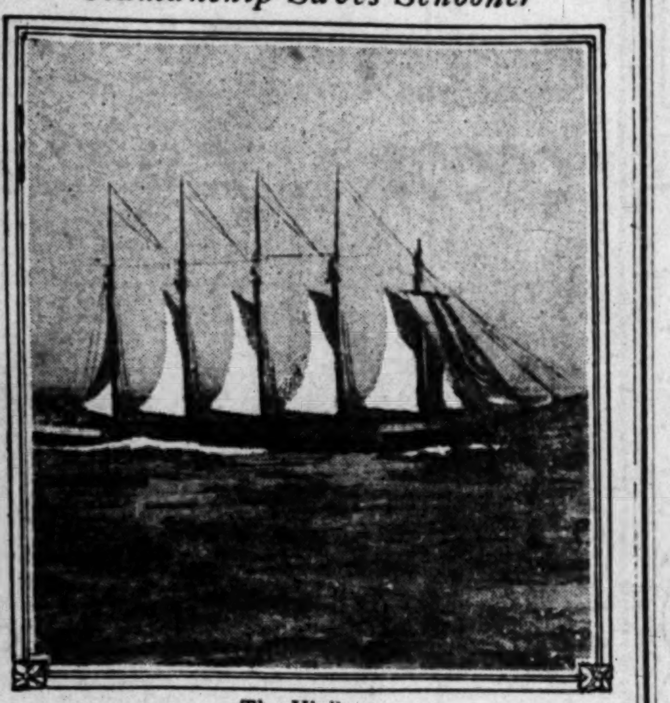
Seamanship Saves Schooner



The Vigilant

Five-masted vessel en route to Los Angeles Harbor, just after Capt. Matt Peasley had worked her off the rocks by her own sail power. Note foretopmast carried away in gale off Cape Flattery.

SHIP LOSSES NOT STRANGE

The vessels totally lost during the year are as follows:

February: British steamer Tuscan Prince, ashore, total loss, at Estevan, B. C.; motorship Coolcha, wrecked off Cape Flattery; steamer Santa Rita, ashore at Estevan; steamer Nika, burned after grounding near Tatoosh.

(All the foregoing vessels were wrecked in the storm of February 14-16.)

BARKENTINE MISSING

March: Barkentine Alta, departed Los Angeles Harbor for Puget Sound January 19, never heard from; twenty-six souls aboard; schooner Amy Johnson, lost en route Melbourne to Puget Sound; crew of twenty.

April: Schooner Watson A. West, grounded on north point San Miguel Island in fog, en route Los Angeles Harbor; steamer Lake Gebhart, grounded and sank off Umatilla Rock; steamer Babinda, burned to water's edge, en route Los Angeles Harbor to San Francisco; steamer Coquelle, on rocks at Bridge Point.

July: U.S.S. Cardinal, grounded off Alaskan coast in storm while charting unknown waters with naval expedition.

September: Steamer Cuba, grounded on Point Bennett, San Miguel Island; U.S.S. Delphy, three men missing; U.S.S. S. P. Lee, U.S.S. Chauncey, U.S.S. Young; twenty men missing; U.S.S. Fuller, U.S.S. Nicholas, U.S.S. Woodbury.

FOUR ON ROCKS

The Tuscan Prince, in command of Capt. J. Chilvers, a mariner unacquainted with the waters of Puget Sound, was caught in the dangerous Esteman Inlet when the worst storm in the North Pacific in years broke last February 14. His ship was driven on the rocks and ten minutes later the Coolcha, Santa Rita and Nika were all hurrying to his assistance. All three were wrecked while attempting rescue measures, although their masters were entirely familiar with local conditions.

The barkentine Alta, a four-masted steel vessel, sailed from Los Angeles Harbor last January 19, without the precaution of having taken on board ballast. She was never heard from, and being a steel vessel, is believed to have capsized in the storm of mid-February. She was in command of Capt. John F. Sexon and carried a crew of twenty men. The Amy Johnson, a four-masted schooner, is believed to have foundered in the same storm.

Last April the four-masted schooner Watson A. West went ashore in a fog on San Miguel Island, although her master was entirely familiar with conditions along the coast. The vessel and her lumber cargo, destined for this port, were a total loss. A fortnight later, while en route from Los Angeles to Puget Sound, the motor ship Bahinda burned to the water's edge south of San Francisco. The motor ship Coquelle ran on the beach at Bridge Point and broke up during the same month.

The Navy mine sweeper, Cardinal, engaged in charting Alaskan waters with a pioneering expedition under Rear-Admiral J. V. Chase, was driven on the rocks near Chirikof Island in July, while making soundings in a northwest gale.

CUBA CRASHES

On the 8th inst. the Pacific Mail liner Cuba, en route to San Francisco with a full passenger and cargo list from Central American ports, ran aground on the southwest point of San Miguel Island in smooth weather. The crash occurred at 4:30 a.m. Twelve hours later, the destroyer Reno, tearing southward at thirty knots per hour, sighted two of the Cuba's crowded lifeboats headed straight out to sea in the belief that they were bound for the mainland. The Cuba was a total loss, although all aboard were saved without injury.

Several explanations have been offered as to the cause of the wreck, although negligence doubtless entered into the matter, as the Cuba later was found to have been without the use of her radio set since leaving Central America.

Even while the U.S.S. Reno was taking on board the last of the Cuba's survivors, ten destroyers of Squadron No. 11, United States battle fleet, went on the rocks at Point Honda, less than fifty miles from the scene of the Cuba's wreck. Seven of these crack speedsters are still on the rocks at Honda.

SPEED EXCESSIVE

Admiral Robert E. Coontz wired the Navy Department that "the seven wrecked destroyers were without question many miles out of their reckoning, but it was believed they were in a free route. Statements as to visibility conflict. Speed was twenty knots." Subsequent developments indicate that there was a heavy fog in the Santa Barbara Channel at the time of the crash, while ample proof of the speed of the entire squadron is given by the fact that the three destroyers which were later floated went ashore despite the fact that they were warned in time by the wailing sirens of the lost companion ships.

"It is quite obvious, therefore, as a first deduction, that excessive speed was the primary cause of the disaster," says Mr. Titus.

"Concerning the maintenance of excessive speed in a fog in a frequented part of the ocean the Navy Department cannot be too severely criticised," he continues. "In this connection we should bear in mind the testimony of survivors that the last three of the ten destroyers could not keep off the rocks, although they were warned in time and reversed their engines and 'reversed them wildly.'"

OTHER MISHAPS

In addition to the above disasters there have been numerous marine mishaps at or near Los Angeles Harbor during the year. It is pertinent to the case in hand to note that every one of these accidents was due either to natural accidents or a sudden change in ocean currents. Prominent among these mishaps were:

Steamer Dakotan, ashore Cape San Lazaro, August 20. (faulty currents.)

Steamer Hoven, struck rock on Benito Island, August 28.

Steamer Devolente in collision August 26, with steamer El Abeto, sixteen miles northwest Point Concepcion. (Speed in fog.)

Steamer John D. Archibald, ashore Central American coast, July 3, damage $225,000 (Set in by currents.)

British steamer, Siberian Prince, ashore on Race Rocks, July 29. (Master unfamiliar with currents.)

The following fires occurred on Los Angeles ships or were extinguished at this port:

Japanese steamer Chicago Maru, fire broke out in cotton cargo while moored to outer harbor wharf, damage $500,000 (defective wiring.)

Steamer William A. McKinney, fire discovered while at berth in this port, damage $150,000 (spontaneous combustion.)

Steamer American, fire discovered in cargo while at sea, extinguished this port with damage of $210,000 (spontaneous combustion.)

Steamer Alden Anderson, explosion on board while leaving San Francisco for Los Angeles, practically total loss.

During the present year there were a number of freak marine accidents. Notable among these are the cases of the barkentine Makawell and the schooner Vigilant.

FREAK ACCIDENT

The Makawell, "the ship that sailed north and arrived south," departed San Francisco last February 14 for Gray's Harbor, in ballast. Outside the heads she was struck full-force by the gales that wrecked four ships on Puget Sound. She was driven far off her course, lost part of her sails, her rigging was shattered and two men seriously hurt by falling blocks and gear. Three weeks later she came into this port leaking badly and with thirteen feet of water in her holds.

The Vigilant, a five-masted topsail schooner and one of the finest windjammers on the Pacific, struck a submerged rock off the California Coast while en route to this port with 3,000,000 feet of lumber from Puget Sound.

Although his ship was hard aground for three hours, Capt. Matt Peasley handled the Vigilant with such seamanship that she was brought off under her own sail power. She made port the following day, although taking water at the rate of ten feet an hour. When drydocked the entire lower stem and a great portion of the keel and underbody of the big schooner were found to have been torn off.

PROBLEM SERIOUS

"The problem of currents on the Pacific Coast is one of the most difficult with which mariners anywhere are compelled to contend," says Mr. Titus. "The difficulty arises from the fact that they are surface currents caused by prevailing meteorological conditions, and as such are subject to frequent change in both direction and velocity.

"They may be flowing north this week and south next week, or they may die out entirely. The serious aspect of the case is that they may die out over night.

"The dangerous element arises from the fact that no correct predications can be made concerning them, and thus unexpected currents with a velocity of three knots may be encountered during a period of calm, thereby accelerating or retarding a vessel or setting it on or off shore."

Frequent use of the lead and a judicious speed in fog or heavy weather, then, appears to be the best method of averting disaster along the Pacific Coast.

LIFE DEPENDENT ON DICE OF FATE

few moments after the noon recess. Three deputy sheriffs approached Mrs. Idella Champion, the mother; Frank Champion, the father, and Mrs. Vera Hughes, the defendant's first cousin. They were the alibi witnesses who had sworn that Champion was in Texas on the day of the crime.

"You are under arrest for perjury. Come along," they were told, and the three alibi witnesses were locked up in the County Jail.

The afternoon session was begun. Defense Attorney Hahn took a turn at rolling the theoretical dice. He asked for the arrest, on charges of perjury, of Harry A. Smith No. 1 and Harry A. Smith No. 2, prosecution witnesses. Smith No. 1 had testified at the preliminary hearing that he had witnessed the killing of Goldy, that Champion was the murderer. Smith No. 2 did not appear until the opening day of the trial. He declared he was the Harry A. Smith who witnessed the murder, that Smith No. 1 was not present. Attorney Hahn declared one of the two Smiths, he did not know which one, had perjured himself, so he asked for the arrest of both.

But Hahn failed to make his point. He tossed a pair of "snake eyes." Superior Judge Hardy informed him that the court could not order the arrests; that complaints should be secured from the District Attorney's office.

Argument for the defense was resumed. Attorney Hahn accused the prosecution's three eyewitnesses of conspiring to railroad Champion to the gallows to protect the actual murderer. He declared that Champion was extradicted to Los Angeles on the strength of a "fake" affidavit sent by the prosecution to the Governor of Ohio. The affidavit was signed by Smith No. 1, who testified yesterday he could not remember ever having signed it at the preliminary hearing, though Justice Hanby, called as a witness, testified Smith No. 1 had signed it.

Attorney Hahn accused Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark of abusing his power of office. He declared that the prosecution had released from the County Jail on his own recognizance a prisoner charged with forgery on condition that he would testify against Champion. The prisoner, P. J. Flynn, was being held for trial in the absence of $1500 bail.

Many heated tilts between Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark and Attorney Hahn occurred during the day. At one time their remarks arose to a challenge to step into the hall and fight it out. But there was no fight. At another critical moment, Clark recalled Mrs. Vera Hughes to the stand. He declared that while Champion's mother was on the witness stand Mrs. Hughes was coaching her in her answers to questions by nods and shakes of her head. Mrs. Hughes denied such conduct on her part.

"It is an outrage when witnesses come to the witness stand and communicate with each other while under oath," he shouted.

Dep. Dist-Atty. Meroney, in the prosecution's opening argument, declared the State had proved Champion had entered the dice game, that he and Goldy were the winners, that Champion was jealous of Goldy's luck when Goldy rolled "a seven" and won the pot, and that he forthwith shot the winner. He said that Champion hid in Los Angeles for two days, fled to Mexico, then made his way to Cleveland, where he was apprehended.

In the meantime, Champion, the "crap-shooter," awaits the final toss of the dice of fate.

LARGE LIQUOR PLANT SEIZED

Dragina were arrested, put into automobiles with Mrs. Dragina's two young children, and brought to the Pomona jail. All were charged with conspiracy to violate the Wright Act.

Shortly after the raid other deputies began a search in Los Angeles for three well-to-do men who are said to have financed and directed operation of the distillery.

In the upper floor of the larger barn, deputies said, they found a 500-gallon still in operation. In the other structure they discovered ten large vats, each with a capacity of 1000 gallons. Piled up beside them were 150 sacks of sugar and other materials.

COMPLETE OUTFIT

In the house, deputies said, they discovered seven large stills in course of construction and a complete coppersmith's outfit, and in one of the rooms a small arsenal.

Others arrested and jailed were Patsie Dasta, who admitted he had rented the barn containing the large still from the owner of the ranch; Joe Gallina, Matio Agsesino, John Gosho, Jasper Serdillo and Camilo Sciortino. The men said they had been recruited in San Diego, San Jose and Los Angeles for the work, under the direction of a wealthy Los Angeles man, whom they refused to name.

CANYON PARTY NEWS AWAITED

13th inst., which was the date of a letter written at Havasu Creek, also called Cataract Canyon, an offshoot of the Grand Canyon. Since that time, on the 21st inst., an overturned boat belonging to the survey party has been found in the grip of the stream, 200 miles below the last known location of the hardy crew.

Yet Mrs. LaRue shows fortitude which might be expected of a woman who was the second ever to make the trip through the canyon.

"Of course, we are worried," she said yesterday, "but as the expedition was not supposed to reach Diamond Creek until tomorrow, and that is the first point from which news can be sent out, we are not despondent. I am sure that they were warned of the sudden rise in the river, and were not caught unprepared. The probabilities are that they at once sought a safe place, and remained there until it was safe to start again. So even if we do not hear tomorrow, it does not mean the party is lost. They may be tied up for days in perfect safety."

A suggestion of the hazards of the voyage down the Colorado River is contained in Mrs. LaRue's last letter from her husband. Mrs. LaRue herself made one passage through the Grand Canyon and is therefore not unfamiliar with its perils. Miss Edith Kolb is the only other woman ever to achieve the feat.

An extract from LaRue's last letter follows:

"We reached this place this p.m. Roger W. Birdseye (the son of Col. C. H. Birdseye, chief topographical engineer of the United States Geological Survey in charge of the party,) two white men and nineteen Indians brought in mail and foodstuffs—about 800 pounds of grub. We have been working very late and everybody is tired. Hit a bad rapid last night. Emery Kolb upset and we thought he was gone, surely gone, but he came out from under the boat at the lower end of the rapids, 300 feet down the stream. He climbed on top of the boat and Dodge jumped in and swam to him. The second boat came through o. k. and caught up with Emery. They turned the boat over and we had a heck of a time getting the two boats back up the river to camp. Leigh Lint and Blake missed the back rock by a hair, but Freeman ran through with lots to spare. Thank goodness, we could walk around this rapids, or the whole bunch would be in the hot place by this time. It is better going from here on. Next supplies and mail will reach us at Diamond Creek, eighteen miles north of Peach Spring, on the Santa Fe. Diamond Creek is sixty-five miles below here. We will reach Diamond Creek about the 28th or 29th."

Those who are in the party include Col. C. H. Birdseye, chief topographical engineer and chief of the party; Mr. LaRue, hydraulic engineer; R. C. Moore, geologist; R. W. Burchard, topographical engineer; E. C. Kolb, head boatman; Leigh Lint, boatman and rodman; H. E. Blake, boatman and rodman, F. B. Dodge, boatman and rodman, and Lewis R. Freeman, author and lecturer.

A relief party under R. W. Birdseye is at Peach Springs, Ariz., and if the explorers are not heard from today may send a party to Diamond Creek.

EX-OFFICIAL OF SNYDER'S REGIME, DIES

Charles H. Long, Former Police Commissioner, Dies at Residence

Charles H. Long, 69 years of age, former police commissioner and local business man, died last night at his residence, 1341 Oak street, where he resided for thirty years. He was at the head of the Long Produce Company, 276 South Los Angeles street, for many years but retired about four years ago.

Long was police commissioner under Mayor Snyder and was always interested in the civic welfare of the city. He was a native of Ohio and came to Los Angeles thirty-six years ago. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Winona Long, six children and eight grandchildren.

To the Motorists of Southern California:

Attention is called to Section 122 of the new California Vehicle Act, effective on the 1st inst., which requires the driver of a vehicle to drive the same on the right half of the highway and close to the right-hand edge or curb.

Motorists have had time enough now to learn and observe this rule, and the police of Los Angeles city and county are instructed to make arrests of those who ignore this requirement.

The War on Crime

By Geo. C. Henderson

CHAPTER 30
The Store Burglar

"The Hole in the Wall" gang that operated recently in Salt Lake City were store burglars.

Store burglars work in gangs as a rule. They have none of the finesse of the gentleman crook nor have they the discrimination of the connoisseur.

The "Hole in the Wall" gang operated by digging a hole through the back or side wall of a big store. They got their name by the modus operandi.

There are many different methods of entering a store. Some burglars jimmy a window, others enter with skeleton keys, while still others break the glass in a door or window and unlock the catch. This is also a favorite way of getting into a residence. Certain burglars use glass cutters and cut through a window or door glass, thus eliminating the noise of a crash.

The careful burglar will paste paper over a a glass before he cracks it with a brick. This prevents the pieces from flying everywhere and making a big racket. Sometimes the outlaw will enter through a skylight.

The store burglar never operates without knowing all about a place. Sometimes he will secure a job in the store to find where the valuable goods are kept. He will learn when the watchman makes his rounds and whether anyone sleeps in the "joint" or not. He will locate all burglar alarms if there are any and arrange to cut the wires or prevent them from giving a signal.

Once inside he and his associates go directly to the till and rob it and then steal all the silks and other valuable merchandise they have "located." They always have a big car waiting outside with the engine running and into this they pile the loot.

"Copping a sneak" is the term applied to robbing a place on the spur of the moment. Many daring burglars will "cop a sneak," but the expert professional prefers to plan a job more carefully.

Crooks generally "cop a sneak" on a house by driving suddenly up to the door, crashing the "joint" by breaking a window or by knocking out a door pane and reaching through to turn open the lock, and then by going through bureaus, pockets and secret hiding places like greased lightning. These burglars generally are in and out of a place with their loot before the neighbors know what has happened.

Three crooks attempted to "cop a sneak" on a jewelry store by driving up in a stolen car, breaking the front window with a brick and reaching through for trays of diamonds. A cop rounded the corner just as they pulled the trick. One man was standing guard by the automobile, another kept the engine running while the third was making away with the diamonds. The guard shot the policeman and the man with the diamonds was about to make a getaway with $12,000 worth when an officer out of uniform nabbed him. The other two fled. Both were captured later.

Recently there have been a great many liquor robberies. In one instance the robbers drove up to a bonded warehouse, forced the watchman to admit them at gun's point and then loaded guard and liquor into a car and drove away. They dumped the guard out, gagged and blind-folded and escaped.

The "gangs" of kids that roam the city slums at night in search of excitement readily become burglar organizations. They start by stealing for fun. They will break into garages and shops and factories and take tools for which they have no use. Gradually the more daring and expert members form a clique unto themselves. They pull off a real burglary. It gets out and they are greatly admired by their fellow-gangsters.

Once they have started on such a career, inevitably they end up in jail and reform school or prison.

The best protection against burglars is an alert watchman in stores, an adequate alarm system and a vigilant police force.

Tomorrow, "The Silverware Burglar."

NEAR ROW IN CHURCH MEET

general conferences; election of district superintendents at annual local conferences, instead of their appointment by the bishop; election of bishops for a term of eight years, instead of life-tenure, as at present; control of all connectional officers and the fixing of their salaries by ballot at the General Conference; the attainment of standardized salaries for pastors, as well as for officers and missionaries, and a graduated excess income tax on salaries above the living wage level, the proceeds to be applied to the salaries of men receiving less than the living wage level.

In an address yesterday before the Women's Home Missionary Society, Bishop Adna Wright Leonard declared that it is becoming more and more difficult to erect churches in America for foreign-speaking peoples.

"Only yesterday morning the City Council rejected a petition to erect a church for the Japanese in a section of this city where we have worked for seventeen years to teach the Japanese the Christian religion," said the Bishop. "In Hollywood the Presbyterians had the same difficulty, and similar trouble has been found at Long Beach.

"It is a sad fact," continued the speaker, "that in Los Angeles and Long Beach many prominent Methodists were related to those civic bodies that declined to grant permits for the erection of Christian churches in which foreigners in these two cities might meet."

BALLET DANCES NEWEST VOGUE

Prominent Belles Devote Study to Art

Exhibitions Scheduled by Numerous Clubs

Perfection Found to Call for Hard Work

BY MYRA NYE

Women's Work—that sometimes is the heading of the department; for variety the work of women in Los Angeles has the famous Fifty-Seven in total eclipse. For instance—is dancing work?

Perhaps if you are uninitiated you may say ballet dancing isn't work; it is just beautiful play. But no, you are wrong. There is nothing, not even doing a washing without electricity, that is more strenuous. It is now the fad. Everybody who is anybody is doing it herself or by proxy through her daughter or niece. Its fascination takes it somewhat out of the work class; for the only fascinating thing about the weekly wash is taking it down from the line in the cool of the day when the orange blossom petals drift through the blue and the breeze from the ocean has not quite died down.

There is work that is work. There is play that is work (such as standing in too tight slippers through a whole tea fight) and there is work that is play. In only the last lies happiness. And that's the kind of work ballet dancing is.

Women's club bulletins are coming in as often as side draperies on bell skirts and the greater number of the programs include dance numbers. There are girls from all over California who are studying dancing at some one of the studios in this city. The story of Eleanor Bingham of the Theodore Kosloff Imperial Russian Ballet School bears out the work theory in a play way.

Eleanor Bingham is a member of a prominent family in Northern California. Her father was a banker and therefore an expert in figures. He knew before Eleanor could walk that she would dance. She was formed for it. In her baby bed she assumed the postures of a fairy sprite before she could creep. In fact she never crept or walked right along. She danced from the beginning.

But Eleanor and her mother, who brought her down here to school, were wise enough to know that it takes more than a one-piece smock made out of pink or blue or green cheese-cloth torn ragged around the bottom, or a couple of artificial flower garlands or an imitation Grecian urn and a few esthetic turns of the arms and legs to make a real dancer. She, with many other girls of prominent families, works eight hours a day.

"I will not have the pupil who just sits and dreams of greatness in my school," Mr. Kosloff said to me yesterday before going out for his first shot in William De Mille's picture, "Every-Day Love." "They must study anatomy. How can they dance if they do not understand the play of muscles? Any one of those who study seriously with me can pass a medical examination in anatomy.

"They must study art and sculpture, and music, of course, is of supreme importance. They cannot rouge, make up their eyes or put on other camouflage while they are in school. There it is work stripped of all pretense."

And I myself saw many of the girls in little calico slips and bloomers working industriously.

Miss Vera Fredowa, who assists in the school, who herself is a lovely example of the dancing art, told me charming stories of charming girls who came there to work and to dance.

Of course, there are the professionals and the motion-picture stars, but in addition to these she named: Miss Suzette McLouth of South Berendo street, the Misses Agnes and Margaret De Mile, Flower Huger Wilkinson, whose great grandfather came to America with La Fayette and who is the niece of Mrs. Alexander Gregg of San Francisco; Miss Leslie Roderick Bibb from Kansas City, Leonora Hogue, whose father is a prominent lumber dealer in Portland, Or.; Dorothy McNeil of Chicago, Edith Paine of San Diego, Peggy Sweeney, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sweeney of San Francisco; Carmen de Lara and Elenita Sepulveda, these two of old Spanish families, the latter now Mrs. Silas M. Snyder. The three daughters of Mrs. Elsie Mathewson, the Misses Nancy, Harriett and Cornelia, are also among the number.

Mrs. Lineman to Speak at Club

Mab Copeland Lineman, well-known attorney and clubwoman, will speak at 11 a.m. tomorrow to the members of the Echo Park Mothers' Club. Her subject will be "Incorporation Laws."

The directors of the club met at the home of Mrs. Caroline M. Derby, press chairman, Tuesday. Methods of raising funds for the purchase of a clubhouse lot were discussed and plans for holding a cake sale to help swell the fund were outlined. The date of the sale and place will be announced next week.

These all-day meetings of the board of directors are conducted monthly at the homes of officers and chairman of the club.

Mrs. Martha Manley, membership chairman, is responsible for the unique entertainment offered last Friday, the new members to the number of fifty-three acting as hostesses of the old members and assisting in a clever playlet by Nelle Scott Lucas, written especially for the club, entitled "Keeping Step With the Family."

Mrs. Manley brought in eight new members and hopes soon to say there are 200 members in the club. To the member bringing in fifteen or more new members, a prize of $5 or a three-year membership will be given. To the member bringing in the second largest number of new members one year's membership will be given and to the member bringing in the third largest number a box of candy will be the prize.

Members Entertained in Mexico

Mrs. Charles V. Craig, general curator of Ebell Club has just returned from conducting a group of nineteen members of Ebell on a trip to Mexico. The itinerary included stops at Zacatecas, Guadalajara, Cuernavaca, Puebla and Mexico City. At every point the party was received with the greatest courtesy.

While in Mexico City they were given a reception at the palace by the wife of the President, Sra. Maria de Tapia de Obregon, which was greatly enjoyed. The party was also the guest of President Obregon at the palace on the 16th inst., the national holiday of Mexico. A large reception was conducted in connection with the ceremony of the "Greta."

Mrs. Craig and others of her party will be speakers at the guest luncheon at Ebell on October 3, when they will relate more of their trip in detail.

Club Takes Charge of New Home

The MacDowell Club of Allied Arts has taken possession of its new clubhouse at 462 North Western avenue. The building, a handsome brick structure, was planned and erected to meet the requirements of the club's activities and special objects. It is being fitted up for the opening year. Mrs. Graham Putnam, president of the club, with her corps of officers, has spent much time and energy in perfecting the details of this enterprise, with the object of establishing a charming and convenient home center for artists and art lovers of this city.

A commodious auditorium is the principal feature of the ground floor. This hall is especially fitted for art exhibitions, with numerous skylights, and neutral tinted stucco walls, making a desirable background for the hanging of pictures and other works of art. Fully equipped culinary offices will make it easy to entertain with luncheons and dinners. A large and convenient stage furnishes an ideal setting for dramatic and other entertainments.

Four studio apartments, on the second floor are specially designed for the use of professional artists, with the added convenience of house-keeping facilities. They are well lighted and well ventilated, and modern. Four shops are on the ground floor.

The club will open its doors for a reception to its friends early in October. At a meeting of the executive board last week, many attractive plans for the activities of the coming year were arranged. Among them was the establishment of a department of literature, in addition to the dramatic department started with such success last year.

Daughters of 1812 to Meet

United States Daughters of 1812 will meet at the residence of the newly elected president of the society, Mrs. Charles Harrison Connard, 1852 North Wilton Place, today. All visiting Daughters of 1812 are cordially invited to attend.

Club Programs for Season Abound in Dance Numbers

Theodore Kosloff dancers in what looks like an easy posture, but which really is most difficult and requires expert skill. It has become the fad for society girls and other nonprofessionals to take up the study of ballet. To perfect oneself great earnestness of purpose, industry and persistence is necessary and the young women say they are getting character as well as physical training.

Canning Time

The time has come to put up catsup and you are wondering why you threw away all those corks. Start a box right now and keep corks and pieces of paraffin from jellies in it and you will be very grateful in preserving time.

Tasty Left-overs

An excellent way to utilize the last bit of chopped meat is to make a biscuit dough, spread it lightly with butter and sprinkle on the meat, roll like a jelly roll and bake in a hot oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

A Mother of Small Children Gives Her Reasons

HERE is a mother with a little family, who likes linoleum floors. Read her letter. It came entirely unsolicited.

Krum, Texas, April 2, 1923

Armstrong Cork Company
Linoleum Division
Lancaster, Pennsylvania

Dear Sirs:

I am so thoroughly pleased with my Armstrong Linoleums that I feel compelled to tell you about them. We use linoleum almost all over the house—from kitchen to living-room—and never have to worry about the floors, because they are so easily kept clean and bright and beautiful. This is a fact doubly appreciated where there are small children. There is nothing quite so satisfactory for floors as linoleum, and I always insist on "Armstrong's" because I know from experience that it is exceptionally good and dependable.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. W. J. B.

If you have small children, you know what Mrs. B. is talking about.

Look for the CIRCLE "A" trademark on the burlap back

Children will track in dirt. They will scatter things about. They will romp and clatter over wood floors. Linoleum floors are quiet and easy to clean.

Mothers who want the lighter housework and the cheerful beauty that linoleum floors give to a home are invited to write to our Bureau of Interior Decoration. This Bureau is in charge of Mrs. Hazel Dell Brown, an experienced decorator, who has helped many women plan color schemes for new homes or to refurnish particular rooms.

A daily brushing with a dry dust-mop keeps a waxed linoleum floor "bright and beautiful"

This department will give you information about linoleum patterns and designs for different rooms, tell you how to take care of linoleum floors and how to have them laid. We will give you the names of good stores near you that can supply Armstrong's Linoleum in the new decorative floor designs, and that can do good laying. Mrs. Brown's advice is entirely free.

Your merchant will show you the new designs

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum, and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of color-plates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores—Jaspés, carpet inlaids, tile inlaids, and printed patterns; linoleum rugs, printed and inlaid; also information on laying linoleum and on how to care for your linoleum floors.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

"My Dear Doctor: I want to emphasize 'My,' for, unbeknown to you, you merit that. When you began your reducing instructions in our paper I fell in line. I started out on the shrinking stomach period with the first crusaders. I had no difficulty at all, just simply followed your advice and reduced twenty-three pounds in the next twelve weeks. I felt better than I had for years and got rid of asthma, breathlessness and other things. I am still holding my own, and am letting you know that I belong to your crowd. I was 72 last March, but seem to be growing younger instead of older. Will you please write something on canker sores in the mouth? Yours faithfully and sincerely, P."

I run these wonderful letters I am getting, not because they are so complimentary to me—although I love that, of course—but because they are the most potent things I can do to bring others into the fold. I know that, because half the letters I receive tell me that the writers were encouraged to start dieting to attain normal weight by some letter from a follower that I had printed.

I have had so many letters from those who have reduced, stating that they had been relieved from asthma, varicose veins, skin disorders, irritation of the bladder and the other disorders simply by reducing their weight. I really feel that if I wrote on no other subject besides weight reducing, I would cover most of the known ills of mankind. Thank you very much, Mrs. P., for writing.

Canker sores are little ulcerations of the mouth which may be due to irritation, such as too hot food or too acid — for instance, sometimes eating many acid lemon drops will cause them, or they may be due to an irritation arising from faulty diet in other ways. They may be touched up with a little mild caustic, such as burnt alum, or they may be touched with argyrol, a silver nitrate preparation (lunar caustic,) the mouth should be washed frequently with boric acid solution, a teaspoonful to a pint of water.

Mrs. E.: The cause of warts is not known. We know that they are more or less contagious—or, at least that a person who has a wart can seem to get others from that one (auto-inoculation.) For instance, if you have a wart on the inside of your finger, another may come opposite it. Warts are very common in children.

They may be smooth or uneven, the color of the skin or some shade of yellow, brown or black. Sometimes they occur elsewhere than on the hand. One variety occurs on the soles of the feet. They look like callous places, and they are often very painful.

Treatment: Warts often disappear without any treatment. Sometimes painting with tincture of iodine will remove them. They may have to be removed by electrolysis or other operative work. In the country, children's warts will sometimes go away if they are rubbed with juice of the common milkweed.

My little nephew—I think I will have to say my big nephew now, for he has donned long trousers since I saw him last—had a good-sized wart on his hand for which he asked my professional advice. Not getting prompt treatment, (you know about the shoemaker's children never having shoes) he took the matter into his own hands and proudly showed me one day that the wart was all gone. He had rubbed a fresh slice of raw potato over it every day! You might try that.

The collodian corn remedy will remove them sometimes (one dram of salycilic acid to one ounce of collodian.)

Warts in elderly and old people, that are in the position where they are irritated, may be a source of cancer. So if they do not go away after a short period of simple home treatment—not caustics—a surgeon should be consulted.

THE LIFTED FACE

Much has been written about the surgically "lifted" and transformed face, and about the vast improvement in the appearance of women whose cheeks had become flabby and whose chins had begun to sag, and who checked these ravages of time by having the loose skin of their faces tightened. We know, more or less vaguely what the lifting or tightening process is.

We are told, in a cheerful, general way, that the skin is cut in a triangle at each side of the forehead, that the sagging flesh is raised and sewn together over these cuts, and that the hair conceals the effects of the operation until time has obliterated the scar. We hold conflicting theories as to the wisdom of such radical treatment, some of us contending that only a fool would submit to it and others holding that only a fool would lose her good looks when they can be so easily preserved or restored.

THE INNER EFFECTS

What we do not know so well is what the patient herself thinks about such treatment after she has had it. For some reason women are slow to volunteer confidences on the subject. They know their friends know their faces have been lifted. They will submit the fact in a general way. But they have no desire to go into the details of their experience.

So I was unusually interested the other evening when my friend Mrs. Blank suddenly and spontaneously proceeded to open her heart on the subject. Mrs. Blank is one of the fortunate ones who have undergone the operation, in that it has done for her appearance all she had hoped it would do. Nevertheless, she has been oddly subdued and thoughtful of late, and she now proceeded to explain why.

"Do you know," she began abruptly, "I have the oddest feelings sometimes—since I've had my face lifted. From the first, of course, I had the sensation of looking at a stranger when I looked in the glass. That didn't bother me much, for the stranger is much better looking than I ever was." She checked herself and turned a direct look at me. "Or is she?" she asked. "Am I mistaken about that? Tell me the truth."

"You are not mistaken," I assured her. "The change is very becoming."

She nodded.

"I think so and every one says so," she went, "and I thought I'd soon get used to the new feeling. But—oddly enough—I don't. If anything, the sensation is deepening. I'm beginning to feel that I not only look different but that I am different—that I'm in process of becoming another woman."

I was deeply interested and she saw it and went to the heart of her confession.

THAT UNRESPONSIVE FACE

"You see, it's like this. My whole expression has changed because—to put it frankly—my features are no longer mobile. I have to protect them. I can't laugh heartily or raise my eyebrows, or frown, or make funny faces for my children as I used to do. The cold truth is that I dare not. I am a work of art and I've got to preserve my effect. My face used to be animated. Now it's merely statuesque. I used to reveal all my emotions. Now I don't reveal any of them. I merely, as the photographers say, 'look pleasant.'"

She stopped and sighed.

"Here comes the rub," she went on. "My husband and children liked the change at first. It amused and interested them. Now they hate it. Oh, yes, they do—they simply hate it. They feel that the new face around the house doesn't belong to me or to them. They have begun to think that there's something uncanny about it. And—so have I."

"Then why not let yourself go again?" I suggested. "I mean, why not be as animated and expressive of features as you were before?"

We were sitting close together, but she drew nearer and her voice dropped.

"Because I can't," she admitted. "I simply can't. It isn't merely that my face feels queer and stiff—though it does. The change goes deeper than that. I've lost the power to let myself go. I've become hideously self-conscious for one thing, and, because I've restrained myself so long—it's about a year now—I've lost the ability to let myself go. Moreover, I don't want to. Things don't seem so amusing or so interesting or so poignant as they used to. I've lost the power of inner as well as outward response. Perhaps it all sounds silly—but please don't laugh."

"I have no inclination to laugh," I said.

It isn't a condition to laugh at, is it?

In My Garden

By Jesse A. Currey

This season has convinced me more firmly than ever of the desirability of having the primulinus gladioli in the garden, not so much as a garden ornament, although they are highly desirable for that, but for a cut flower. With their graceful stems there are more effective from a decorative standpoint for an ordinary-sized vase or bowl than the regulation gladioli. While the latter is one of our greatest flowers for large mass effects a person has to grow them in great quantities to get a collection, say of a dozen or two spikes to make the proper showing, for if only one or two spikes are put into a vase they overtop the container and a good decorative effect is destroyed. With the average gladioli I feel they should never be put less than at least twelve-flowers spikes in a vase or basket, but with the primulinus type a few sprays of them in combination with gypsophila, or sea lavender will give you a fine decoration. The primulinus gladioli is also more desirable for table decoration and easily arranged. Though the stalk is slender it is amply strong to uphold in a good position the delicately tinted flower, so that each individual bloom can be seen and admired.

AUXILIARY HEAD IS VISITING CITY

Dr. Barrett of Women's Legion Branch Tells Plans

Cites Remarkable Growth of War Organization

Discusses Work for Session at San Francisco

The growth of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion has been more rapid than that of any other organization growing out of the World War, according to Dr. Kate W. Barrett of Alexandria, Va., national president of the auxiliary who is now a Los Angeles visitor and a guest at the Ambassador.

"My mission here is primarily to confer with Mrs. C. W. Decker, the recently elected president of the California branch of the auxiliary," said Dr. Barrett. "We are making preparations for the annual convention of the auxiliary, which will open in San Francisco on October 15."

The membership of the Women's Auxiliary now numbers more than 200,000, Dr. Barrett said, with branches in every State in the Union, including Alaska and the island possessions, and new members are constantly being enrolled.

VISITED ALASKA

"I visited our posts in Alaska recently," said Dr. Barrett, "and was surprised to note the progress being made by the organization there and the enthusiasm of the membership. Delegates from Alaska and from every post in the country will be in attendance at the convention which this year will deal with a number of matters involving the future development of the auxiliary."

The policy that has been adopted with reference to the membership of the Women's Auxiliary is different from that of the other war organizations in that it contemplates indefinite continuity.

"To start with the members of the auxiliary were recruited from the ranks of the mothers, wives, sisters or daughters of the former service men who are members of the American Legion," said Dr. Barrett. "Inasmuch as this would mean that the organization would eventually cease to exist unless new members from the younger generation could be added, a plan has been adopted to renew the membership from the descendants of Legionnaires. A junior section of the auxiliary has been established to which young girls, daughters of Legion members are admitted. Upon reaching the proper age these junior members will become members of the auxiliary and in this manner the existence of the organization will be perpetuated in the same manner as that of the D. A. R.

TREASURES LORE

"This was thought advisable because the auxiliary will in time become the chief repository of the historical and traditional lore of the great war as well as one of the principal bulwarks of the spirit of Americanism engendered by that conflict. From the viewpoint of these considerations, therefore, it is important that the organization should be maintained indefinitely."

Referring to the activities of the auxiliary, the president stated that its aim is to support the American Legion in its stand on various questions of national importance.

"For one thing, we will work for preparedness," said Dr. Barrett. "The mothers who saw their sons go to war, most of them with no military training, will not soon forget that experience. And while another war is the last thing they hope will come to pass, they are nevertheless determined that if such a calamity should befall, their sons shall be prepared for it.

FAVORS TRAINING

"We favor the citizens' training camps conducted by the government in many places throughout the country and believe this offers the best solution of the preparedness problem. We do not believe in a large standing army but will do what we can for the training of citizen soldiers. For my part, I think these camps are of the utmost value not only for the strictly military instruction they furnish but from a disciplinary standpoint and because they are of undoubted aid in the general development of the young men who are trained there. Very few of the former soldiers who have come under my observation are not better men from their having served in the Army."

One of the questions to be taken up for discussion at the coming auxiliary convention is that relating to means for the hospitalization and rehabilitation of a large number of women who took an active part in the war in one capacity or another and were disabled.

"There are 5000 women in this country today incapacitated as a result of war work for whom no provision has been made by the government or any organization devoted to rehabilitation work," said Dr. Barrett.

CHAMPIONS CAUSE

"The women who were militarized, that is, those whose work made them a part of the military forces, may enter the government hospitals and are eligible to such other assistance as the government has provided for disabled veterans. But the thousands of women who volunteered in other branches of service; the Red Cross, the Y. W.C.A., the Salvation Army, are without these privileges. Ways and means will be discussed at this convention to remedy this situation."

The auxiliary also takes an active part in Americanization work in the places where the posts are located.

"We are working particularly with the mothers in the homes," Dr. Barrett said. "Mothers' classes in English for foreign-speaking women are being conducted under auxiliary auspices, and in addition our members devote themselves to the promotion of social activities among the foreign-born calculated to foster the spirit of Americanism and develop a better understanding of American life."

NEW SCHOOL REQUESTED FROM BOARD

Universal City Residents Petition for Enlarged Accommodations

Petition for the establishment of a new school to serve the population of Universal City was made to the Board of Education yesterday afternoon by a delegation of residents from that district. The petitioners said the school accommodations in the Lankershim district which the children from Universal City now attend, are not sufficient, and that for three years the pupils in the Lankershim schools had been confined to half-day sessions.

The board requested Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, to look into the situation

Mrs. Dorsey informed the board that there is n text-book of American history in use in the Los Angeles schools that can be questioned from a patriotic standpoint. This statement was made in response to a request from P. W. Banning of the Sons of the American Revolution, for a report on historical text-books which misrepresent American history.

The board took under advisement a suggestion by V. P. Maher to name one of the new school buildings after Mrs. Dorsey.

COUNCILMEN GET PLAN OF AUDITORIUM

Gigantic Structure Will Seat Ten Thousand and Cost Two Millions

Preliminary plans for a gigantic municipal auditorium that will seat 10,000 persons, have been submitted to the City Council by Wright & Gentry, architects. The structure would cost approximately $2,000,000 and would cover a site approximately 250 by 500 feet, the actual dimensions of the huge structure, according to the plans, being 215 by 450.

The plans were prepared under the direction of the municipal auditorium, and are said to combine the best features of municipal auditorium committee, and are said to combine the best features of municipal auditorium construction to be found in the United States. The plans, if adopted, will give Long Beach a combination auditorium and theater that, because of the latter feature, should prove self-supporting, city officials said.

The City Council has taken the plans under consideration.

HART RITES IN CHARGE OF MASONS

Funeral Services for Head of Music Company to be Observed Tomorrow

Funeral services for Frank J. Hart, president and founder of the Southern California Music Company, who died Wednesday at his home in Altadena, have been taken over by the Knights Templar. Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the Little Church of the Fowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale. Interment will be at the Forest Lawn mausoleum.

The position of Frank J. Hart in the business life of Los Angeles dates back to the early '80's when he founded the Southern California Music Company within a few months of his arrival here. As the city grew the company expanded, until, at the time of his death, Mr. Hart was the head of one of the largest firms of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

Only a few weeks ago, defying an illness from which he had suffered for several years, he attended the opening of his company's new home, an eight-story building on Broadway and Eighth street.

The funeral sermon tomorrow will be preached by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of the Temple Baptist Church. Active pallbearers include: G. S. Marygold, R. M. Hovey, Scott Williamson, W. M. Hathaway, I. J. Westphal and H. H. Fish.

Honorary pallbearers will be Ed Wehrle, F. L. Grannis, Maurice Griffin, Arthur J. Morse, C. H. Rundel, J. Macartney, J. Webster, M. A. Thornton, N. W. Devereaux, J. J. Apffel, H. A. Hollister, George P. Sheehan, R. B. Williamson, I. N. Hockett, W. Q. Dickinson, John Butler, Chester Overell, Howard Legge and R. G. Smith.

Dog Owner Fails to Show Up for Ant Powder Suit

The tragic details of the death of the golden-fawn Great Dane dog Rolling Hill Thelma II were not revealed in court yesterday as scheduled because the owner, H. Newell Guernsey, failed to appear to testify in the suit brought against the Marvel Ant Exterminator Service, whos eproduct is asserted to have caused the death of the dog.

According to the complaint, Guernsey bought ant powder in October, 1921, which Rolling Hill Thelma II ate, and then sickened and died. Guernsey asserted that the exterminator company guaranteed that the powder was harmful to insects only. After scattering it all over his Beverly Hills estate he discovered that the powder exterminated dogs as well.

The plaintiff valued the dog at $2000 and asked that amount of damages against the makers of the ant powder. The defendants admitted that they sold the powder, but denied they had represented it as being harmless. The can, they said, was marked "Poison" on the label and they asserted that they told Guernsey that the contents were poisonous to animals.

As Guernsey failed to appear before Judge Burnell when the case was called, the charge was dismissed.

CHARGES MATE TOOK THEIR TWO CHILDREN

After she had filed suit for divorce in 1920, her husband disappeared with their two children, and told her she would never see them again unless she withdrew the suit, Mrs. Lillian J. Hansen declared in a divorce complaint filed yesterday against Peter Hansen. She said she learned later that they had been put in the care of a Chinaman in Prescott, Ariz., and was compelled to halt proceedings to get them back. But her second attempt to live with her husband was a failure, Mrs. Hansen said and she separated from him on the 25th inst.

ALUMNI DRIVE CENTER TO BE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles has been chosen by the Alumni Association of the University of California as the district headquarters for Los Angeles, Ventura and San Bernardino counties in the forthcoming membership drive which begins on October 1, according to word received here from Berkeley yesterday. The drive has for its objective the obtaining of 3000 members of the association and will close at the first annual homecoming from November 22 to 24.

ALL IS MYTH BUT FUR THIEF

Clever Woman Uses Imaginary Husband and Pillow Baby as Ruses to Get Away With $665 Cape

A stuffed pillow, a nonexistent husband and the sound of running water, all cleverly stage-managed, were the element which combined yesterday to cause Mrs. L. Barron, proprietress of a local fur store, a loss of $665 in furs. The little play which caused the furs to change hands was staged in a room of a downtown hotel by a woman who said her name was Mrs. John Worthington, according to Mrs. Barron. She is now being sought by Detective Lieutenant Rosselli, detailed to the case.

The woman appeared at Mrs. Barron's fur store at 315 West Eighth street Wednesday afternoon and deposited $5 on a cape and neckpiece valued at $670, Mrs. Barron told the police.

FURS SENT FOR

Yesterday afternoon the supposed Mrs. Worthington called Mrs. Barron on the telephone and requested that the furs on which she had made a deposit be sent up to her room in the hotel as she desired her husband to see them.

The furs were sent by a clerk. When he arrived at the room the woman told him he would have to wait a few minutes as her husband was taking a bath. The clerk, hearing the sound of running water emanating from the bathroom, said he would wait. Mrs. Worthington then cautioned him against making any noise, saying that her baby was asleep. The clerk kept quiet.

But the husband failed to appear and finally Mrs. Worthington asked the clerk whether it would be all right for her to take the furs into the bathroom and show them to her husband there.

She took the furs and stepped out into the other room. The clerk waited and waited but the woman did not reappear. He peeked into the bathroom and found that the supposed customer had vanished. Then he summoned hotel officials. They stated that the woman had gone out of the front door some time ago. Investigation showed that where the baby should have been was a stuffed pillow, placed in such a position under the comforter as to resemble a child asleep.

Plaintiff in Heart-Balm Suit

Miss Hazel Page

MARRIAGE PROMISE DENIED

Actor Defendant in $160,000 Suit Says Actress Already Had Husband During Romance

Denying that he ever promised to marry Miss Hazel Page, an actress, who recently brought suit against him for $160,000, charging breach of promise, Robert H. Kuhn, vaudeville musician, asserted in his answer filed yesterday in Superior Court that the plaintiff was already married.

Instead of being single as she represented herself, Kuhn declared that he had been informed that Miss Page had a husband and was not in a position to become engaged to another. Kuhn also contended that the plaintiff was much older than she stated in her complaint in which she said she was 25 years of age, strong and healthy at the time of the asserted engagement.

In his answer Kuhn declared that Miss Page was "upwards of 40 years of age."

According to Miss Page's complaint, the couple first met in December, 1920, and about a month later Kuhn proposed to her and she accepted. After they had reached an understanding, Miss Page stated that Kuhn sent her as many as five letters and telegrams while he was on the road. More than 1000 of these letters are said to be in her possession and will be introduced as evidence at the trial.

Kuhn postponed their marriage, according to Miss Page, until he could firmly establish himself in vaudeville. He feared that a marriage early in his career would block him from getting an increase in salary and would decrease his popularity on the stage.

Although his salary mounted from $100 to $500 a week, partly because of the assistance she gave him, he still refused to fix the wedding date, although he often reiterated his promise to marry her, Miss Page declared.

At his request she met him in Milwaukee when he was on tour and, persuaded by his promises, registered at a hotel as his wife, the complaint stated.

Last April she received a letter from Kuhn, Miss Page declared, in which he stated that their romance was at end and that he had fallen in love with another. She then learned that he was engaged to Sylvia Clark, one of the headliners on the same vaudeville circuit. Kuhn denies this engagement.

Since the filing of the suit, Miss Page has gone to work as a chorus girl at a local theater where she intends to remain until the suit is brought to trial.

College Sheik Trial Ordered for November

Mark H. Davis, accused by Mary Probst, a Long Beach schoolteacher, of obtaining money from her to complete his education and then marry her, pleaded not guilty before Judge Shenk yesterday. He was ordered to be placed on trial November 9.

At the preliminary hearing Miss Probst testified that she and Davis had been childhood sweethearts. They lost track of each other for a number of years and when they met again three years ago Davis had been divorced from his wife and their romance was renewed.

Davis wished to finish college and Miss Probst declared that she advanced him $3000 for this purpose. In the complaint he is charged with grand larceny of only $375. Afterward, although they obtained a marriage license, Davis is said to have refused to marry her.

Mrs. Davis, divorced wife of the accused, testified that since their separation she had been given no money by her former husband.

PLAZA SITE LEASED BY CAFE MAN

Chinese Restaurant and Store Building to Cost $150,000 Planned

Negotiations for a forty-nine-year lease of the site at the corner of Ferguson Place and Los Angeles street, across from the Plaza, were completed yesterday when T. A. Quin of San Diego became the lessee of these premises. He will erect a three-story building to be used for restaurant and store purposes. The deal was negotiated by the W. Ross Campbell Company.

Mr. Quin, who operates a Chinese restaurant in San Diego and another in San Francisco, purposes to devote the second floor of the new building to a similar establishment in Los Angeles. The first floor will consist of stores for the sale of art goods and oriental merchandise, while on the third floor a cafe and cabaret will be conducted.

The building, which will be of brick construction, will be 90 by 120 feet in size and will cost approximately $150,000. Mr. Quinn expects to begin building operations about January 1, and hopes to open the new establishment about May 1.

The structure will be Chinese in style as will also the interior decorations. Most of the fixtures for the restaurant will be imported from China. Mr. Quin, who is the scion of a wealthy Chinese family, was born in this country and is a graduate of an American college.

WIFE GRANTED DECREE

"Why don't you go out and get yourself a sweetheart? Then maybe you'd quit nagging at me." This, according to Daisy Irene Floyd, was the answer of her husband Enoch O. Floyd, to her remonstrances about his "carrying on" with other women. The suit fo rdivorce was tried yesterday in Judge Summerfield's court. The judge awarded her a decree.

DESCRIBES ROW WITH POLICEMEN

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark in Statement Gives Version of Station Incident

An explanation of how Dep. Dist.-Atty. W. J. Clark was roughly handled by members of the police department while on business at police headquarters on the 20th inst., was made in a statement issued last night by Mr. Clark, describing the indicent. The statement follows:

"Publicity having been given to certain occurrences at the police station in this city in which I was concerned, it seems proper that I make a brief statement of the facts as I know them. Let me preface this statement by saying that I entertain no ill-will whatever towards any of the parties concerned, and have told them that so far as the matter concerns myself, it is a closed incident.

"A week ago this evening, according to my present recollection, at about 5 o'clock in the evening, I had occasion to stop at police headquarters after leaving the District Attorney's office to communicate with some of the officers there with respect to homicide matters.

"Just before entering the station, I noticed two officers in the act of getting out of an automobile. They had with them a small elderly man, who appeared to be intoxicated, and a bundle wrapped in newspaper and of about the size and appearance of an ordinary bundle of clothing as taken from the body of a murdered person. I entered the station just ahead of them and went to the office of Capt. Home. Not finding him, or any of the officers of the homicide squad there, I proceeded to a room in the rear that has frequently been used as a consultation room between myself and such officers. There were three officers seated in the room and the two officers to whom I have referred entered with the prisoner and the bundle just ahead of me.

"I went inside the door and stood against the wall beside the door for a moment. All of the officers were further inside the room. I stood there just long enough to see that the bundle was not what I though it might be, clothing taken from some murdered person, and turned to leave the room. I am informed that one of the three officers first in the room said to one of the others 'Your prisoner is getting away.' I did not hear this myself. Someone took hold of me by the wrist, as I recollect, and jerked me back into the room, shoving me along the wall to the right of the doorway and near a vacant chair. One of the other officers told me to sit down. This was said in a tone of voice which somewhat angered me but I smiled and said, 'I don't have to sit down.' Thereupon one of the officers jumped up, forcibly seized me by the shoulders and a struggle ensued in which I was shoved against a locker, skinning my under lip slightly.

"I then sat on a chair and leaned over to keep the blood from dripping upon my clothing. I asked the officers if they would kindly give me the names of those present and no one spoke. I waited a moment and then turning to the one who had pushed me against the locker said to him, 'Will you kindly, give me your name. You see we deputy district attorneys are not used to this kind of treatment when we visit police headquarters, and I would like to know to whom I am indebted.' He said, 'Who are?' I said 'My name is Clark. I am a deputy district attorney, and I am afraid you fellows have started something that is a little too big for you.'

"He left the room, and after he had been gone a moment or two, I asked if I might leave. One of the officers remaining said 'No.' I sat there a few moments when the officer who had left came and called me up. He apologized for the treatment accorded me. I took the matter up with Capt. Home that evening, considered the matter for twenty-four hours, talked to the officers in the presence of Capt. Home and requested of the Captain that no action be taken in the matter as long as there was no further complaint of the conduct of the officers."

JURY COMPLETED FOR FRAUD CASE

Selection of a jury to hear the case of W. G. Klett, indicted by the grand jury some months ago for obtaining money under false pretenses from Aileen Flaven-Gardner, dancer and actress, was completed yesterday in Judge Avery's department of Superior Court. Presentation of evidence and the taking of testimony will begin today. It is charged in the indictment that Klett, together with five others, obtained $17,000 from the actress and her mother on fraudulent furniture contracts. Three of the defendants have been convicted and will be sentenced today. The remaining two have not yet been apprehended.

HARDING STAMPS GO FAST

Postmaster May Order Million More to Supply Demand for Memorial Issue Here

New Harding memorial stamps were in great demand at the local postoffice and branches yesterday, and at the close of business Postmaster O'Brien contemplated his order for 600,000 already delivered, with an order for a million more. Under the rule adopted by the Postoffice Department, the Harding stamps are not sold unless special inquiry is made for them.

The occasion has been an auspicious one for local philatelists who have invested heavily in the nonperforated sheets containing 400 of the Harding stamps. It is one of the unsolved secrets of the art of philatelism that a nonperforated sheet is more valuable for sale purposes than the perforated, for the dealer is able, if he has the nonperforated, to make the edge uniform, and this is not possible where they are perforated by machinery at the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington. Often the perforation runs to the edges of the stamp, and again there is a wide margin and another side. To have the edges uniform is the delight of the stamp collector.

The small point on which revolves the value of a postage stamp from the standpoint of the collector was indicated a few years ago when a postmaster at one of the beach cities obtained a supply of stamps of 400 to the sheet. Through some mishap, some sort of an acid or coloring matter was spilled on one of the sheets, making the stamps purple instead of red. Just how it happened was never discovered but the postmaster had a sheet of stamps on his hands that he thought was a total loss. A stamp collecting fan bought the sheet of 400 stamps for $8 and sold them out to collectors at a profit of almost a thousand dollars. They are different from any two-cent stamp ever known, and that made them valued from the standpoint of the philatelist.

IT'S A BEEHIVE

FOX STUDIO BEGINNING MANY BIG FEATURES

By Grace Kingsley

The Fox Studio is a humming hive of industry these days. Some seven or eight companies are working, and well-known players are each day being added to the acting forces.

Tom Mix, who has just returned from New York with Mrs. Mix, where he witnessed the Dempsey-Firpo fight, is making "Eyes of the Forest." Pauline Starke is his leading lady, which is by way of being a sort of reunion, inasmuch as Miss Starke played leading roles for Mix some six years ago.

"I don't care whether I ever visit New York again or not," declared Mix. "I don't seem to care for a town where the people never say anything either about going to work or going to bed. Say, I was there eight days and I don't remember anything about going to bed once . . . No, I don't mean what you mean! Prohibition is pretty strict . . . I mean by the time I got to bed, if I did, I was so woozy from want of sleep that I didn't know where I was. Say, I slept all the way across the country coming home. Got out of my berth just twice for meals!"

The next trip Mix and his wife will take, which will follow the completion of his present picture, will be a journey to Mexico City, where the star has many friends.

Al St. John is working hard to complete his present comedy and another one, and expects to leave for New York for a visit about November 1. New York knows Al a lot better than Al knows New York. He has become a comedy star in his own right since he visited the metropolis seven years ago.

The very latest western thriller with Buck Jones is "McGee's Chorus Girl." Lucy Beaumont, well-known character woman of the New York stage, has just come West to play a leading role, while Brooks Benedict will have a big part, as will also Smoke Turner.

Margaret Fielding, who made a hit as Mabel in "If Winter Comes" wherever the picture has been shown, and who played in the New York stage production of "The Bat," has come West to play leads with Fox.

Dorothy Herzog, former editor of the Movie Weekly, has joined the scenario department.

Pangborn Talks

Franklin Pangborn, lately of the Majestic Theater, and who is to play the leading role in Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion" at the new Fine Arts Theater, which will open November 5, addressed the faculty and pupils of Manual Arts High School yesterday morning regarding the aims of the new theater.

Jack Gilbert was making a personal appearance in the new Oakland Fox Theater when the big Berkeley fire broke out, and he got right into the midst of the excitement. Gilbert's work on his current picture was interrupted by a case of Kleig eyes. He will be back at the studio in a day or two, however. His leading woman is Alma Francis. Norma Shearer and George Baraud also have leading roles.

Besides Love is starting work in the leading role of "Gentle Julia," a Booth Tarkington story directed by Rowland V. Lee. Harold Goodwin, who made a hit in "Alice Adams," will play opposite her, while Mary Arthur, 13 years old, a child actress of great promise, has a hoydenish role which just suits her.

Three Spanish dances are all that Shirley Mason had to learn for her new picture, "With the Tide," by Frederick and Fanny Hatton. Miss Mason used to know all about dancing when she was on the stage, but is brushing up her work and learning some new steps from a teacher. J. Frank Glendon is playing opposite Miss Mason.

Conrad Nagle at Fine Arts

If things go right with the new Fine Arts Theater the public will have a chance to get a peep at Conrad Nagle in "The Jest," the play in which Lionel and John Barrymore scored so heavily in New York a few seasons ago.

"It all depends," said Mr. Nagle last night, "on whether it will be possible to secure the rights to the play. I am looking forward eagerly to playing the John Barrymore part, while it is quite possible that if arrangements can be made Hobart Bosworth and Kathlyn Williams will play the other two big parts.

"Wilhelmina Wilkes, who will direct, is working most earnestly to give the public the best plays possible—plays that intellectual people will enjoy. Another play for which she is negotiating is "The Love Child," one of the big successes of New York last season."

In case "The Jest" is done, it will be put on about the middle of November, at which time Nagle will have completed his part in "Three Weeks."

Norman Dawn Writes

From farthest Alaska comes word from Norman Dawn, the director who went up there to make pictures.

"I have been up here in Alaska for six weeks," writes Dawn, "and I have been so busy I have not thought of Los Angeles or the papers.

"I finished part of one picture up here called 'After Marriage,' for J. B. Mayer, the brother of Louis B. Mayer, in which I used Hershell Mayall, George Fischer, Helen Lynch, Margaret Livingston, Arthur Jasmine, Howard Webster and Jack O'Brien.

"I am working now on a third Norman Dawn Production, entitled 'A Man from God's Country,' which is based on actual incidents related to me of the country here. I am making the picture in Seward, Anchorage, Fairbanks, the Yukon River, in the forests, glaciers, gold claims, mountains and quaint log cabin villages and old historic places. I am blowing up one of the old Yukon River steamers, staging a battle between two rival gold camps, and making a thrilling rush of over 200 dog teams to a camp in the first snows, and am photographing a herd of 10,000 wild caribou and reindeer; scenes of a glacier rescue and many other features. The picture is to be five reels. I am sorry I cannot send you stills yet, but I am going to develop all in Hollywood, and also do several interiors down there."

Frankie Mann Here.

Frankie Mann, well known to New York stage and pictures, has come west to cast her lot with the Hollywooden pictures.

Playwright Is Well Represented

The Author and the Stars

Marjorie Rambeau is Starring in "The Road Together" at the Majestic, and Allan Nazimova in "Collusion" at the Orpheum, both of which are by George Middleton. "The Road Together" was given its premiere here last Sunday, and will later be taken East. Mme. Nazimova began her tour in "Collusion" in San Francisco.

SPECIALIZES IN DEATHS

The world's greatest specialist in enacting death scenes on the stage is declared to be Leo Brizard, who will be seen with the Grand Guignol Players, which the Selwyns are importing direct from Paris. He will make his debut with the company at the Frolic Theater New York October 15.

Mr. Brizard is credited with portraying thirty-seven different kinds of death in the numerous roles he enacts in the "thrillers" of the French company.

So realistic is his simulation of death as described by persons recently from Paris, that it is not without creating extreme emotion among the audience.

On one occasion in the famous and curious little Grand Guignol Theater in Paris, during the playing of the thriller, "La Petite Maison d'Auteuil," his acting was so realistic that a pair of opera glasses were thrown at him by a spectator, who had lost control of his nerves. A few months ago, a man seated in the front row of the orchestra leaped on the stage during the action of the playlet, "Chemin de Ronde," grabbed hold of Brizard, completely upsetting the scene.

Mr. Brizard made his debut with the Grand Guignol, which has been thirty-five years in existence, in 1912. He has played there continuously ever since, acting in and creating more than 120 plays, both comic and tragic, and is the author of several of the most successful "thrillers" produced in the "oddest little playhouse in the world."

During the World War, Brizard traveled in Rumania and Russia. He played an engagement in the Theater Imperial Michel, where he became involved in the Russian revolution, and for a time was obliged to play under the Bolshevik regime in this playhouse. His experiences there, it is said, were far more colorful than were those of any barnstorm English or American actor in the heyday of theatricals of the western world.

DOUG, JR., FALLS IN LOVE

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is in love.

It's a Hollywood romance into which the youthful star has thrown himself with all the ardor of his 13 years.

Indications he could not hide became evident to his mother during the early stages of the filming of his first picture, "Stephen Steps Out," but it was only after petite Mlle. Louise LeGrange arrived in Los Angeles from Paris that a full and frank confession was made by young Doug.

"Yes, I am madly in love—with my work," he told his visitor, who in private life is the wife of William Elliott, identified with the production of the picture and credited with being largely responsible for young Fairbanks' debut on the screen.

Then, speaking in French, he told her everything—how absorbingly interesting he found the role he was called on to play in the adaptation for Paramount of Richard Harding Davis's story, "The Grand Cross of the Crescent," and how he became more determined than ever to make a success of his work.

Mlle. LeGrange, herself a member of the Comedie Francaise of Paris, assured Doug, Jr., that her own experience had taught her that "resolutions such as he expressed would carry him far in his chosen career.

Young Fairbanks first met Mlle. LeGrange when he was in Paris with his mother.

"BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE" CLOSES TODAY

Today and tonight will be the last time to see Gloria Swanson in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" at Clune's. Starting tomorrow, "The Affairs of Lady Hamilton," considered by those who have seen it to be one of the greatest of foreign motion pictures, wil show at that theater.

Liane Hald, acclaimed to be the most beautiful woman in the world, plays the leading feminine role in "The Affairs of Lady Hamilton." The photoplay tells the story of a beautiful woman whose love inspires Lord Nelson to win the famous Battle of Trafalgar. Lady Hamilton is one of the best-known characters in history but this is the first time an authentic version of her life has been screened.

ENID BENNETT MAKES RAPID RISE TO FAME

Enid Bennett, the beautiful Maid Marion of "Robin Hood" fame and the puritanical Priscilla who gives Miles Standish a stare as stony as Plymouth Rock in "The Courtship of Miles Standish," has surpassed all of her previous characterizations in the dual role of the cabin boy on the pirate ship and the demure little British lady in "Strangers of the Night," the picture adapted from "Captain Applejack," which is coming to Loew's State Theater tomorrow.

Miss Bennett's rise to fame has been rapid. She started her stage career in Australia, playing in "The Whip," "The Fortune Hunter" and "Seven Keys to Baldpate." Turning to motion pictures she starred in "Keys to Righteousness," "The Biggest Show on Earth," "A Desert Wooing" and other photoplay successes, eighteen of which were produced under the direction of her husband, Fred Niblo.

"Strangers of the Night" was adapted for the screen by Bess Meredyth, from Walter Hackett's stage play, "Captain Applejack." It is presented by Louis B. Mayer, directed by Fred Niblo and distributed by Metro.

HE SAYS GIRLS ARE BORN GOLD DIGGERS

"Girls are born gold diggers!

"First they begin on their fathers, then their sweethearts and by the time they get husbands they do it not only gently but almost painlessly." So says Gayne Whitman in "The Gold Diggers," which will begin its second week at the Morosco Sunday.

That is the cue for the girls to start gold digging, and they do. Under the direction of Augustin J. Glassmire the play promises to duplicate its previous success in New York. The cast includes Charlotte Treadway, Harland Tucker, Gayne Whitman, James Kyle MacCurdy, Lloyd Corrigan, Charles Buck, Richard Richmond, Arthur La Roe, Fred Mamer, Iva Shepard, Ruth Long, Grace Gordon, Elizabeth Nobel, Dorothy Eggerton, Marjorie Lyon, Wanda Sibbald, Elsie Wenger and Sibyl Carpenter.

ETHEL CLAYTON AT SYMPHONY SUNDAY

Ethel Clayton in "The Remittance Woman," opens at the Symphony Sunday. The picture is based upon the story of the same name by Achmed Abdullah, which appeared in a recent issue of Everybody's Magazine.

Miss Clayton shines anew in a picture considerably different from anything that has been produced of late. Thrills, excitement, mystery, humor and romance are carried throughout the story. Gorgeous settings dominate the production.

The picture closes with a hand-colored scene which in itself is a piece of art.

WEST WINS DOROTHY

MISS MACKAILL SIGNS FOR LASKY PICTURES

By Edwin Schallert

Dorothy Mackaill will be the next bright star from the Broadway sector captured by the Coast. She is a Follies girl who has had a rather astonishing advance to favor in the films, and she has apparently decided to give up the stage entirely, to play in pictures, for she has just signed with Famous Players-Lasky.

Just how many pictures she will take part in under the contract, or whether there will be more than one, is not definitely determined, but it is pretty certain that she is coming west to stay.

Advices from the East say that she will leave October 2. Announcement of the picture in which she is to appear will be made in a few days.

"The Fighting Blade," which is showing locally, offers Miss Mackaill in one of the best parts she has had thus far. She also recently appeared in "His Children's Children," the picture which Sam Wood made for Lasky at the Long Island studio.

Hines Through With It

"Conductor 1492," adapted from F. Scott Fitzgerald's story, "The Camel's Back," which, in picture version, stars Johnny Hines, has been completed. The cast includes Doris May, Dan Mason, Byron Sage, Fred Esmelton, Ruth Renick, Michael Dark, Robert Cain and Dorothy Vernon.

Lasky Joins Explorers

Jesse L. Lasky cannot be reached by phone, nor by telegraph company. He is completely out of touch with business affairs for the first time in five years.

The reason is that he has joined the exploration party as the guest of Zane Grey, author and sportsman, and will be absent for another week.

The work at the studio is being conducted by Charles F. Eyton, general manager, and Victor H. Clarke, assistant to Mr. Lasky.

New Assignments

The selection of director for the Irving Production feature "The Dawn of Love" is Dallas Fitzgerald, according to announcement made yesterday. The film is an adaptation of I. W. Irving's book of the same title, which is having a large sale.

The assignment of Gareth Hughes and Vera Reynolds to the cast selected for "My Man," Pola Negri's starring picture, has been announced. This makes the list of players practically complete, with Charles De Roche and Huntley Gordon carrying the principal supporting roles.

Emmett Corrigan has been added to the cast of "The Turmoil," being made by Universal.

Dorothy Cummings is in "Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model."

OBSCURITY TO FAME IN SIX MONTHS

Rapid Rise of Young Orpheum Singer Reads Like Story

From a stenographer, earning $15.00 a week, who had never been inside of a theater until she was 18, Dolly Kay, dramatic singer of popular songs, who next week is at the Orpheum has become one of the vocalist sensations of modern times. She accomplished her remarkable rise to fame in the short space of six months.

Character analysts and phrenologists declare Miss Kay possesses fundamentals for singing to such a degree that previous observance and a musical education were not required to fit her for stardom.

What is stranger, Dolly Kay never wanted to sing until she had first seen a theatrical performance. It all happened in New York, where she was living with her parents, who were in far less than moderate circumstances.

"I could not ask father for theater money," she said. "But when I got my stenographer's job, I thought I would see a show just once. It affected me queerly. I forgot everything I knew about shorthand that night. When I got home, I sang and pranced until morning. My parents were more than alarmed."

Resigning her stenographic position, Miss Kay boldly introduced herself to a vaudeville agent. He gave the inexperienced girl a trial in a small act at a suburban theater.

"I had never heard a coon song," Miss Kay says. "What's worse, I never had paid any heed to a negro's pronunciation or mannerisms. But there was something in that music which affected me, and I put it over. I wasn't afraid of an audience. It all seemed the most natural thing in the world for me."

Now, aside from her vaudeville work, Miss Kay is one of the foremost singers for phonograph records. She makes ten double records annually which means she sings twenty numbers for the talking machines, each year.

CULLEN MAY CREATE DEMAND FOR HIMSELF

Cullen Landis, who is playing a young secretary as the juvenile lead in Metro's "The Man Whom Life Passed By," may find himself receiving offers from Wall street magnates when the picture is released. In this production, Mr. Landis, as the efficient and always poised secretary, applies suasion at the right time, soothes the ruffled spirits of his employer and keeps the brain storms from brewing so that he would be worth his weight in gold in real life.

He has been enacting the last week some dramatic scenes with Hobart Bosworth and Jane and Eva Novak, the latter sister being his sweetheart in the production.

PRODUCER'S SISTER

Miss Juliet, the dainty impersonator who comes to the Hillstreet next week, is a sister of Harry Delf, well-known theatrical producer of New York.

The Best Medicine For Women

When Mr. Meyers of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, stepped into the drug store and asked his druggist for the best medicine he had in his store for woman's ills, is it any wonder he was handed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Mrs. L. K. Myers in writing of it says: "I had been weak, run down and had a pain in my left side for a long time, so I could not do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me in a short time so I was able to do all of my housework including washing and ironing, and now I feel fine all the time." As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for benefiting 98 women out of every 100 women who take it, it will pay every suffering woman to try it.—[Advertisement.

JUMPING BEANS AMBITIOUS

Can't Help Hopping and It's No Cruelty, Says Aged Representative of Mexican Colony

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GUAYMAS (Son., Mex.) Sept. 26.—Local Americans today received a copy of The Times with an item in it about the Santa Barbara grocer who was prosecuted by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for having left some Mexican jumping beans in his window in the hot sun. Your correspondent here at once made an investigation, since the State of Sonora, of which this city is the chief seaport (really gulf port) is noted for its jumping beans, most of the jumping beans exported to the United States being placed on steamships lying in Guaymas Harbor.

YOUR CORRESPONDENT MADE AN INVESTIGATION.

Since the point at issue seems to be whether it is cruelty to the bug in the bean to keep him in the sun and make him jump until he is exhausted, your correspondent took an automobile to Cruz de Piedra, near here, where one of the largest jumping-bean ranches in the republic is located.

There he sought one of the most venerable beans on the ranch, one highly recommended for wisdom by the major domo of the place, and kneeling down so the bean could hear him and he could hear the bean, interviewed him on the question at issue.

BEAN IS INTERVIEWED

The old bean, whose name is Don Pomposo del Frijolitito, had the following to say:

"It is perfectly outrageous for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of the United States of North America to interfere in this matter. Like most reform movements, it is a matter of overzeal and ignorance of the case. We jumping bugs were placed by nature in these little shells so that we might jump and cause the shell to bounce about; this is our greatest pleasure. It is true that to keep us in the hot sun all day causes us great fatigue. That is done here, too, when a group of lazy peons bet on which of us will jump first, and then fall asleep in the sun and let us jump on and on until sunset.

"But even in the abuse we find satisfaction, for after all, a jumping bean is no more than human. Horses and dogs like to be beaten by their masters, the Humane Society to the contrary notwithstanding, and I am told that many wives like to be beaten by their husbands, although that custom has gone out of fashion, unfortunately.

"So it is with us jumping beans. We may be all worn out by being kept in the sun, but like toe dancers doing encores we will keep at it until we drop, as you might say. You never knew a case where a jumping bean failed to jump just so long as there was sun and a life in his body.

"I remember when I was a youth some gamblers kept me in the sun from 10 a.m. until sundown. I jumped until I was panting for breath and terribly dizzy. Along about 5:30 p.m. I fell in a dead faint from sheer exhaustion. They say I was so pale everybody thought I really had passed beyond.

"But believe me, kind sir, I enjoyed every minute of it, for as I have said, a jumping bean's business is to jump and these foreign reformers should keep their noses out of our internal affairs. This is just another illustration of the North American's ignorance of Mexican psychology."

The venerable bean thereupon said farewell and, jumping lightly over your correspondent's head, was off up the roadway, going as fast as a jackrabbit, or a little faster, if anything. He was a very spry bean for his years.

The jumping beans of the Yaqui Valley are the best in the world, and Sonora is as famed for them as she is for garbanzos. Jumping-bean importers of the United States of North America should apply for information to the Asociacion de Haciendados de Frijolitos Broncos del Distrito Rio Yaqui, S. A., whose headquarters are at Hermosillo.

WOMEN TELL OF OIL FRAUDS

Federal Grand Jury Hears Testimony of Score of Stock Salesmen's Feminine Victims

The Federal grand jury resumed its grind on the local oil situation yesterday, sandwiching the testimony between other cases brought to the attention of the body by Asst. U. S. Atty. Herron. The main points developed during the day were as follows:

Most of the witnesses were women. More than a score of them testified during the day.

There will be no report on the oil situation before next week.

The individuals and corporations under fire yesterday abstracted more than $1,000,000 from the pockets of investors by the use of the mails.

It developed that an army of agents were employed selling stock to the unsuspecting, visiting the homes of prospects, usually when the husbands were away, and securing from the wives agreements to take rides at the expense of the company to the oil fields.

Operations in the Santa Fe Springs territory formed the subject of the inquiry yesterday.

The testimony ran along one line—the call of the salesman, with his arguments setting forth the desirability of the investment; correspondence further inviting investigation; an invitation to take a free ride to the supposed oil field; a highly colored lecture in a tent, and an invitation to sign on the dotted line, only to find that the investment was a total loss. The description of the pulling power of the addresses in the tent by the asserted "geologists" and "experts" by some of the witnesses added a zest to the sessions of the grand jury.

Many witnesses who had lost heavily by buying worthless stocks were not heard because it could not be shown that the mails had been used by the promoters, thus taking the case out of the jurisdiction of the government. The witnesses of this class, all of them women, were much disappointed. They thought an omnibus investigation was on.

There will be no investigation of the oil situation today, but the inquiry will be resumed Monday with another large group of witnesses.

Several witnesses were examined with a view to ascertaining responsibility for the fire that swept over the Santa Barbara forest reserve in August, but no report was made on the subject. It is understood that an indictment was voted but not formally returned.

The following indictments were returned: Joe Bruno, sending poison through the mails; James Marshman, Thomas Lewis, George Werner, Ramon Guitterez, Frank Verdugo, James Doyle, Albert W. Gordon and Harry T. Bauer, violation of the Harrison narcotic law.

COSTLY GEMS STOLEN

Diamonds and other jewelry valued at more than $3000 were taken from the home of Mrs. F. W. McClellan, 1346 Orange Drive while the family was away early this week, Hollywood police were informed yesterday. Detective Trosper, investigating the theft, found that entrance to the house had been gained through a rear door. A $20 bill was also taken from the box which contained the jewelry.

FISH DEATHS CAUSE SUIT TO BE FILED

Oil Companies Asked to Pay $133,109; Owner Says Lake Was Polluted

The death of 80,000 codfish and 50,000 carp swimming in a small lake at Long Beach near Signal Hill, was the basis of a damage suit for $133,109 filed yesterday by H. H. Hunt against the Rhoades Oil Producing Company, the Hub Oil Company, and the Lyceum Oil Syndicate.

Hunt said that in June, 1919, he purchased a seven-acre tract containing the lake, with the intention of raising fish. He stocked the lake with codfish and carp.

Then he said the defendant companies brought in oil on adjacent tracts, and that the oil flowed down into his lake, killing the fish. He avers it also damaged 103,000 bags of dry peat stored on his place.

Figuring that his fish would double themselves every two years, and that a codfish is worth 25 cents and a carp worth 5 cents, Hunt fixes the total damages at $133,109.

Rail Rates for Veterans Cut to Convention

Reduced rates amounting to one-way fare for the round trip for delegates from all points in the State to the annual convention of the Ninety-First Division Association of the American Legion and their families, have been authorized by the State Railroad Commission. The convention is to be in San Francisco, October 13 to 19. The final return limit has been fixed a. November 15.

The commission has granted permission to James H. Harding and Walter T. Barr to operate an automobile truck line for carrying ice between Los Angeles, Glendale and San Fernando and within a radius of fifteen miles of San Fernando.

The Southern Pacific Company has received permission to build a spur track at grade crossing on Alameda street in Vernon.

Southgate Garden Water Company operating in Southgate, Los Angeles county, has been authorized to increase its rates to yield a revenue of 2 per cent a year on the investment. The new rates will range from $1.25 to $12 a month, according to service required.

WRECKED LINER FIGHT IS PUSHED

Federal Authorities Asked to Untangle Dispute

Capt. Eaton, With Armed Men, Holds Possession

Title to Cuba and Cargo Will Go to High Bidder

Federal authorities were asked to proceed against Capt. Ira Eaton and his band of sixteen armed men of the powerboat Sea Wolf, who have seized and stripped the wrecked Pacific Mail steamer Cuba, when Capt. W. R. Kennery of Lloyds agency of San Francisco, underwriters for the craft, yesterday telegraphed to U. S. Atty. Burke requesting his interference.

A. Lester Best, Lloyds agent

Mr. Burke was absent from his office yesterday, but his chief assistant, Mark Herron, stated that the telegram had not been received at a late hour last night. On receipt of the complaint, said Mr. Herron, an investigation will be ordered to determine if Federal laws have been violated.

TITLE PASSES TO BIDDER

Title to the vessel and cargo, which lies stranded on the rocks of San Miguel Island, will pass to the successful bidder for the wreck after bids are opened today by Lloyds agency, to which the ship had been abandoned by the Pacific Mail Company. Time for the bids to close did not expire until midnight.

A. Lester Best, Lloyd's agent here, yesterday said: "The Cuba has not been abandoned technically, nor is she a derelict. In a legal sense the ship may be regarded as being tied up or at dock. Eaton has no title to the vessel; he is entitled only to the payment for getting stores and equipment off the ship. Proceedings for recovery of the property will probably be instituted in the Federal courts by the new owner, and the court also will be asked to adjudicate Eaton's pay for salvaging. There are numerous precedents on that subject."

Eaton has not declared to customs officials the goods he has landed from the Cuba, according to Federal officers here, nor has he given notice of such intention. United States customs regulations state that "When such goods are brought into port by lighters or other craft each such vessel must make entry by manifest of her cargo." Other articles state that "Merchandise picked up at sea or taken from a wreck is prima facie dutiable."

According to regulations, even goods of American manufacture, salvaged from wrecked American ships, must be proved to be nondutiable by the salvor or consignee before they will be released by the customs.

Capt. Eaton is using his boat to land the salvaged goods at a secret place, according to Santa Barbara dispatches. He is reputed to already have obtained merchandise to the value of approximately $100,000. His booty is comprised of ship's stores, woodwork, radio equipment, brass and metals, machinery, china, linens and instruments. The Cuba's cargo, mainly of coffee, is not in condition to be salvaged.

FORMER AGENT FOR MEDICAL BOARD DIES

Jack M. O'Connell of this city, former special agent for the southern district of the State Board of Medical Examiners, died suddenly Wednesday in San Francisco, according to a message received yesterday by Albert Carter, his successor in the Los Angeles office of the board. Mr. O'Connell had a wide circle of friends in Los Angeles and the South. He retired from office July 1 last, as the result of the retrenchment policy of the State administration, and at the time of his death was in San Francisco on personal business. His home was at 4115 Sunset Boulevard. He is survived by a widow and three young children. The body is being brought here for burial.

THRONGS AT EXHIBITION OF DAHLIAS

Veritable Color Cascade as Society of Southland Outdoes Previous Shows

A veritable cascade of colors, the floral display of the Dahlia Society of Southern California yesterday opened at the show rooms of Arnold's, Seventh and Figueroa streets. In the afternoon and evening hundreds of persons passed among what is considered the most gorgeous and successful of all the society's exhibits. And much larger crowds of flower lovers are expected today and tomorrow.

More than fifty exhibitors from among the Southland's dahlia growers have placed their samples on display. Altogether there were half a hundred classes, with three premimums offered in each. Prizes were awarded last night, following the judging by John G. Morley of San Diego, William Hertrich of San Gabriel, James MacGillivray of Los Angeles, Alex Waldie of Santa Paula, A. M. Foerster of El Monte, and William Bodger of Arcadia. The premiums were distributed to the winners by Uncle John of The Times radio broadcasting station, KHJ. The show was arranged by Frank L. Miller under the supervision of F. C. Mulkey, vice-president of the society. Mr. Mulkey was assisted by his daughter, Miss Ethel Mulkey.

WOLVERINES PLAN PICNIC

Arrangements have been completed by the Michigan State Society for its annual fall picnic and reunion at Sycamore Grove on Pasadena avenue Sunday. From 10:30 to 11:30 p.m. those present will participate in sacred-hour services to be conducted by The Times radio broadcasting station. At noon basket dinners will be served, to be followed by various contests with prizes for the winners. A prize also will be awarded to the youngest native-born Michigander.

A new Elizabeth Arden Salon is going to be established in Los Angeles, at Robinson's.

This in addition to the beautiful Arden Salons already established in Paris, London, New York, Boston and Palm Beach.

Los Angeles women will here be able to receive the same Arden treatments which have made these other Salons internationally known.

The opening date will be announced later.

Venetian Pore Cream

A GREASELESS, astringent cream which closes distended pores, corrects their laxness, and refines a coarsened skin.

Priced at $1.00 or $2.50.

Ardena Venetian Patter

ESPECIALLY designed for use with the Ardena Skin Tonic and the Special Astringent. It will be found wonderfully effective in removing a double chin, building up flaccid tissues and relaxed muscles.

Priced at $5.00.

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S AIDS TO BEAUTY

ELIZABETH ARDEN BASES HER PREPARATIONS ON THE LEGITIMATE LAWS OF LIFE AND HEALTH—KNOWING THAT TRUE BEAUTY IS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP, AND THAT IT GOES TO THE VERY DEPTHS OF ONE'S BEING.

WITH HER ASSISTANCE ONE MAY LEARN THE JOYFUL ART OF DEFEATING TIME — AND MAY RESTORE OR RETAIN ONE'S RIGHTFUL HERITAGE OF YOUTH.

ON THIS PAGE ARE LISTED SOME OF MISS ARDEN'S FAMOUS VENETIAN AND ARDENA PREPARATIONS. SCIENTIFICALLY CONCEIVED, THEY PRODUCE AMAZING RESULTS WHEN INTELLIGENTLY USED.

Acne Lotion

AN antiseptic, healing Lotion which frees the skin of pimples, spots and other eruptions.

Priced at $1.25.

An Imported Perfume Burner, above, for the distinctive boudoir. Priced at $35.00.

Bleachine Cream

A MILD bleach and soothing fattening cream in one. Relieves redness, roughness, tan and discoloration.

Priced at $1.25.

Babani Perfumes were introduced to America by Elizabeth Arden. In the sketch is Babani's Jasmine in an exquisite container. $9.

Amoretta Cream

A SOFT, fragrant Vanishing Cream which forms a flattering film of protection on the face and neck. A preventive of roughness and chapping in winter, and of tan and sunburn in summer.

Priced at $1.00 and $2.00.

Illusion Powder, $3.00; Amoretta Rouge, $2.50, $4.00 and $4.50; and Evening Powder, $2.75.

Lille Lotion

A MILDLY antiseptic powder-lotion which is really good for the skin—as well as an effective finish for face, neck or arms.

In six shades: white, cream, naturelle, Special Rachel, Spanish Rachel and ocre. At $1.50 and $2.50.

Poudre d' Illusion

A PURE powder—just heavy enough—and of an exquisite peach-like blend, suitable for day or evening use.

In three tints: a warm peach, Rachel and white, $3.00.

Evening Powders

VENETIAN Poudre de Soir—a superfine powder for evening use, of egg-shell tint. In an unusual round, French flowered box, priced at $1.75.

Arden Poudre de Lilas—an evening powder of palest orchid tint, to subdue a flushed skin and lend delicacy and transparency. Priced at $2.75.

To Cleanse the Skin

RIGHT methods of cleansing the skin are the first step toward true beauty. And thorough cleanliness is not attained through the use of mere soap and water.

Venetian Cleansing Cream

A LIGHT feathery cream that penetrates the depth of the pores, and rids them of all impurities. Besides cleansing the skin thoroughly, it keeps it fine-grained and supple.

In four sizes: $1.00, $2.00, half-pound jar, $3.00; pound jar, $6.00.

Venetian Ardena Skin Tonic

A TONIC and mild astringent, to be used with and after the Cleansing Cream. It stimulates circulation, clarifies and brightens the skin.

Priced at 85c, $2.00, $3.75, $9.00 and $15.00.

Venetian Cleansing Tissues

THOUSANDS of women have learned to use these soft, silky tissues in place of harsh towels. Their delicate, absorbent texture cannot injure or irritate the most sensitive skin.

Sanitary and convenient always, and particularly convenient when traveling. Three prices: 40c, $1.50 and $2.25.

To Nourish the Skin

REMARKABLE preparations for providing the skin with the necessary nourishment which keeps it young, firm and smooth.

Venetian Orange Skin Food

VENETIAN Orange Skin Food is one of the preparations which every woman should begin using in her youth to preserve the smoothness and freshness of her skin.

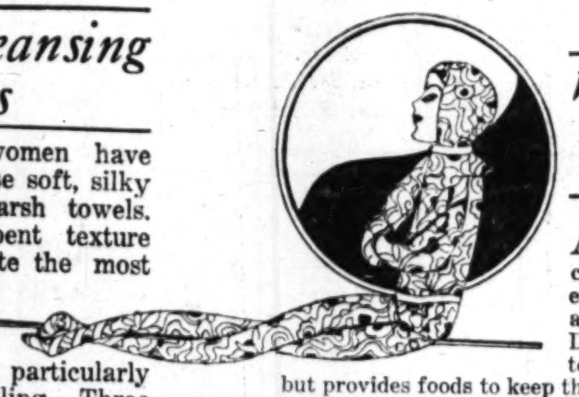
For older women it will be found splendid for strengthening and firming flaccid muscles.

Priced at $1.75, $2.75, $4.25, $8.00.

Venetian Special Astringent

ITS purpose is to tighten the skin and restore its youthful elasticity. It corrects a relaxed chin and throat, and reduces puffiness under the eyes.

At $2.25 and $4.00.



Venetian Velva Cream

A NOURISHING cream made especially for a full face. Does not fatten the tissues, but provides foods to keep the skin smooth and healthy.

$1, $2, $3 and $6.

FIRST FLOOR

Chin Strap De Luxe

A PERFECTED Chin Strap which is the result of years of experiments.

It holds every muscle of the lower part of the face and neck in proper position — eradicating lines caused by illness, worry or age.

Priced at $12.00.

A striking French Powder Jar—imported from Robj, sketched above. Priced at $40.00.

Retiring Gloves

WELL made, of softest rubber, carefully fitted and finished.

Consistent use of them each night will make the hands white and soft.

One of Elizabeth Arden's Beauty Boxes, above—delightful for the dressing table, or for a month's travel. Priced at $18.00.

Electra Eradicator

MUCH more effective than the usual depilatory, for removing hair from the face. A few applications will soon discourage the most persistent growth.

Priced at $3.50.

Above are two exquisite Hand Preparations: Milk of Almonds, $2.50. And Venetion Hand Cream—$1.00.

Venetian Eye Lotion

COMFORTS and strengthens the eyes — especially after motoring and outdoor sports. It has a really unusual tonic effect.

Priced at $1.00 and $2.50.

Venetian Eye Sha-do

A SOFT compact powder which enhances the color and accentuates the depth of the eyes. It may be had in almost every conceivable shade: blue, gray blue, brown, gray brown or black.

Priced at $1.00.

Arden Beauty Boxes

IN each one are the requisites for the care of the skin and for the finishing touches which make for perfection.

The smallest of them, containing week-end portions of Cleansing Cream, Skin Tonic, Velva Cream, Pore Cream, Muscle Oil, Lille Lotion, Poudre d'Illusion, Rose Color and Tissues, is priced at $3.85.

PERSONALS— Business

A BEAUTIFUL PERSONALITY
Is often marred by a blatant, jarring speaking voice, and again great charm possesses an otherwise plain personality because of a beautiful speaking voice. For centuries people have spent time and money in an effort to adorn themselves, but the greatest attraction, the human speaking voice, with its unlimited possibility of beauty and power, has not only been neglected, but has positively been abused. An exquisitely cultured speaking voice is not only an indication of refinement but the most irresistible charm anyone could possibly wish to possess. How important this knowledge to women and men in business, lecturers, lawyers, doctors, parents, organizers, in fact to every human being, no matter what the vocation. Let me teach you this so deplorably neglected art, for it gives you poise, power and assurance.

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY.

Am offering my beautiful 6-room bungalow, 428 N. EL CENTRO. 2 lovely bedrooms, tile bath and kitchen sink, heavy hdw. floors throughout. Fine lawn front and rear with abundance of shrubbery. It is seldom one has the opportunity of purchasing a home in this locality, as owners do not wish to sell owing to the environment. Ideally located to schools, street cars; walking distance of Wilshire Country Club. Ask anyone if a more desirable residence location exists in this city. Therefore you can appreciate the sacrifice, as I must sell this week. Positively will be shown only between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. 436-058.

HOLLYWOOD—

I'LL SHOW YOU A BARGAIN.

A wonderful lot, 80 ft. on Highland ave., by over 200 ft. deep. It has double frontage which means double value. It is in the center of activity and within a stone's throw of a $2,000,000 project. The possibilities of this lot are wonderful, and without moving a tree or building, 20 bungalows can be built on the lot now and leave 100 ft. for future development. In 5 yrs. Highland will be zoned for business, then this lot will be a knock-out. It is the biggest buy in Hollywood today. I consider it to be $1000 or more under the market. If you have any desire to make some quick, easy money, where your investment is absolutely safe, until you turn it, let me show you the best value we know anything about. You'll be pleasantly surprised.

The price is $25,000, $15,000 cash. Balance easy.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY.
Am operating one super-service station at 8th and Figueroa, and building a 6-unit station at 42nd and Moneta. Also have 2 other 5-yr. leases on downtown corners obtainable Nov. 1. Need more money for building, and will give an equal half interest to either man or woman, active or silent, in all 4 places, to complete my finance. Can guarantee all 4 stations to pay not less than $3000 per mo. net. Have been in the business for years and can give the best of bank and business references. If not interested in all 4 places, will sell an equal half interest at 42nd and Moneta for $9000. See GUY MENICK, 910 W. 8th.

AM ready to start the manufacture and marketing of an article of merit which every man, woman and child uses; some time ago I started a concern making this article and acted as their president for years. They are the only people making it, as the value is in a mineral used, which is very scarce. I own the largest known deposits of this mineral and know I can make a better article cheaper and still show a big profit. Want a man to come in with me on the ground floor and take a substantial interest. L. S. THOMAS, Phone Drexel 6948.

LOCAL EAGLES OUTLINE PLANS

Kansas City Visitor Shapes Building Project

Available Sites for $500,000 Edifice Considered

Structure Will be Made to Pay for Itself

The plans of the Los Angeles Aerie of the Order of Eagles for the building of a new $500,000 clubhouse in this city took definite form at a conference at the Alexandria yesterday between the officers of the local aerie and Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, financial adviser of the order, who is here to assist in the launching of the project.

Mr. Mann, who was accompanied by James F. Sperry of St. Paul, realty expert, inspected a number of available sites for the new building and gave his opinion as to which would be the most suitable and also advised the local men in regard to financing the undertaking. The tentative plans decided upon will now be taken up at meeting of the local aerie and, according to statements of the officers, a definite building program will be adopted within the next few days and carried out with as little delay as possible.

SELF-SUPPORTING

"The building it is proposed to erect in Los Angeles will be of the standard type that has been adopted by the order throughout the country as the most suitable for its purposes," said Mr. Mann. "As is commonly known, the club buildings of the Eagles are constructed with the aim in mind of furnishing not only a club home but also a source of revenue.

"The plans for a building under discussion here, therefore, contemplate a structure, probably 110 by 120 feet in size and four stories high, the first floor of which will be given over to business locations, while only part of the remaining three stories will be used for lodge purposes.

"Provisions will be made for apartments to occupy the rest of these three floors. This will provide a building yielding a revenue at least sufficient for its maintenance and will also furnish commodious quarters for the aerie."

INCREASE RANKS

Mr. Mann said the membership of the Order of Eagles is increasing rapidly, numbering at this time some 700,000.

"We hope to increase our members to 1,000,000 by next June of which Los Angeles should be able to furnish at least 10,000. At present the aerie here numbers something over 3500 members."

Incidentally, Mr. Mann has been conducting an investigation in relation to sites for a proposed home for aged and indigent Eagles during his stay in Los Angeles.

Would Hasten Second-Street Tunnel Work

The Pacific Electric Railway Company protested yesterday to the Board of Public Works that the company's cars were being delayed due to the torn-up condition of Hill street between First and Fourth streets. The street work is necessary in order to lower the grade at the entrance to the Second-street tunnel.

"Isn't there something we can do," said President Treat to City Engineer Griffin," to compel Contractor Hill, who is building the tunnel, to make more speed on this work?"

"I think he should work his men nights as well as days," said the City Engineer."

Commissioner McGuire was delegated to pursue Contractor Hill with a sharp stick and a club in an effort to speed up the Hill-street work.

ACTORS' FUND BENEFIT SHOW TO BE TAX FREE

The performance to be given at the Philharmonic Auditorium on October 27, for the benefit of the Actor's Fund of America is exempt from tax on admissions, according to a ruling made yesterday by U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue Goodcell. Application for exemption was made to the Collector by W. T. Wyatt, local representative of the Actor's Fund. Practically every Los Angeles star of the silent and the spoken drama will take part in the show.

GRAUMAN STILL IN CHARGE

Showman Denies Report Famous Players-Lasky is Ready to Take Over Film Theaters

Although negotiations have been in progress for more than a month and are still being carried on by Sid Grauman with the Famous Player-Lasky Corporation whereby the latter may eventually take over the operation of the three downtown theaters owned by him, Mr. Grauman yesterday, flatly declaring that nothing definite has been decided in the transactions, denied published reports that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation was to take over the three theaters within thirty days.

Mr. Grauman's statement follows:

"The story published Thursday that I shall quit the active management of the Grauman theaters in Los Angeles in thirty days is without foundation.

"Negotiations have been carried on in connection with the option which the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has to purchase my interests in these theaters. At this moment, however, the situation represents nothing but negotiations.

"I am now actively engaged in the management of Grauman's Metropolitan, Grauman's Million Dollar, Grauman's Rialto and Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian theaters just as I have been since the founding of these respective theaters. I am in sole and absolute charge, controlling every activity of the four theaters and even in the event that at sometime in the future the option above mentioned may be exercised, I shall continue in active control of the above theaters for a very long period of time thereafter.

"The statement that my office and personal effects have been moved from Grauman's Metropolitan and Grauman's Million Dollar theaters to the Egyptian Theater is also absolutely without foundation. My personal staff, personal effects and all other office properties which have been at these theaters are still here. I still make my office and conduct my business from my downtown Los Angeles theaters. There is no truth in the statement that I am or will be in the immediate future handling my affairs from any other address.

"The statement that no man or men have yet been selected to take my place in the Grauman theater organization is a fact. It cannot be stated too strongly that the chief reason why no man has as yet been selected to take my place is because it has not yet been contemplated that there will be an actual need for one."

WOMAN GUN WIELDER IS ARRAIGNED

Mrs. Calhoun Tells Judge Why She Defied Officers; Hearing Tomorrow

Mrs J.C. Calhoun

Mrs. J. C. Calhoun, who is asserted to have stood off a whole flock of deputy sheriffs and spectators at the point of a gun Wednesday, appeared in Justice Baird's court yesterday to explain her behavior.

She made a lengthy explanation but the court apparently was not satisfied because she was held under $1500 bail and her hearing set for tomorrow morning.

The woman stated that she did not want to meet up with the officers because she was due in Seattle yesterday as one of the witnesses in the coroner's inquest into the death of her first husband, Andrew Johansen. Johansen and Ludwig Holtan, said to be nationally known rum-runners, were either killed or drowned a few days ago and their bodies found floating in the bay at Seattle. She stated that Johansen had left some property to her and that she also intended to straighten this matter out while in Seattle.

Mrs. Calhoun's asserted exploit in holding off deputy sheriffs sent out to attach an automobile which she and her husband owned occurred Wednesday morning. When Deputy Sheriff Llewellyn appeared at her home at 2058 North Catalina street with the intention of attaching the car, Mrs. Calhoun is said to have shoved a revolver in his ribs and instructed him to "beat it." He did, according to his story, and returned to the County Jail where he obtained assistance.

Accompanied by three other officers he again went to the house but Mrs. Calhoun saw them approach and while her husband detained them at the front door she escaped through the rear door. She was taken into custody yesterday on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon with intent to use it.

Mrs. Calhoun also declared that she is the daughter of Edward J. Rudd, a member of the Norwegian Parliament. Her husband asserts he is a descendant of the famous John C. Calhoun of American history.

The car which was the cause of the trouble was attached by A. A. Hokum, a plumbing supply dealer, who declares the Calhouns owe him $4000.

MAN DIVORCED AFTER EMPLOYER TESTIFIES

Clarence R. Langley yesterday obtained a divorce from Mary T. Langley, when his attorneys, McGee & Sumner, appeared in Judge Summerfield's court and presented further evidence as to why he should be granted the decree.

"This is the case where the woman threatened to drown herself in the Missouri River if she could find water enough, is it?" queried the court.

"Yes, Your Honor," replied one of the attorneys. The Langleys were married in 1901 and lived together until 1911, when, because of his wife's sullenness and jealousy and tendency toward hypochrondria, Langley alleges, he left her. Edward A. Clark of the Western Union, Langley's employer after he came to Los Angeles, testified that for more than a year after 1911, Langley's health was so affected as a result of his wife's conduct that it seriously interfered with his work. On the basis of this testimony, Judge Summerfield awarded Langley a decree.

DOPE DRIVE INDORSED

Methodist Layman's Association Backs Campaign

Narcotic education, according to the program outlined by Richmond P. Hobson, was indorsed by the Layman's Association of the Methodist Church, Southern California, meeting at the First Congregational Church, Tenth and Hope streets, yesterday.

Action followed an address by Hobson on "The Peril of Narcotics," resolutions being adopted approving the work of the Narcotic Education Association, of which he is president. Similar action was taken by the Southern California Presbytery, in session at Santa Monica Wednesday.

BARKENTINE'S CREW SUES FOR BACK PAY

The barkentine "Montfalcone," which was recently towed into Los Angeles Harbor from the South Seas, after the longest tow in the recent history of maritime adventure on the Pacific Coast, was made the object of a libel filed in the United States District Court, yesterday, wherein J. L. Anderson and ten other members of the crew sued to recover a total of $2453.07, alleged to be due on account of seamen's wages. The bill sets out that the men entered the service of the ship at New Orleans, and that the provisions of the law relating to the payment of one-half of the wages due them have not been complied with. The seamen made an affidavit that they had no money to prosecute the action, and U. S. District Judge Bledsoe signed an order allowing them to file the necessary papers without the payment of the usual fee. The owners of the craft have until October 8 to file their reply to the prayer of the petition.

Old Family Row Is Revealed in Battle on Will

A family quarrel of long ago, in which only one of the principals is still alive, was revealed yesterday when the contest over the will of the late Marion M. Withenbury opened before a jury in the court of J. Perry Wood. The contestant, Clara Leland Pabodie, asserted that undue influence was exerted and that her sister was of unsound mind at the time the will was drawn up.

Mrs. Withenbury died October 26, 1919, at her home on Cherokee avenue, Hollywood. By the terms of her will the bulk of her estate, valued at $64,363, was bequeathed to two nieces, Marion Pabodie Ellis and Clara Louise Pabodie. The sister was left a small amount of personal property.

Mrs. Pabodie charged that her own daughter, Mrs. Ellis, exerted undue influence over Mrs. Withenbury, and asked that the will be set aside and the estate distributed according to the inheritance laws of the State. Charles W. Withenbury, her late husband, was also asserted to have prejudiced his wife against her sister.

Many years ago Mr. Withenbury wrote an offensive letter to Mrs. Ellis, who was then a young girl, Mrs. Pabodie declared. The letter fell into her hands and, although she reproached Withenbury, she never revealed the letter to her daughter, the contestant stated.

It was then that Withenbury poisoned his wife's mind against her, as well as turning her own daughter against her, and the influence of these two resulted in her being practically cut off in her sister's will, Mrs. Pabodie contended. The trial will probably last a week.

HELLMAN WILL FILED

Property Is Left to Children and to Grandsons

The will of Ida H. Hellman, widow of the late capitalist and financier, was filed for probate yesterday. The petition stated that Mrs. Hellman left an estate "exceeding $10,000," and it is expected that it will reach a huge figure. Mrs. Hellman died the 14th inst.

Besides considerable personal property, real estate valued at $115,000 was listed and it was stated that there was an interest in other real property. By the terms of the will, three-quarters of the estate was to be divided among Mrs. Frida Hellman Cole, a daughter, and Marco H. Hellman and Irving H. Hellman, sons. Mrs. Cole was also bequeathed the household effects. The residence of the estate was placed in trust for the benefit of two grandsons, Herbert H. Aronson and Marco H. Aronson. The income from this trust is to be expended for their education until they reach their majority, a ndthen the principal will be divided between them.
